STATE ASSEMBLY STARTS TO WORK AT 10 A. M. TODAY

Advance Guard of Solons Already in City Armed With Many Bills.

GAME LAW AMENDMENTS PROPOSED BY SPORTSMEN

Tippins Bill Will Be Considered Early in Session and Will Likely Be Amended So as to Let People Pass on It—Capital Removal Bill Practically Dead.

The stage is set and everything is in readiness for convening both houses of the general assembly of Georgia at 10 o'clock this morning. The advance guard of solons arrived in Atlanta early Tuesday morning and the lobbies and corridors of the Kimball were crowded throughout the day. The noon and evening trains brought more senators and representatives, each with pockets fairly bulging with bills, resolutions and petitions.

Speaker John N. Holder was among the early arrivals. He came from Augusta and declared that the short junkets he made over the state convinced him that the fifty-day session will be serene.

On the eve of convening both houses, the Georgia Game Protective Association held an enthusiastic meeting in the ball room of the hotel. There were more than fifty members of both houses and a number of sportsmen interested in the proposed amendments to the game law in attendance.

Fight Over Amendment.

The proposed amendment by which it is hoped to make the commissioners a board of conservation was discussed. The amendments are likely to precipitate the liveliest scrap in the house when they are brought up. The association also proposes an amendment so that the law will protect birds and game for a period of three years. It is said that the object of the change is to keep out pot hunters who are gradually killing off the game of the state.

The association discussed the advisability of imposing a dog tax to create a source of revenue. It was suggested that the law be so changed as to give the deputy game wardens authority to collect the tax.

Representative John Darsey, of Spalding county, offered a number of suggestions, including an amendment regulating the open and closed seasons. The association will also ask the legislature to change the law so as to require "written" permits of hunters, also to make the law statewide in regard to strewing sawdust in streams.

In connection with the game law it is rumored that an effort is going to be made in the house to modify the game law in so far as it related to the appointment of a commissioner, it being the opinion of many that the

WITH ROOSEVELT AGENTS BRYAN HOLDS CONFERENCE; MYSTERY ABOUT MEETING

Francis J. Heney and Charles R. Crane in Consultation With Bryan at Baltimore—No One Found Who Would Discuss Incident.

Baltimore, June 25.—Francis J. Heney, of California, one of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt's fighting lieutenants in the republican national convention, and Charles R. Crane, of Chicago, who helped to finance the Roosevelt campaign for the republican nomination, were in consultation here tonight with William J. Bryan, of Nebraska, for three-quarters of an hour.

Heney and Crane reached Mr. Bryan's apartments by a private elevator and were gone again before their visit became generally known. No one could be found who would discuss the incident tonight.

In connection with the Heney-Crane visit tonight, it was learned that two representatives of The Outlook, one of them Carl Howland, who has been close to Colonel Roosevelt since his return from Africa two years ago, were in town. Both put up at one of the headquarters' hotels. They were anxious regarding the possibility of a progressive-conservative fight in the convention.

HOOTS AND CHEERS GREET ATTACK ON JUDGE PARKER

Bryan Charges That the Same Influences That Worked at Chicago Are Also at Work at Baltimore—Glowing Tribute Is Paid to Kern by Bryan.

Convention Hall, Baltimore, Md., June 25.—Following is the full text of William Jennings Bryan's speech on temporary chairmanship

Mr. Bryan was received with applause and cheering for several minutes and when quiet was restored he said:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention:

"I rise to place in nomination for the office of temporary chairman of this convention the name of Hon. John W. Kern, of Indiana. (Applause). And in thus dissenting from the judgment of our national committee as expressed in its recommendation, I recognize that the burden of proof is upon me to overthrow the assumption that the committee can claim that it is representing the wishes of this convention and of the party of the nation. (Cheers and applause).

"I call your attention to the fact that our rules provide that the recommendation of the committee is not final. (Cries of No, No, and applause). I remind you that the very fact that this convention has the right to accept or reject that recommendation is conclusive proof that the presumption in favor of this convention is a higher presumption than that in favor of the wisdom of the committee. (Applause).

Bryan Tells of His Credentials.

"If any of you ask me for my credentials, if any of you inquire why I, a mere delegate to this convention, from one of the smaller states, should presume to present a name and ask you to accept it in place of the name they presented, I beg to tell you, if it needs to be told, in three campaigns I have been the champion of the democratic party's principles. (Applause). And that in three campaigns I have received the vote of six millions and a half of democrats. (Applause).

"If that is not proof that I have the confidence of the party of this nation I shall not attempt to furnish proof. I remind you that confidence reposed in a human being carries with it certain responsibilities, and I would not be worthy of the confidence and the affection that has been showered upon me by the democrats of this nation if I were not willing to risk humiliation in their defense. (Applause).

"I recognize that a man cannot carry on a political warfare in defense of the mass of the people for sixteen years without making enemies and I recognize that there has been no day since the day I was nominated in Chicago when these enemies have not been industrious in their efforts to attack me from every standpoint (Applause and cheers). The fact that I have lived is proof that I have not deserted the people. (Long continued applause). If for a moment I had forgotten them, they would not have remembered me.

"Never Sold Truth to Serve Hour."

"I take for my text this morning the text that the committee has been kind enough to place upon the walls for my use: 'He never sold the truth to serve the hour.' (Long continued

WITH SOFT WORDS PARKER SOOTHES HURTS OF BRYAN

The Judge Resumes His Interrupted Keynote at the Night Session.

BRYAN'S HARSH WORDS ARE FORGIVEN BY PARKER

The Judge Says There Are No Reactionary Democrats, But All Are Progressive, Though Maybe by Different Roads. Night Session of Convention Very Brief.

Baltimore, June 25.—A rapid-fire routine session tonight closed the first day of the democratic convention, which began with the defeat of W. J. Bryan for temporary chairman this afternoon. Scenes of disorder on the floor which made further proceedings impossible, forced tonight's session and compelled Alton B. Parker to suspend his keynote speech until the evening session.

Delegates in a Hurry.

Tonight the delegates on the floor gave earnest evidence of their desire to do everything in a hurry and get away from Baltimore. Leaders had planned to adjourn the session tonight until 2 o'clock tomorrow and to have the committees which were appointed tonight meet at 10 o'clock in the morning. But the delegates would not hear of this plan and disorderly protests from the floor forced an adjournment until noon and advanced the committee meetings to immediately after tonight's session. The delegates were very excited about hurrying things along. A voice from the floor during the discussion announced:

"We have no Perkins to pay our bills."

The completion of Judge Parker's speech and the naming of the convention committees was all the convention did tonight. W. J. Bryan did not appear in the convention hall during the evening. His failure to be on hand resulted in an almost immediate adjournment of the resolutions committee, which met after the session. It was practically certain Mr. Bryan would be elected chairman of the committee. The other committees got together for immediate organization.

The night session of the convention was called to order at 8:25 o'clock.

Only Scattering Attendance.

But a scattering attendance appeared in the galleries at 8 o'clock. There were hundreds of vacant seats in the delegates sections. The delegates were in their seats gathered in little groups, and a hum of conversation swept the hall. The band was anxious to please and drifted from "Moonlight Bay" to Von Suppes' overture from "William Tell." Scattered handclaps greeted Chairman Parker as he made his way up the middle aisle through the groups of delegates.

The soft rain that fell at intervals all day set in again toward nightfall, adding to the humid heat and the atmosphere of the hall was oppressive.

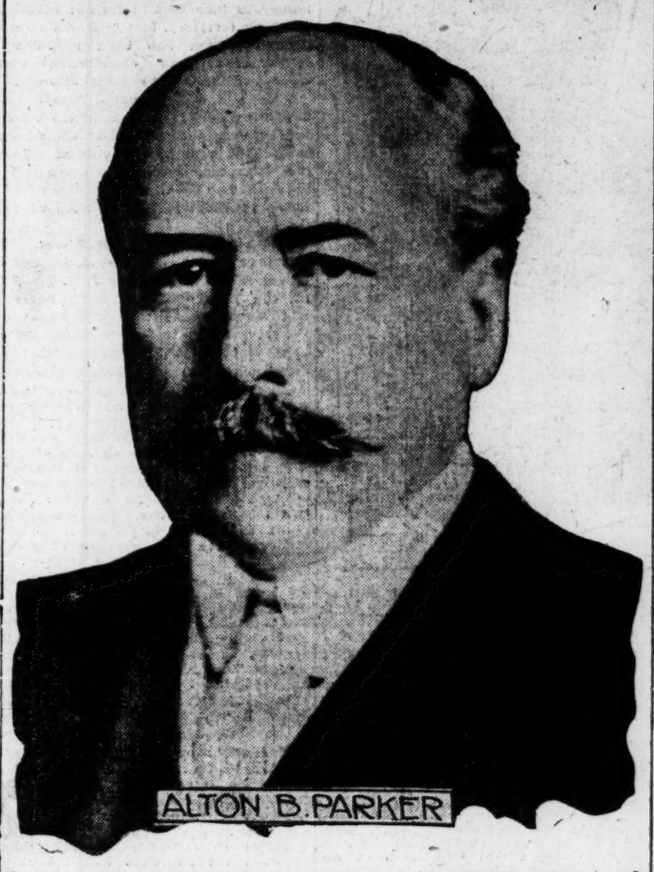

The heat soon began to have its effect and delegates and spectators stripped off their coats and rolled up their sleeves, ready for the night's work.

At 8:15 Norman E. Mack climbed to the stage and conferred with Parliamentarian Crisp and Judge Parker.

The delegates began to crowd in about 8:20 and in a few moments the aisles were in confusion. The sergeants-at-arms tried in vain to get the delegates seated. Finally, four police-

TOM HARDWICK AGAINST SLATON?

Rumored That the Congressman Will Shortly Announce.

It Is Certain That Hardwick Has the Matter Under Advisement—Leaders of Hoke Smith Faction Confer With Hardwick.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Baltimore, Md., June 25.—(Special.) That Representative Thomas W. Hardwick will shortly announce his candidacy for governor against John M. Slaton is the gossip current among Georgians here, following conferences that have taken place this week.

It may be stated positively that Mr. Hardwick has the matter under advisement, though when seen in the lobby of the Hotel Belvedere this evening he declined to state positively that he would run.

However, he did not deny it and admitted receiving a number of letters urging him for the place.

Senator Hoke Smith, James R. Gray and Mr. Hardwick have all been here this week and recently Major Cohen, managing editor of The Journal, was in Washington for a conference with Senator Smith, at which time Georgia politics was discussed. Senator Smith has sought to avoid mixing up in state affairs since his election to the senate and will not take an active part in the campaign.

Thomas G. Hudson, who recently retired from the race for governor, was an onlooker at the convention today, but he and Mr. Hardwick did not meet.

If Mr. Hardwick enters the race for governor, he will, of course, not offer again for the place of representative from the tenth. Mr. Holden is a contestant for Mr. Hardwick's seat.

GONVENTION NEWS ON PAGES EIGHT, NINE TEN, THIRTEEN AND EIGHTEEN

Believed That New York Will Turn to Alabamian on the Second or Third Ballot.

WILSON IS ELIMINATED BY DOWNFALL OF BRYAN

Believed That New Jersey Governor Will Begin to Lose Delegates Early in the Balloting—Table Showing How the First Ballot Will Probably Stand.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Baltimore, June 25.—(Special.)—Now that the row over the temporary chairmanship is settled, the convention can settle down to business and to the choice of a candidate for the presidency.

The main fact that sticks out is that no candidate has a majority, to say nothing of two-thirds. The choice must come through a desertion of their first choice candidate by delegates. Political managers are juggling with combinations of figures in a way to daze the three-shell faker.

The Clark managers claim 512 on the first ballot, of which 423 are claimed as instructed, and the others put down as "pledged." Political observers who claim to have a good line on the situation say that Speaker Clark will poll his maximum strength on the first ballot and will never afterwards reach that figure. Harmon is considered too extreme a conservative. Wilson will attract the radicals and will possibly have Bryan's straightout support.

New York's boom for Mayor Gaynor has upset the calculations of some of the managers. That block of ninety delegates constitutes the cornerstone of the structure which all the campaign headquarters are building.

Wilson Beaten With Bryan.

The prevailing opinion here is that the net result of the defeat of William J. Bryan in his fight for the temporary chairmanship today will be the early elimination of Wilson in the battle for the nomination. Wilson and his forces, so far as he was able to marshal them, were lined up squarely behind the Nebraskan, and he must share in the defeat of his leader, and it has already given a decided check to the enthusiasm of the Wilson forces who were sanguine of a victory for Bryan and were pluming themselves to reap all the benefits therefrom.

The Wilson forces chose to cast their lot with Bryan and have suffered a decided loss of ground by meeting defeat with him right at the outset, which will, in the opinion of many, end all chances for Wilson making any further gains among the various delegations prior to the nominations on the floor of the convention and put his

BRYAN ELIMINATED FROM THE CONTEST FOR WHITE HOUSE

Party Leaders Think That His Defeat by Judge Parker Means That There Is No Chance for Him to Be Nominated.

TURN OF THE POLITICAL WHEEL REGARDED BY SOME OBSERVERS AS RATHER FAVORING CLARK

Many of Clark's Adherents Openly Supported Parker and This Revives Rumor of a Missouri-New York Coalition. Also That the Underwood Forces May Enter This Combination—It Is Said That, Having Beaten Bryan, Conservatives Are Willing to Accept Progressive Candidate and Platform.

Baltimore, June 25.—William J. Bryan met defeat at the hands of the democratic national convention today, and in the opinion of many of the party leaders here eliminated himself from the race for the presidential nomination.

The vote by which former Judge Alton B. Parker, of New York, was elected temporary chairman over Mr. Bryan—579 to 510—was interpreted tonight in many ways. The Champ Clark adherents are claiming the nomination, and many believed today it would either be Speaker Clark or a "dark horse."

Talk of Mr. Bryan has not ceased by any means. Some of his friends say today's vote was no test; that many of his most ardent supporters were compelled by circumstances to vote against him as temporary chairman. They claimed, on the other hand, that the vote of 510 given to Mr. Bryan indicated that he held a "veto" power in the convention which put him in a position of dominance as to who should be the nominee.

MANY OF THE CHAMP CLARK DELEGATES OPENLY SUPPORTED ANTI-BRYAN FORCES

Many of Speaker Clark's delegates openly threw their support to the anti-Bryan forces. This was regarded as opening a breach between the speaker and the former nominee which may cause the Bryan supporters to make a bitter fight on Clark. Taken from another standpoint the vote of so many of the Clark adherents for Judge Parker was interpreted as a distinct bid for the support of the conservative element in the convention.

This conservative element, it may be stated, practically is prepared to accept a radical or progressive candidate. They frankly admit that to name a conservative or so-called reactionary would strengthen Colonel Roosevelt in his organization of a third party. This the leaders are anxious to avoid.

The turn of political affairs in the past few days is regarded here as having been decidedly favorable to Speaker Clark's candidacy. The straightout Wilson delegates today threw their support solidly to Mr. Bryan. This, the leaders figured, would make the conservative element choose Clark in preference to the New Jersey governor as the progressive candidate.

REPORTED THAT COALITION HAS BEEN FORMED BETWEEN NEW YORK AND MISSOURI FORCES

There was a report abroad tonight that the 90 votes of New York would go to Clark. This report was based largely upon the action of New York today in voting against Bryan. The fact that the Missouri delegation also gave Parker a majority of its votes—22 to 14—quickly called out reports of a coalition of interests between New York and Missouri.

This, naturally, led to talk of Clark for president and a New York man for vice president. The man mentioned most prominently in this connection was Senator O'Gorman. There was talk tonight also that the Underwood forces might come into this combination, the plan being that Mr. Underwood should have the speakership of the house in the event of Mr. Clark's elevation to the presidency. Most of the Underwood states are said to be against Mr. Bryan on almost any proposition whatever. Certain it was that most of these states—located in the solid south—voted against Mr. Bryan today.

The Clark people declared tonight that with New York and the Underwood forces united under the speaker's banner, the latter would have more than the necessary number of votes to nominate.

PROGRESSIVE CANDIDATE SEEMS TO BE CERTAIN; THE PLATFORM WILL ALSO BE PROGRESSIVE

It seemed certain tonight, from the public action of the delegates and their privately expressed views, that the democratic convention will nominate a progressive candidate and adopt a progressive platform. Some of the leaders frankly said they resented Mr.

The Knights of the Mystic Ark gave a delightful entertainment at their lodge last night at 8 o'clock. A number of pleasant entertainment features were witnessed by the guests, who also enjoyed a sumptuous banquet in the large dining hall.

Nearly five hundred members and friends of the lodge were entertained. The program, the features of which were recitations and songs by the Misses Baxter Garner, was well executed.

DECATUR DROPS PLAN TO ANNEX OAKHURST

The annexation of Oakhurst to Decatur has been dropped indefinitely, and it is not likely that the agitation will be broached again soon. A joint meeting of the committees from each town, scheduled for last night, was not held when it became evident that no agreement could be reached. No special reasons are said to exist, except that the present is just an inopportune time.

MRS. WILLIAM GRANT TO AID SCHOOL OF GIRLHOOD DAYS

Mrs. William D. Grant, who will aid LaGrange Female college from which she graduated with the class of 1854. Home portrait by McCrary & Co.

Mrs. William D. Grant, of Atlanta, a graduate of the class of 1854 of the LaGrange Female college, is the leading spirit in a movement to raise funds for the completion of a building on the college campus.

Mrs. Grant, who was Miss Sallie Fannie Reed, one of the beauties and belles of Georgia, and a leader among the women of her day, who represented the highest culture and accomplishments, graduated with honor from the old college at LaGrange, and has always had the most affectionate interest in the success of the institution.

To the alumnae throughout the south, Mrs. Grant has addressed a circular letter, as follows:

"My Dear Friend: I am taking the liberty to address you in regard to our beloved alma mater, the LaGrange Female college, and I very earnestly hope that you will warmly interest yourself upon the subject, which I am about to bring to your attention.

"The college has recently completed a new building, costing about $42,000. Of this sum, about $17,000 is in hand, leaving about $25,000 to be raised. The building is of the most approved design. It has, in addition to class rooms, a gymnasium, a swimming pool and all of the most modern and sanitary appliances, suited to the physical training of young girls.

"At the request of some of the members of the board of trustees I have consented to render such aid as I can in raising this sum, and I am sending this letter to each one of our alumnae.

"Im am an alumna of the class of 1854, and though seventy-three years have passed over my head and my hair is white with years, I look back with sweetest memories of those happy days. Now in the evening of my life, surrounded by my loving children and grandchildren, I know I speak the truth when I say that if I have done some good along the journey, if my descendants are blessed with culture, refinement and many of the graces of Christian ladies and gentlemen, much of it all must be attributed to the ennobling influences which surrounded my girlhood days in the dear old college in LaGrange.

"It is to me a privilege, yes, a benediction, to contribute to the fund needed to finish the payment on the new building, and I believe that you will feel the same way about it.

"Let us all, then, give something. Some of us can give more than others, but let each give as much as she can, and I believe God will bless us all and also our alma mater.

"Contributions can be made, payable either in one or two installments, whichever may be most convenient. Let me hear from you and after a reasonable time I will make a report to the proper authorities of the college.

"With affectionate remembrance, I am, Yours sincerely and cordially, Mrs. Sallie Fannie Reid Grant, 427 Peachtree street, Atlanta, Ga."

ROMANCE AND LAW COME IN CONFLICT

Pretty Widow Testifies for Jim Chrones, But Recorder Binds Him Over.

Pretty Mrs. Georgia Palmer went on the stand in the recorder's court yesterday afternoon in behalf of her sweetheart, Jim Chrones, and told the story of the quarrel between Jim and Elouis Stassinopolos, another admirer of her charms, which ended in a knife and pistol duel, in which the man with the shorter name came out decidedly ahead. The court disagreed with her, however, to the extent of dismissing Stassinopolos and binding Chrones over in $500 bond.

Dressed in a becoming suit of white and blue, and wearing a modish straw hat, crowned with a flowing plume, she held the attention of the court room both during her recital and that of the two contestants for her smiles.

"Elouis," she told Judge Broyles, pointing to the huge form of Stassinopolos, towering over everyone in the witness stand, "threatened to do me injury Sunday night, because I went out to get an ice cream soda with Jim here. I came back home and went to my room to go to bed. I knew nothing of the fight until I heard the pistol shot. Then I suspected that Elouis had come and crawled under the bed."

"She loved me," Stassinopolos cried when he was given a chance to tell his story, "or at least she said she did. See, I got the proofs." And then dramatically he waved a big batch of letters in the air.

Stassinopolos said that he went to the Palmer home to deliver a message to the fair one, and was attacked by Chrones as soon as he entered the house, his rival attempting to shoot him, his wound being received in the scuffle for the gun. Chrones said that Stassinopolos made the first attack and that he used his gun in self-defense.

POLICE CONTINUE WAR ON USERS OF "DOPE"

Another chapter was written yesterday in the police's campaign against the use of cocaine, morphine and "dope" of all kind, when Detectives Bullard and Black flushed a "dope convention" Monday night in the Cannon hotel.

Cliff Brewer, of 150 Central avenue; A. J. Fitzgibbon, of 18 Boulevard place, and Ivan Wimbish, of 169 Chestnut street, were the victims, and each was bound over under $500 bond on the charge of vagrancy.

A large assortment of "dope" outfits was captured in the raid and exhibited at the trial.

Webb and Bullard testified that they shadowed Brewer to the Cannon hotel and watched him go into a room in which Fitzgibbon and Wimbish were waiting. Through a transom, they stated, they watched the three remove their coats, produce the "dope" outfit and begin sniffing, eating and injecting the drug.

SOUTH TO PROBE INCREASED RATES

Expert Analysis of Southern Classification No. 39 Urged.

An expert analysis of Southern Classification No. 39, which makes numerous increases in freight rates in southern territory, and to which strenuous objection has been urged by southern railroad commissions and trade bodies, will be made at once.

This was decided upon Tuesday at a meeting held in Atlanta of the steering committee appointed at the recent conference held in this city at which the interstate commerce commission was asked to order a suspension of the new classification for a period of 120 days.

Manager Slatter Will Direct.

This analysis will be made under the direction of Manager J. T. Slatter, of the Birmingham freight bureau, and among those who will assist in the work are Rate Expert Prince Webster, of the Georgia commission; rate experts of the Florida commission, the Atlanta freight bureau and the Richmond, New Orleans and Birmingham freight bureaus. A report upon this analysis is to be made to a meeting to be held in Atlanta on July 12.

Freight Traffic Manager E. S. Goodman, of the Richmond chamber of commerce, and Traffic Manager John A. Smith, of the New Orleans board of trade, were added to the steering committee, which now consists of seven members. There were present at Tuesday's meeting Chairman C. M. Candler, Chairman R. Hudson Burr of the Florida commission, Commissioner J. Richard Wingfield of the Virginia corporation commission and Manager J. T. Slatter, of the Birmingham freight bureau, Commissioner J. S. Davant, of the Memphis freight bureau, wired that he was detained on business, but was with the committee in its work.

Conference Is Asked.

A communication was ordered addressed to the southern calssification committee, representing the railroads, inviting that body to appoint a subcommittee with power to act, to meet here on July 12, and see if it is not possible to reconcile the differences between the railroads and the shippers.

The meeting of July 12 will probably bring the crisis in connection with the new classification. If the railroads show a willingness to make concessions, a settlement may be reached; at least, it may be possible to withdraw objections to the classification as a whole, letting it go into effect and holding up only such matters as those upon which it is impossible to agree.

All southern trade organizations and freight bureaus will be requested to contribute their share of the expense toward making the expert analysis of the new classification and the contest over it.

STILL REPLIES TO EXPERT COHEN

Declares His Report Is Inaccurate and an Attempt to Whitewash.

Editor Constitution: The "expert" printer, one Mr. Frank J. Cohen, appointed by the printing commission of the state of Georgia to investigate into the padding and excessive charges of the state printing, has made his report, extracts of which were printed in Sunday's Constitution of the 16th instant.

It is so ridiculously inaccurate and such a bunglesome attempt at whitewashing that the state printer himself must have collapsed when he read it, and doubtless exclaimed, "Well done, thou good and faithful."

His report includes twenty-eight paragraphs, some short, some long.

The "expert" reports that "the use of 'small pica' type is a physical impossibility, 'eleven point' having taken the place of 'small pica,' the state losing a fraction by this change of type." In this statement the "expert" exposes the fact that he is either densely ignorant or wantonly seeks to misrepresent for a purpose. The truth of the matter is, "small pica" and "eleven point" are identically the same type and size.

In paragraph four the "expert" comes forward with the startling assertion that the "journals" of 1877 were printed in "small pica," and as a consequence, according to the "expert's" process of figuring, the state printer undercharged the state $69.98. In this statement the "expert" again shows lack of knowledge of the technical points at issue. The "journals" of 1877 are set in "long primer" ten-point), and not in "small pica" (eleven-point), as this wonderful "expert" claims. This can be proven by every honest printer in Atlanta. Therefore, were the state to take this "near expert's" findings seriously and refund the undercharge claim, it would be robbery pure and simple. However, the type used in the 1911 "journal," "small pica" (eleven-point), is correct, and in compliance with the contract. It is the outrageous "padding"—unjustified spacing between the lines—that I have criticised. The "journals" are padded from cover to back, and as the result, the taxpayers of Georgia are out many hundreds of dollars, three hundred of which the state printer has already been made to turn back in the treasury as the result of my exposure. The following sworn-to affidavit tells its own story:

"This is to certify that I, J. H. Buffington, ex-employee of the Byrd Printing Company, of this city, while in the discharge of my duties as make-up on state work for the year 1911, was given instructions by one J. S. McCreight, superintendent and foreman of composing room, to space out the matter in a certain way, and often I would condense pages, and he would say: 'You are beating the office; slug her out; we need the money.' Of course I slugged it out. Another thing: the senate Journal is spaced much more than is necessary, as well as the Acts. I was given no style book more than the last published, which was slugged twelve points between the paragraphs and sometimes fourteen points, and the styles eleven-point on fourteen-point slugs, which makes fifteen points at paragraphs. He, J. S. McCreight, impressed it on the minds of all that he wanted all the spacing possible, as the state 'pays for it, and we need the money.'

"I further make affidavit that had the spacing been done properly, the above-named work would have had a much better appearance. I further aver that my daily instructions by Mr. McCreight to wide space was done for no other purpose than to run the state to an unnecessary expense, and that hundreds of dollars might accrue to the Byrd Printing Company, that said firm was not justly entitled to. Hundreds of pages could have been saved had fairness been adhered to.

"J. H. BUFFINGTON."

Mr. J. S. McCreight, under oath and in the presence of the printing commission of Georgia, acknowleged giving the above instructions, but modified by saying he was just joking to jolly the boys along so they would do more work.

The "expert" admits the paper used is not up to specifications, and cost less money than the contract calls for.

After vainly attempting to justify the state printer for his excessive padding of the state's work, he winds up by saying: "If the contentions of Mr. Still result in the change of the law governing the giving out of the state printing and the employment of an 'expert' printer to aid the printing commission in this work, then Mr. Still will have perfomed an act worthy of patriotism, and one that will result in the saving of many thousands of dollars to the state of Georgia."

In one sentence the "expert" says "the contract is faulty and Mr. Byrd lived up to the contract."

In another the "expert" says two styles were put before the state printer, slugged and unslugged, and that "human nature" prompted the use of the slugs. Oh, you human nature!

The last paragraph of the report reads as follows: "Frank J. Cohen, practical printer an' expert."

In conclusion, I wish to again urge that the present legislature pass a law creating the office of superintendent of state printing and put a check to the shameful waste of the people's money. Practically every state in the union has such a law.

HOSPITAL MENUS WILL BE PRINTED

"Eating" at Grady as Good as at Boarding House, But Not Like "at Home."

To show Atlanta that the internes are all well fed at the Grady hospital, Superintendent Summerall will within a short time furnish the newspapers with the menus of the days when the young doctors of that institution were said to have been dissatisfied with conditions there.

This was decided upon yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the board of trustees, which continued its investigation, begun at a previous session, in an effort to discover the source of the story published in The Constitution some time ago, detailing complaints of insufficient food and overwork made by hospital workers.

Many internes testified that the food served at Grady was up to the standard of "boarding houses," but was nothing like so good as that they were accustomed to at home.

The investigation touched upon the conditions under which the nurses are working and may result in making matters easier for them. At present, so Miss Feebuck, superintendent of the nurse corps, stated, the nurses are compelled to pay for everything they break, whereas such restrictions do not govern the internes. She stated that the nurses work under stricter rules, begin work earlier and that their quarters are inadequate.

VIENNA QUIET AFTER LYNCHING

Vienna, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—The verdict of the coroner's jury that investigated the lynching of Annie Barksdale, the negress who slew Mrs. B. E. Jordan, of Pinehurst, yesterday afternoon, was as follows:

"We find that the deceased came to her death at the hands of unknown parties."

Sheriff Bennett has made no arrests and none is expected, although it is stated that the names of the owners of the automobiles which carried the lynching party are known.

JOSIAH JOHNSON CALLED BY DEATH

Prominent Lumberman Had Lived in Atlanta Since 1870.

The career of Josiah M. Johnson, confederate veteran, churchman and for years one of the leading lumbermen in Georgia, was closed in death last night, the end coming shortly after 8:30 o'clock at the home, 127 Nelson street, after an illness of a week. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

The news of the death of Mr. Johnson was a shock of his friends and friends of his son, Alonzo J. Johnson, a member of the city aldermanic body.

The deceased was born August 2, 1832, making him 80 years old at the time of his death. He came to Atlanta in 1870, after the close of the civil war, and established himself in the lumber business. He retired in 1894.

When the call to arms was sounded in the sixties he joined the Thirty-fifth Georgia regiment, and served through the Virginia campaign. He was noted for his deeds of daring and valor on the battlefield, and was beloved by his comrades for his many sterling traits of character.

His entire life was marked with good deeds. He was a devout member of the Methodist church, and for thirty years he was steward and one of the trustees of the Walker street church. He was one of the prime movers in the work which resulted in the erection of a new church, which stands as a monument today to the untiring efforts and unselfishness of those who helped to build it.

He is survived by his widow and a large family of children. He was married in 1868 to Miss Sophie M. Jones, daughter of Judge Zacharie M. Jones, of DeKalb, and sister of the widow of the late Rev. W. A. Dodge. His children are: William G. Johnson, Alonzo J., Thomas W., Oliver H. and one daughter, Miss Lula M.

He was prominent in Masonic circles, being a member of Piedmont lodge.

"CUDDLES" AND GEORGE ENJOYING LIFE ON STAGE.

"Cuddles" and George, two of the happiest children in stage world, are planning a busy and profitable week while they are in Atlanta playing with Gus Edwards in his "Song Revue."

George is preparing a challenge, on behalf of his team, to be inserted in all the newspapers, to reach any baseball club in Atlanta of the proper age, for a game to be played this week.

"Cuddles" has just learned that Atlanta boasts a lake at Piedmont park, where she can go in swimming to her heart's content, and now she is willing to play an indefinite date here.

These two children take a big part of the "Song Revue," and are the pets of the company. They are the personal proteges of Mr. Edwards, and are Mrs. Edwards' especial charge. They keep her busy, too, she says.

"Cuddles"—her real name is Augusta Appel, of New York—adopted stage life through chance. She was playing in front of a New York theater, when Edwards, who was then in need of more children, came along. He watched her for a while, and then asked the little girl of 4 if she would like to go on the stage. "Yeth," she answered; "ask papa." And "papa" said "yes," and now "Cuddles" is 6.

George—his whole name is George Price, of New York—was selling papers when Gus Edwards found him, and added him to the song-bird brigade.

PEACHTREE HOTEL TO COST $500,000

$300,000 Will Be Put in Building, $200,000 in Furnishings.

William Winecoff Buys Lease of Southwest Corner Peachtree and Ellis From Amos Braselton and Associates. Stoddart Drawing Plans.

With the lease of the site in new hands and new capital back of the proposition, the erection of the proposed twelve-story hotel at the southwest corner of Peachtree and Ellis streets, now seems assured. William F. Winecoff has purchased from Amos Braselton and his associates their ninety-nine-year lease on the corner and will erect the new hotel for M. I. and Frank Harrell, who have signed a lease on the building.

Mr. Winecoff and Frank Harrell are now in New York and eastern cities, where they are making a study of the best hotels to get the latest ideas for the new hotel which will be built here. Before returning to Atlanta they will confer with W. L. Stoddart, of New York city, who has drawn the plans for the hotel, and the final details, based upon the results of the tour of investigation of Mr. Winecoff and Mr. Harrell, will be arranged.

Consideration Not Known.

The consideration in the transfer of the lease could not be learned Tuesday on account of Mr. Winecoff's absence from the city. Mr. Braselton declined to discuss the matter in his absence.

I. M. and Frank Harrell are the present lessees of the Aragon hotel. Their lease runs out within three years, and it is their hope to be well established in the new building by that time.

I. M. Harrell said Tuesday:

"Mr. Winecoff has purchased the lease of the site and will erect a building which we have already leased for a term of years. I cannot state just what the details of the building plans will be until Mr. Winecoff and Mr. Harrell have conferred with Mr. Stoddart and come to a final decision. The building is a go, however, and we are figuring on a structure about twelve stories in height, which will cost about $300,000.

Rooms Well Furnished.

"We will furnish the hotel ourselves and have already obtained estimates from furnishers to this end. The furnishings of each room, according to our estimate, will cost about $150. There will be in the neighborhood of 200 rooms in the hotel.

"The hotel will not be so large as some of the other hotels in the city, because of the limited dimensions of the site, but by putting at least $500,000 into the building and furnishings it is our purpose to give Atlanta a hotel which will be a decade ahead of anything she now has."

The building will occupy a frontage of about 75 feet on Peachtree street and run back to a depth of 105 feet along Ellis street. Whether there will be entrances on both streets or whether a dining room having an exposure along the entire Ellis street frontage will debar an entrance on that street has not been decided. While Mr. Harrell did not state what the plans were, he intimated that the designs for private dining rooms and parlors to occupy the second floor of the building are ahead of anything in the southern states.

SCULPTOR WEDS GIRL WHO NURSED HIM

Jersey City, N. J. June 25.—Announcement of the marriage today of Frank Edwin Elwell, the sculptor, to Miss Anna Benjamin, of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, came as a surprise to the artist's friends. Mr. Elwell was badly injured in a fall about six months ago, and Miss Benjamin, a trained nurse, was employed to care for him. The couple will spend their honeymoon in Canada and Nova Scotia. Mr. Elwell's first wife obtained a divorce last year on the ground of desertion.

BUSINESS RULE URGED FOR CITY

Revolt From the Present Political System Advised by Edwin Ansley.

A business men's administration of the city government and a revolt from the politicians and the "makeshift system which we have had for years," is urged by Edwin P. Ansley, the well-known real estate man, in a letter to the chamber of commerce, which has just been made public.

Mr. Ansley takes up in some detail the needs of the city, and finds therein material for a scathing denunciation of those in control of affairs, particularly the public works department.

"Let us remember that we are building not only for today," he writes, "but for tomorrow, and that what is sufficient today will be wholly inadequate a few years hence. The public works department is the one that is suffering most, and needs the most attention."

He then gives a list of things which he alleges needs attention, the sewer system on the north side, near Piedmont park, which, he says, is making life unbearable, other open sewers which he calls breeders of disease, and calls attention to the amount of fever prevalent in the city. The fallen Jackson street bridge is also taken up, the crumbling schoolhouses, the Spring street grade and other things. The condition of the city streets, he says, is deplorable, and efforts at repairs have been only "sporadic."

He then urges that the business men and the chamber of commerce get together in the coming city election, put forth a ticket that will make for economical administration and the wise expenditure of the city funds.

MINIMUM WAGE FIXED FOR WOMEN TEACHERS

Chicago, June 25.—Edward J. Tobin, Cook county superintendent of schools, declared last night that women were not competent to teach school if they agreed to give their services for less than $50 a month. The superintendent made the statement after he had sent notices to teachers that he would cancel certificates where contracts were made for less than this stipulated salary.

"In the school year that ended in June, 1911," said Superintendent Tobin, "many teachers were getting only $35 a month, and in the year previous many of them, according to the records, were being paid only $25 and $30.

"I have told every teacher that comes under my jurisdiction that her minimum salary must be $50. The women I am certifying to the school directors as capable are worth that much, or more, and they must get it or they cannot teach in this county. I have told the teachers that I would revoke certificates where the order was not obeyed."

The county superintendent has jurisdiction only outside Chicago.

BEDBUGS IN A HOUSE RENDER LEASE VOID

New York, June 25.—The appellate division of the supreme court of New York state has held, in a decision just rendered here, that the presence of bedbugs is justification for the breaking of a lease by a tenant.

Howard Ehrich, a member of the stock exchange, last fall leased a country house on Long Island. The Ehrichs moved in October 15 last. They were greeted, they declared in court, by a delighted swarm of bedbugs. Because of the bedbugs they moved out on November 19 and declined to pay a cent of rent.

LYNCHING OF HIS SON DRIVES FATHER TO DEATH

Danville, Ky., June 25.—The lynching of young Carl Ethrington, prohibition detective at Newark, Ohio, three years ago, had a sequel here today when Hartwell Ethrington, his father, blew out his brains with a shotgun. Brooding over the death of his son is declared to have been the cause. Etnrington was a prosperous farmer, living near Danville.

THAW DECLARES HE'S NOT CRAZY

He Is Grilled for Five Hours by William T. Jerome.

Thaw Is Reminded That Six Years Ago Tuesday He Killed White—Thaw Says He Killed White Because of Latter's Treatment of Evelyn.

White Plains, N. Y., June 25.—Harry K. Thaw spent five hours today—the sixth anniversary of the shooting of Stanford White—on the witness stand under fire of examination by William T. Jerome, who is opposing Thaw's fight for release from the Matteawan asylum.

Today Mr. Jerome reminded the witness suddenly of the anniversary of the tragedy, and questioned him sharply as to the circumstances of the killing. Both Thaw and his counsel, Clarence J. Shearn, quickly interposed objections on the ground that Mr. Jerome was showing animus and "serving private interests."

Mr. Jerome declared his questioning was within the province of a "mental examination," and he was generally upheld by Judge Keogh, but was unsuccessful in his apparent attempts to make the witness display undue agitation.

Why He Killed White.

The question of Thaw's motive in killing White did not bother him.

"It was on account of the cold-blooded way in which he done things to my wife and other girls," he declared firmly. He refused to answer when Jerome asked if he was insane during the half minute he was killing White. But he said later:

"I think my mental condition was the same as General Daniel Sickels when he shot Key."

"But," Jerome quickly retorted, "General Sickels did not hide behind a woman's skirt, as Evelyn testified the other day that you had done."

Thaw said that by a combination of his own opinion and that of his alienists he had arrived at the conclusion that he is now sane.

At another time Mr. Jerome asked: "Mr. Thaw, will you describe in detail the killing of Stanford White by you?"

"I don't think I'm able."

"You described it to Dr. Russell in 1911, did you not?"

"No."

Able to Tell of Killing.

"Are you unable to give an account of the killing?"

"I am."

"From what does your inability arise? Is your memory impaired?"

"In part."

"Will you state what recollection you have of the occurrence from the time you left the Cafe Martin until you were taken to the station house?"

Thaw was extremely unwilling to give an account of the killing and replied again and again that he could not answer the questions, as they were too broad.

"You understand that we are here to find out, if we can, whether you are crazy or not, don't you?" asked Jerome.

"I can't answer the question," replied Thaw.

Asked why he could not, the witness would not answer.

LOAN OF $300,000,000 REJECTED BY CHINA

Washington, June 25.—China has rejected the $300,000,000 loan from the banking group of the six powers, probably because of the stipulation for foreign supervision of its expenditure. The proposal for foreign administration of the salt monopoly also has been declined. Four cabinet officers of the Tong Shao Yi party have offered their resignations. These advices were received today by the statte department.

AGED WOMAN IS CREMATED

Thought That Robbers Fired House Near Dawson After Securing Money.

Dawson, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—Mrs. Lou Johnson, elderly widow, living alone on her farm 8 miles north of Dawson, was burned to death last night and her home destroyed. Jesse Daniels, a neighbor, awaking about midnight, discovered Mrs. Johnson's house in flames, the roof falling in before he could reach the house.

Summoning other neighbors, they quickly removed the remains of the aged woman from the burning timbers. She was burned to death in bed. Beneath her body $420 in gold was found, supposedly having been sewed up in a mattress. Relatives state she kept large sums of money in the house, never depositing in bank. They believe she was murdered, robbed and the dwelling fired. Robbers doubtless took the silver and paper, but failed to find the gold.

Officials are now investigating, but no clue has yet been found as to who the perpetrators were.

FORCIBLE FEEDING OF SUFFRAGETTES

Causes Member of Parliament to Denounce Premier Asquith.

London, June 25.—Intense bitterness has been engendered in England by the forcible feeding of the imprisoned suffragettes who declared a hunger strike while in jail.

This was reflected in an extraordinary scene this afternoon in the house of commons, when George Lansberry, a socialist member, denounced Premier Asquith and the government in such vitriolic terms that the speaker ordered him to leave the house, and threatened to have him ejected unless he went out voluntarily.

Timothy Nealy, the nationalist, had appealed to Premier Asquith to release the women, and the premier replied that they could leave prison this afternoon on promising not to repeat their offense. Mr. Lansbury immediately projected himself at the treasury bench, shaking his fist in the faces of Premier Asquith and other ministers.

Mr. Lansbury screamed at the premier and other ministers: "You're beneath contempt. You know the women cannot give bond on such a promise.

"It is dishonorable to ask them to do so. Talk of Russian atrocities, why you will go down to history as the torturers and murderers of innocent women. You ought to be driven out of office."

The house was quickly in disorder. The speaker, however, finally secured quiet and ordered Mr. Lansbury to leave.

He replied: "I am not going while these contemptible things are torturing and murdering women."

He yelled this out in a loud voice, and appeared to be much wrought up, but when the speaker warned him that he would be forcibly ejected unless he went of his own accord, the labor members gathered about their colleague and induced him to quit.

PAINTER ALMA-TADEMA DROPS BRUSH FOREVER

Wiesbaden, Germany, June 25.—Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema, the famous English painter, died here last night. He had been suffering from ulceration of the stomach and was undergoing the cure. He was in his seventy-seventh year.

Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema was born at Dronryp, in the Netherlands, but was later naturalized in England. He received gold medals for his paintings from most of the leading academies of Europe and was decorated with most of the chivalric orders.

PROBE TO BRING RADICAL CHANCES

Work of Agricultural Department to Be Systematized.

Daily Reports, Reduction in the Number of Inspectors and Smaller Oil Fees Urged in Bills Backed by the Ault Committee.

The Ault report, recommending radical changes in the operation of the state department of agriculture following an exhaustive investigation of that department, will be made to the legislature this morning after the final meeting of the committee.

The recommendations of the report have already been embodied in bills which will be introduced into both houses as soon as work is fairly under way, and there is little doubt but that every one will be passed, having the unanimous indorsement of the Ault committee.

The effort of the committee has been to systematize the work of the department, to put the finances on a business-like basis and to eliminate much needless expense in the appointment of superfluous officials.

Here Are Main Changes.

The principal provisions of the report are essentially the same as published in The Constitution last February, following the conclusion of the committee's investigation. Minor details, it is understood, have been read into the report, but the following are the main points which affect the welfare of the state:

It is recommended that all the money from fertilizer tags and other sources shall hereafter be paid directly into the state treasury, and not into the department. It may then be checked out as needed by warrants, as in all other departments. The custom up to this time has been to pay the money to the commissioner of agriculture, who paid the expenses of his inspectors therefrom and turned the balance into the state treasury.

It is recommended that six "general inspectors" be appointed to hold office the entire year, to inspect fertilizers, foods, weights and measures and assume such other duties as may be assigned them. There may also be appointed, as the need arises, short-term inspectors who shall serve not longer than four months in each year. Not more than forty such inspectors may be appointed each year. The number of general inspectors and short-term inspectors heretofore has been unlimited, running as high as 125, with no restrictions on the terms of service of the latter men.

All Presents Are Barred.

It is recommended that a law be enacted making it a misdemeanor for any manufacturer of fertilizer or dealer in same to employ any state fertilizer inspector or for the inspector to accept such employment or for the manufacturer or dealer to give any presents or articles of value to the inspector or member of his family.

A system of complete reports is recommended for the department, whereby the work of each fertilizer inspector day by day, and his entire record, may be kept in the office at the state capitol where it can be seen at any time.

The fees of oil inspectors are to be reduced in another recommendation, making the fees $10 for the first three cars and $5 for each succeeding car.

Gasoline Inspector.

The office of gasoline inspector is to be created, the duties and fees to be similar to the position of oil inspector.

A strict record is to be kept of all fertilizer tags and pure food stamps, it is recommended, the state printer to deliver such tags and stamps to the state treasurer and not to the commissioner of agriculture. They are to be charged to the department and an accounting made at regular intervals.

There were present Tuesday in the city five members of the committee which drafted the resolutions, including Chairman Isaac A. Busn; Senator from Pelham; Representative E. A. Ault, author of the resolution which caused the investigation; Senator J. A. Cromarty, of Hazelhurst, and Representatives John T. Hixon, of Carroll, and E. Cabaniss, of Oglethorpe.

FUNK AND WOMAN MUCH TOGETHER

Witnesses Tell of Relations of Harvester Manager and Mrs. Henning.

Chicago, June 25.—A jury was obtained today to hear the evidence in the suit of John C. Henning against Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester Company, for $25,000 for the alleged alienation of Mrs. Henning's affections. Henning was in court, but Funk was not present.

Miss Aileen Heppner, who formerly lived at the Henning home on the south side and is employed as a cashier in a downtown pharmacy, testified that in 1909 she saw Clarence S. Funk and Mrs. Josephine Henning enter a room together at a hotel. The witness said Mrs. Henning was employed as a checker in the restaurant of the hotel at the time. Several months later she declared she saw them go to a room in another hotel.

On cross-examination the witness said Mr. Henning and his wife had told her that the man who was with Mrs. Henning was Clarence Funk.

Edward W. Deiter, formerly a hotel bell boy, testified to having seen Mr. Funk and Mrs. Henning in a room together in January, 1910. He said he was called to the room to serve drinks.

Mr. Henning, the plaintiff, was the next witness heard. He gave his age as 28, and said he was married on May 6, 1909. He was subjected to a searching cross-examination, which had not been concluded when court adjourned.

Mrs. W. Schley Howard Ill.

Washington, June 25.—(Special.)—The friends of Congressman William Schley Howard and his wife will regret to learn of Mrs. Howard's illness at the Parkwood apartments, in Washington. She was taken ill several days ago with ptomaine poisoning, and her condition was such that Mr. Howard was, unable to attend the opening session of the convention today.

Nary a howl as yet from the houn'-dawg.

The donkey and the steam roller got a flying start together.

Dictating evidently is not popular with national conventions.

A tip to the Baltimore delegates—find out what Jonah's initials were.

There is a statesman to every corner saloon in Baltimore these days.

Who said Atlanta's team lost all the time. Didn't it rain Sunday and Monday?

The Hon. W. J. B. may have read the handwriting on the wall at Chicago.

Texas has no cause to feel fear over the return of its muchly tarred Lyon.

The indications are that the cardinal's prayer did not have the desired effect.

The Baltimore American urges the city to treat the visitors well. Well and often.

The democrats intimate that they do not intend to Bear with a Teddy of their own.

Birmingham has its sky-scraper at last—even if it did have to get Texas men to put it up.

The average convention takes no cognizance of the fact that the nights now are the shortest in the year.

Mr. Roosevelt is probably willing to buck the mills of the gods with the steam-rolled mills of the humans most any day.

Pity the poor sporting editors. Think of what they are getting handed to them every day from the Birmingham scribes!

It is understood that a woman to remain beautiful must take care of herself, but those who do remain beautiful don't have to.

Evidently Macon's pretty manicurists and trained nurses are determined that their little town shall stick right around with the limelight.

T. R.'s idea of a new party "from the ground up" is entirely logical, in view of the present steam-rolled condition of the aforesaid new party.

The Baltimore police have been instructed not to sit down on the delegates—this probably for the benefit of the lady cop which that city boasts.

The steam-roller smashed all existing records while beating it from Chicago to Baltimore. Evidently the colonel's cries of "thief" scared all the pickpockets away.

The vociferous silence arising in several sections emanates from certain well-known progressive leaders pussy-footing it back home to wait for the storm to blow over.

If, as several of the headline writers assert, some of the candidates are nervous, what hysterical adjectives would describe the state of mind of some of the headline writers.

It is now up to some enterprising young reporter to interview the steam-roller on the difference between bumping the bumps at Chicago and laying them out at Baltimore.

Seven there are who have heard the call to sacrifice their own personal interests for the good of the country—and six there are who will be returned to the bosoms of their indignant conferees.

TWO CONVENTIONS AND A DIFFERENCE.

Democrats and the country generally should not be misled by the excitement that prevails generally at Baltimore.

"In contrast to the methods of the Chicago convention," runs the report of the impartial Associated Press, "the statements (relative to presidential aspirants) put out merely extol the respective candidates without casting aspersions on the others."

One tempted to allow his judgment to be influenced by the noise and the sounds of battle from the big Armory should find his feet pinned to the earth by the last five words in the foregoing declaration.

Mud-slinging among the avowed candidates at Chicago was the order of the day.

Billingsgating had been the keynote of the pre-convention campaign of each of the several candidates, actual or receptive.

When issue was joined, it took on a more virulent and reckless nature.

Pot-shooting was stylish. New fashions in invective and personal abuse, strange and sweeping charges of "bribery" and "fraud" were bandied more freely as the one faction sensed victory and the other defeat.

It will not be quiet as a mid-May morning at Baltimore.

Few presidential nominations are born in a death-like calm.

The convention will see abundant use of light and heavy artillery.

Even the most intimate of families bicker.

There will be jockeying for advantage.

There will be sharp clash of honest opinion against honest opinion.

There may even be shown occasionally the trailing garments of the ghosts of old feuds.

But, speaking by and large, we misinterpret the situation if the democracy has not, at last, learned the lesson it most needed to learn—that of toleration, of subordination of private ambitions to party welfare, of closing the ranks tightly against acrimony once quarrels have been settled in party counsels.

For decades the republicans made that philosophy their own and for decades the republicans were impregnable. Once they abandoned that high position, disintegration crept in. The rest is history.

Red-fire, such as the democrats turn loose, is not going to ignite any democratic tents.

Hard words exchanged between democrats are not scheduled to break any democratic bones.

The watchful and solicitous and rival wings of the once Grand Old Party will do well to keep these facts well to the front in their political calculations.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Temporarily overshadowed by the democratic convention, the general assembly of the state of Georgia meets today in its regular annual session.

It is fairly certain that no business other than that of a routine nature will be transacted until adjournment at Baltimore.

Legislatures are human, and it is not to be expected that this one will settle down to a steady grind while the representatives of the party are making history, probably for many years.

Next week will bring a different status.

There is much legislation of an important character pending before the assembly, and the approach of the fall and gubernatorial elections will be an incentive to "speeding up" the legislative machine.

Several measures of especial appeal will press for consideration.

Reformation of insurance and stock-issuing laws to the end of scourging forth forever "blue sky" concerns from this state is imperative.

The banking laws of Georgia need a thorough revision.

The method of tax-levying and distribution, aptly termed by Judge John Hart as "passing around the hat," should be modernized to meet twentieth century standards and exigencies.

Women should be admitted to the bar in this state. Even Russia has taken the step. Arguments against it take their rise wholly in sophistry.

More stringent action—even a constitutional amendment, if necessary—should be aimed at the indefensible pistol-toting evil.

Other subjects may well demand the thoughtful attention of the general assembly.

The state is to be congratulated that the body of men meeting today are singularly capable of discharging their duty, wholeheartedly, to the commonwealth and its best interests.

"FROM THE GROUND UP."

Americans who for one moment nursed a lingering doubt that the nation would lack for a super-heated political summer must now relinquish that misgiving.

Colonel Roosevelt has flatly announced that his followers will organize into a new party "from the ground up."

The recognized fighting ability of the former president, his splendid facility for political management, his no less wonderful command over men, assure that the war he wages will be of the determined persuasion.

The slaughter will be frightful—never fear that.

It cannot be questioned that perceptible inroads will be made upon the "regular" organization led by President Taft. The latter is handicapped by Hitchcockism and Wickershamism, and the deadly animosity of the hard-and-fast Roosevelt adherents.

Neither will the democracy escape. It is just as well to face facts.

In the end, we entertain little doubt that both the colonel and his successor will be voted homeward by the country. The democracy is destined to win.

Even though the split in republican ranks did not exist, and Colonel Roosevelt were the regular nominee, he would be weighted down like lead by the third-term feature, still held sacred by hundreds of thousands of men of all parties.

But—

The peacefully-inclined, who would love to spend the heated term in serenity, must give over a dream conceived in short-sight and born in futility.

THE CHINESE LOAN.

The consummation of a $300,000,000 foreign loan to the republic of China is one of the best indications yet given that that government as now constituted is to be one of stability.

Subscribing to the loan are six of the most powerful nations in civilization, including our own country.

Joint participation must act, in a way, as a sort of unwritten pledge to preserve the present status, and to cheek any tendency toward Chinese dismemberment on part of the signatories.

Further news that the representatives of the northern and southern portions of the country, once in disagreement, are now in harmony, gives renewed assurance of the maintenance of peace.

With the internal troubles of the nation fast approaching resolution, its progress toward modernization should prove sure and rapid.

Briefs from Billville.

The campaign wagon is in the middle of the road, and a good many fellows are mighty glad they are with DIXIE.

This is the land of memories. Every stump in it has a political history.

Candidates will have to pay a license in Billville after this year. Three thousand at $1 a head will bring in enough cash to build a town hall.

Our weather bureau has struck the weather twice recently, but the weather is slowly recovering.

We have only had a few rainy days this month. But they were accidents; merely stopping over, after missing connections between the Mississippi river and the ocean.

No Bills From Billville.

I.

There ain't no bills from Billville,
To read our titles clear;
We're in the friendly season;
The fish are bitin' here;
Picnics a plenty an' not one candidate
To fetch a wave of trouble a-swingin' on the gate.

II.

Not a bill from Billville—
Don't need 'em, soon or late;
We've no one with a warrant
Ter the savin' of the state;
We're in the friendly season—all up an' down the line,
Picnics a-plenty, an' the fish a-bitin' fine!

Heard on the Highway.

He "waited for the wagon," and never knew, until too late, that an automobile had put an end to it two miles up the road.

He growled when he heard the distant rumble of earthquake, but when it swallowed him he discovered a country of gold and he crawled out a rich man.

He faithfully followed instructions and kept the saw in the log, but he kept it too small for business.

YOUNG M'NEESE IN OCILLA JAIL

Ocilla, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—James McNeese, the 17-year-old son of John H. McNeese, who shot and killed his father near this place on last Friday evening, was driven in town yesterday by a brother and surrendered himself to Sheriff W. A. Tucker and is now confined in the county jail at this place awaiting a commitment trial. He will likely be released on bond in a few days.

He freely discusses the shooting, admitting the killing and assigned as his only reason that his father had whipped him to the point of anger. He stated that his father had his hands on him at the time he fired the fatal shot remonstrating with him, but made no effort to take the gun from him. He expressed deep regret at his deed and stated that he expected to give the whole truth about the matter in the court and withhold nothing.

Public sentiment is very much with the boy on account of his tender years and diminutive size. He was the youngest child of the family and the baby boy. The remains of the father were buried Sunday at Lebanon church, where he had been a consistent member for many years.

J. W. MERCER DIES AT HIS HOME IN MACON

Macon, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—Jessie W. Mercer, one of the best known insurance men in the state, died here this morning, following a brief illness. It was due largely to his efforts that the handsome new office building of the Georgia Life Insurance Company was erected in Macon. Mr. Mercer was prominent in secret orders, being a member of the Macon lodge, Free and Accepted Mason; Elks, Woodmen of the World and Knights of Pythias.

He is survived by his widow, who is at present in a sanitarium in Atlanta; four sons, Frank Mercer, of Boston; P. D., Baynard and Hugh Mercer, all of Macon; two sisters, Mrs. J. A. Johnson and Mrs. W. E. Ganaway, and his mother, Mrs. A. E. Mercer, of Albany.

The body will be taken to Albany Wednesday morning for funeral and interment.

Grain Rates Upheld.

Washington, June 25.—The interstate commerce commission decided today that the rates on grain and grain products from points in Minnesota, North and South Dakota and northern Iowa through Duluth, Superior and Milwaukee to Atlantic seaboard points, lake and rail, were not discriminatory as compared with like rates from Chicago.

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP.

Despite the numerous reports that the opening sessions of the legislature would be seriously interfered with by the absence of members attending the Baltimore convention, Clerk Boifeullet and others expressed the opinion yesterday that not more than five or six house members were in Baltimore.

There were a large number of arrivals Tuesday and the Kimball house lobby took on the usual appearance of the legislative season last night. A majority of the members were much more interested in the discussion of the Baltimore convention and what is being done there than they were of issues which are likely to come up before them in the next few weeks.

Quite a number of south Georgia members were present and conversation turned to the probable action on the capital removal bill. This bill provides for a general state election to be held for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not more than two-thirds of the citizens of Georgia desire the capitol to be removed to Macon. It was introduced by Joe Hill Hall about the middle of last term, and has a good position on the calendar for this term. It will probably be called within the next two or three weeks.

There was considerable discussion among members of the house as to whether or not Mr. Hall would push this bill. Many do not believe that the bill will be pushed by the gentleman from Bibb.

John T. Boifeuillet, clerk of the house, who is here already for the opening of the legislature, has just returned from a three weeks' trip through south and middle Georgia in the interest of Senator Bacon, who is a candidate for re-election. Mr. Boifeuillet says that he found conditions unusually good so far as Senator Bacon's race is concerned, and that he is much encouraged over the result of his trip.

Mr. Boifeuillet says that the farmers are more interested in crops than politics just now. Early corn is not near up to the standard of a year ago, he says, and the cotton crop is a week or two late. An unusually good friut crop will do much towards helping the farmers for the season, and he believes that the crops will average up fairly well by the end of the season.

Had it not been for the meeting of the legislature this week Mr. Boifeuillet would be in Baltimore this week, and would perhaps have attended the republican convention in Chicago last week. He is greatly interested in the result of the Baltimore convention, and predicts general democratic success for this fall.

W. Trox Bankston, of West Point, candidate for railroad commissioner, was a visitor in the city Tuesday, mingling with the members of the legislature.

"My race looks better every day," said Mr. Bankston when asked about his campaign.

Mr. Bankston says that he has more than 150 weekly papers pledged to his support, and the majority of them are already working actively in his interest.

"When you get on the commission will you quit the newspaper business?" he was asked.

"Why, I wouldn't give up my paper to be president o fthe United States," he replied. "When I was writing on The Constitution years ago they used to cut out anything they wanted to from my articles. There is nobody to use the blue pencil on me now, and that is a privilege that I always want to have."

NO MORE STREET BEGGING TO STRAINS OF MUSIC

The hand organ of the decrepit, the flute of the blind, the accordion of the lame, the violin of the aged and all other music on the streets which is made for the purpose of securing alms by appealing to the ears as well as to the heart of the charitably inclined will be no more heard in Atlanta if the recommendation of the ordinance committee of council, adopted yesterday afternoon, is adopted by the city council next Monday afternoon.

The committee decided to report favorably an ordinance prohibiting the issuing of licenses for street music, when the same is for the purpose of soliciting alms.

The ordinance was introduced in council by the ordiance committee at the request of the Associated Charities of Atlanta because there have been many licenses granted for street music to people who wanted to beg with musical accompaniments.

COTTON SEED OIL MEN TO MEET IN CONVENTION

The convention of the Cotton Seed Oil Mill Superintendents' Association will be in session here, at Taft Hall, on June 26, 27 and 28, the meetings to convene daily at 9:30 a. m.

The officers of the Oil Mill Superintendents' Auxiliary, under whose directions the convention is being managed, are as follows: J. C. Burruss, treasurer; C. M. Edwards, vice president; F. C. Myers, secretary, and J. C. Fulford, treasurer. The executive committee is composed of J. O. Bailey, S. R. Jacobs, Frank Humphrey, L. W. Kearns and Walter Nash. Offices are at 1021 Grant building.

Besides the regular order of business to be transacted by the convention, a number of pleasant entertainment features are being planned for those expected to attend.

TOWN OF BLACKSHEAR VOTES FOR BOND ISSUE

Blackshear, Ga., June 25.—(Special.) The bond issue voted on today by the citizens of Blackshear for the purpose of installing a system of water, sewerage and lights was carried by an overwhelming majority. In fact, so little opposition developed that the voting was all practically one way.

As soon as the bonds can be validated and sold and contracts made, work will be pushed ahead as rapidly as possible, and before many weeks have elapsed Blackshear will have a system of water sewerage and electric lights equaled by few towns of its size in the south.

HALL MASS MEETING SPEAKERS ARE NAMED

Macon, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—The committee in charge of the arrangements for the mass meeting to boom the candidacy of Joe Hill Hall for governor, to be held next Monday night at the city auditorium, has chosen the following speakers for the occasion:

Mayor John T. Moore, Andrew W. Lane, W. T. Anderson, R. L. McKenney, W. D. Nottingham, W. A. McKenna and Dupont Guerry.

FORT VALLEY IS CROWDED WITH GEORGIA COLLEGIANS PACKING LUSCIOUS PEACHES

Over one hundred young Georgia college students, who have been worrying every employer in town for jobs, have at last found situations in the town of Fort Valley, Ga., where they are now busily engaged packing peaches.

The peaceful village of Fort Valley, sleeping among the red old hills of Georgia, was rudely awakened from her nap Monday morning when a lusty "Rah-rah!" heralded the invasion of a band of Georgia collegians. Twenty-five from Tech, forty from the University of Georgia, fifty from Mercer and fifteen from Emory are the reported ratios of the four forces. Among the peach-packers are Robert L. Hughes, J. N. Moore, Ellen Hoffman, Harry Price, Dick Whitner, Henry Harris, Hill Freeman, John Strickland, Frank Carter, Fuzzy Roan and many others.

Town Divided Into Camps.

A Tech student, who has recently returned from Fort Valley, pictures the situation thusly: "The four bands of boys have divided up in four quarters of the town. A Tech yell will precipitate a louder shout from the Georgia camp. If a Georgian is spied within the picket lines of the Tech boys the unfortunate wanderer is seized, bound and tortured.

"It is only in united raids on surrounding plantations and watermelon vines that the hostile forces join together. Then the Fort Valley populace suffer a period of sleepless nights and uninterrupted warfare. College yells and football tackles are the order of the day. Believe me, Fort Valley is, at present, the greatest educational center in the country.

"Pals Sleeping Three Deep."

"When I floated away from that burg on a freighter my pals were sleeping three deep on a 4x6 floor. My clothes were furred all over with peach pealings and I longed for a loaf in Atlanta. I think the others'll be beating it back here soon."

But the ox that treads the corn should not be muzzled, and the youthful peach-packers are eating what they can, and what they can't they don't can, but pack.

In the meantime the packers, who are receiving 2½ cents per crate, or about $1.50 per day, are wondering whether a boy with a college education, who has to work eight long hours a day picking, packing and pushing peaches, is really better off than that fortunate, uneducated chap who stays away from the classic shades and does a bit of clerical work in a comfortable, cool office at home.

MACON MAN AND PRETTY NURSE WEDDED IN MIDDLE OF THE ROAD

Macon, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—Elopements and freak weddings are becoming daily occurrences in Macon.

Sunday Ralph Grayson and Miss Ruth Jackson were married in the center of a cotton patch, after outwitting angry parents, Mr. Grayson stealing his bride from her home in a second-story flat by means of a ladder.

Today Joseph A. Harper, a traveling man, and Miss Callie Bates, a pretty trained nurse, went out for an automobile ride. They had planned to be married later in the evening, and Mr. Harper had the license in his pocket.

While driving along the country road, they came upon Rev. J. G. Harrison, who was coming into the city in his buggy. It occurred to the couple that it would be a novel surprise to their friends if they should wed, and announce the fact on their return home. They stopped the preacher and asked him if he was willing to tie the knot. He was not only willing, but ready, and taking the seat vacated by the chauffeur, the minister invited the couple to stand up in the machine while he made them man and wife. The only witnesses were the chauffeur and a farmer who happened along just in time.

TO EDUCATE CHILDREN WHO HAVE TUBERCULOSIS

There are over twenty little children in the Battle Hill sanitarium who are victims of tuberculosis and who will be deprived of the advantages of education unless the city makes some special provision for them. These little ones while undergoing treatment at the sanitarium cannot go to school. Many of them have been dismissed from the public schools because they were afflicted with the dread white plague.

To meet this situation the committee in charge of the sanitarium has undertaken to provide a schoolhouse for these children and asks the city council to provide a teacher. The matter will first be brought to the attention of the board of education, which will probably ask for a special appropriation with which to pay the teacher's salary.

SOUTHERN PLANS DOUBLE TRACK FROM ATLANTA TO GAINESVILLE

The Southern is shortly to commence the double tracking of their line from here to Gainesville, according to a petition filed in the United States court this week, seeking a restraining order against the Gainesville and Northwestern road, which it is alleged has trespassed the Southern right of way near New Holland, some miles from Gainesville.

The new double track will greatly congest the Southern's property at that point, the petition avers, the depot will have to be moved, and unless relief is granted and the other road ordered to recede from their right of way, they will be damaged to the extent of some thousands of dollars. The petition alleges that the Gainesville and Northwestern have without permission attempted to cross the Southern track, and in so doing have wrought damage in tearing up their track. Judge Pardee granted the restraining order and set June 29 for the final hearing of the case, when the Gainesville and Northwestern is cited into court to show cause why the order should not be enforced.

Notifications of resupmtion of service are being sent out by the Lousiana Railway and Navigation Company, and for the first time in six weeks connections are being made with the west through Shreveport. The flood is said to have been the highest in history, though it covered only about eight miles of this company's tracks, all of which has been restored.

The Northern Pacific is another road which is encouraging scientific farming along its lines, with a view to increasing the average yield of crops. They yesterday offered several $50 scholarships to the University of North Dakota, to be given to students in the agricultural department who come from the counties through which their road passes.

Jesse N. Couch, formerly of the Aragon and Majestic hotels, but now operating the Oceanic at Wrightsville Beach, was in the city yesterday making reservations for a number of Atlantans who are going up soon. It is probable that the regular Thursday crowd tomorrow will prove so large that a special train will be made up to accommodate them.

STATE FIRE FIGHTERS MEET AT AMERICUS

Americus, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—Georgia's fire-fighting contingent, representing the State Firemen's Association, assembled in annual convention in Americus this morning, with practically every town and city possessing a fire department represented.

The visitors were cordially welcomed by Mayor Pro Tem. Lee Allen, representing the municipality, to which response was made by Chief Eugene Burch, of Hawkinsville, the association's secretary.

The firemen engaged in a busy morning business session, and this afternoon were carried in automobiles to Andersonville, over Sumter's fine roads, the tour concluding with a reception at the Country Club.

The convention will continue in session through Thursday. Chief Ballentyne, of Savannah, president of the association, presided at the business sessions.

FREIGHT REPRESENTATIVES GATHER FOR CONFERENCE

A conference between freight representatives of all the railroads touching seaports or gulf ports in the southeast and several steamship companies opened yestedray morning at 10 o'clock in the Georgian Terrace and will continue throughout today. There are about thirty-five railroad men in attendance.

The question of export cotton and methods of handling by the railroads in connection with the steamship companies, it is said, will occupy much of the attention of the conference, with a view to preparing for the opening of the heavy export trade within a few months. E. H. Hinton, chairman of the Southeastern Freight Association, who is presiding over the conference, stated that this matter would come up.

Among those here for the conference are: D. W. Longstreet, W. M. Rhett and R. V. Fletcher, Illinois Central; J. M. Culp, Randolph Clifton, R. L. Simpson, J. M. Woodruff, L. Green, of the Southern; E. Gengenbach and A. D. Lightner, of the Frisco; C. McD. Davis, Atlantic Coast line; W. A. Winburn, E. B. McCuen, C. T. Airey, Central of Georgia; A. G. Jackson, Georgia; C. B. Compton, Louisville and Nashville; J. Brown, Gulf and Ship Island, and others.

MISS MINNIE REDFORD WILL INSTRUCT TEACHERS

Miss Minnie Redford, of Greensboro, N. C., will be here next Friday and Saturday to conduct a "teachers' institute" for the benefit of the corps of young Atlantans who will have charge of the four daily vacation Bible schools, which open in Atlanta on July 1 under the auspices of the Men and Religion Forward Movement.

For the past three years Miss Redford has been identified with the vacation Bible schools of New York's east side, and she comes here to open similar schools to give the young teachers the benefit of her several years' experience. The vacation Bible schools in Atlanta will care for 400 children during the six weeks' session.

The following are the teachers who will attend Miss Redford's institute this week: T. P. Buford, superintendent; Willis Milner, Miss Annie Claude Winn, Miss Frances Kendrick, Miss Eva Bridwell, F. A. Lampkin, Misses Gussie Fraser, Rose Erwin Converse, Mattie Lou Richardson, Mary King, Julia Hendon, Georgia Crane, Agnes Kendrick, and Harry Hallman. The following are the teachers for the colored school: Eugene Martin, Rose Martin, Delilah Evans and Mettie King.

"The Three Kisses."

The purest kiss
In the world is this,
The kiss that a mother lays
On her child's fresh lips
As he blithely trips
To meet the world and its ways.

The sweetest kiss
In the world is this,
The first long kiss of love,
When time is not
And earth's forgot

The saddest kiss
In the world is this,
The kiss on unanswering clay,
When dead lips tell
We must say farewell
Till the dawn of the judgment day.

GREAT HIGHWAYS AIM OF EXPERTS

Big Projects Indorsed by State Road Authorities.

Bill Is Prepared for Introduction in the State Legislature for Great Highways North and South and East and West in Georgia.

Athens, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—A great highway through Georgia and stretching south and north into two other states, running from Jacksonville to Albany, thence to Athens, one to Cornelia, in Habersham, to Tallulah Falls, Clayton and to Highlands and across North Carolina to tap the "crest of the Blue Ridge" highway.

And another across-Georgia highway to set off the proposed national "Sherman road," the second one proposed from Jacksonville to Andersonville, thence to Fort Valley on to Atlanta, by Rome (45 miles already built through Floyd) and into Tennessee to Chattanooga and to be known, in contradistinction to the Sherman road, as the "Forrest highway."

These were indorsed by hearty resolutions passed by the Georgia Federation of Road Authorities in session here.

A legislative committee was named, eleven of the best known road officials in the state being on that committee, to urge to passage a bill which will be far-reaching in its effects on the progress further to be made by Georgia in making of good roads.

Those who will handle this legislative matter are Judge W. F. Eve, of Augusta; N. F. Tift, of Albany; W. M. Gammon, of Rome; Julian Lane, of Columbus; R. E. Davison, of Greensboro; Dr. McCallie, of Atlanta; T. P. Branch, of Atlanta; R. G. Hartsfield, of Decatur county, and Professor Strahan, of Athens.

A committee was also named to urge a closer organization among the members of the Federation of Georgia Road Authorities. The committee is: Judge T. E. Patterson, of Griffin; J. R. Lane, of Columbus; J. D. Coleman, of Tattnall county; C. M. Strahan, of the road department at the University of Georgia, and W. M. Gammon, of Rome.

Marked interest was manifested in the methods of making road surfaces in Georgia by the top-soil and the sand-clay composition way. The laboratory in the university road department was the center of this study and discussion and Professor Koch talked for an hour on these methods of road making to the standing body of earnest road enthusiasts.

From All Over Georgia.

The road people are here from every part of the state. The entire board of commissioners of Tattnall county with their clerk are here in a body; Decatur and Miller counties, away in the southern end of the state, are represented also by good delegations.

Augusta Wins 1913 Meeting.

Augusta won the next meeting of the federation. Macon and Dublin were both anxious to secure the 1913 convention and had enthusiastic delegations working for their respective cities. The convention decided to meet in the home city of the president, Judge W. F. Eve.

The last act of the federation was to declare by resolution for affiliation with the American Association for Improvement of Highways.

CLAY MUST HANG FOR WIFE-MURDER

He Will Be Sentenced by Judge Roan This Morning.

Condemned Man Has Not Uttered One Word Since He Entered the Tower--Eminent Physicians, However, Deny That He Is Insane.

Robert L. Clay will be sentenced to hang for the murder of his young wife when the criminal branch of the Fulton superior court convenes this morning, Judge L. S. Roan presiding.

Following a trial which lasted for more than a day and a half the jury, after being out for two hours, returned a verdict of "guilty" without any recommendation at 4:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon. According to one of the members of the jury the delay of two hours was caused by the question of whether or not a recommendation that the sentence be life imprisonment should be made. Little doubt remained with the jury as to the sanity of the prisoner.

The case of Clay has been unusual throughout its entire course. On Sunday night, May 12, he went to the home of his sister-in-law at 201 Lee street, where his wife was staying, and after a short talk with her shot her with a pistol. At the point of a pistol he forced his brother-in-law to allow him to escape, then a few minutes later gave himself up to the police before the news of the murder had been made known.

Say He Was Shamming.

He was taken to the Tower and from the moment he entered the portals of the county jail he has not spoken a word. The grand jury which indicted him took just three minutes to return the bill, and even then he showed no sign of emotion. His attitude throughout has been that of an imbecile, but the commission of three well-known physicians, appointed to look into the question of his sanity, reported that he was shamming. During the entire trial he sat by the side of his lawyers, slowly pivoting his head from side to side, paying no attention to the course of the trial and maintaining a steadfast silence. When placed upon the stand he paid no attention to questions, but continued the curious motion of his head.

It was not until the jury returned its verdict of guilty that he betrayed any emotion. Then, for a moment, he abandoned his pose and his entire body became rigid, while he opened his lips as if to protest, but suddenly he closed them, then glanced about quickly to see if anyone had observed his action.

Defense of Lunacy.

The defense was based upon the lunacy of the prisoner, and the arguments of his counsel were all along that line, but the testimony of Drs. Baird, Ellis and Green, the experts appointed to examine, counterbalanced the prisoner's actions, while Judge Roan charged the jury that the condition of the prisoner at present should not be considered in deciding his condition at the time of the murder. The judge declared that a prisoner might be insane at the time a murder was committed and then recover his sanity afterwards, and that the opposite might just as well be true.

The speeches of S. L. McClelland and W. M. Smith, for the defense, and Solicitor General Hugh Dorsey and James L. Key, for the state, took up most of yesterday morning. The judge's charge lasted fifteen minutes.

TYBEE RESORT MEN INDICTED

As Result of the Drowning of Young New York Millionaire.

Savannah, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—As a result of the drowning at Tybee Sunday of W. N. Coler, Jr., New York millionaire and recent Harvard graduate, the Chatham grand jury today indicted the four proprietors of the two principal resorts on Tybee Island for failing to comply with the law in regard to safeguarding surf bathers.

Special presentments were returned against R. T. McFadden and Arthur Raven, proprietors of the Bohan bathhouses, opposite which Coler drowned, and C. M. Stubbs, of Macon, and B. B. Cubbedge, of the Tybee hotel property.

Four young Savannahians who all but lost their lives in an effort to save the young New Yorker appeared before the grand jury and testified to the inadequate life-saving facilities on the beach. They told of their terrific but fruitless battle in the powerful undertow. They declared that while no life saver could have saved young Coler, a lifeboat or other life-saving equipment would have made it possible for them to have saved the visitor. They declared that many of the provisions of the state law are not complied with at the resorts.

CUPID GOT BUSY IN BARBER SHOP

Carl W. Jenkins, of Macon, Falls Victim to Charms of Pretty Manicurist.

Macon, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Carl W. Jenkins, connected with one of the local packing houses, has fallen a victim to the charms of a pretty manicurist in the person of Mrs. Lenora Hawkins, and the two are now man and wife.

The first time Mr. Jenkins saw Mrs. Hawkins was several weeks ago. He walked into the barber shop where the young woman was working and asked to be shaved. He was attracted to the manicurist, who was busily engaged in attending to the nails of another customer. When she had finished Mr. Jenkins decided that his nails needed manicuring also.

His visits at the barber shop became more regular and never did he leave without having his nails doctored. A mere acquaintance with the pretty young woman ripened into love and when Mr. Jenkins proposed he was accepted and the wedding followed.

Trainmen to Hold Picnic.

Macon, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—The railway trainmen of Macon will hold their annual picnic at Beach Haven Wednesday. A special train will leave Macon early this morning and will return late in the evening. Several hundred persons will enjoy the outing.

Funeral of C. F. Bennett.

Macon, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—The funeral of Charles F. Bennett, a member of the Typographical Union and employed by the Macon News, was held this afternoon from his late home, Ash and Shamrock streets.

Bennett died yesterday from a self-inflicted revolver shot wound. He had been despondent because of the illness of his wife and daughter, both of whom are in the Macon hospital. The Knights of Pythias had charge of the funeral and the International Typographical Union also was well represented.

Ellis Engaged.

Macon, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—Curran R. Ellis was last night engaged by the waterworks commissioners to supervise the construction of the new pumping station for a low-power pump. No action was taken at the meeting on the proposed free installation of water meters for consumers.

NEW RAIN RECORD IS ESTABLISHED

Total Rainfall for Six Months in 7 Inches of Yearly Average.

The rain and hail which fell in Atlanta Monday afternoon and night established a record. The 3.88 inches of rain which fell swelled the total rainfall for the first six months of the year to 42.66 inches, which is more than has ever before fallen in six months in this part of the south.

But seven additional inches of rain are needed to swell the record to Atlanta's average yearly rainfall, which is 49.42 inches. After seven more inches are recorded every bit of rain that falls will swell the excess mark, and if the skies continue to weep as they have done every rain record of this section will be smashed to bits.

Ordinarily at this time of the year but 25.73 inches of rain have fallen, and the excess for the first six months of 1912 is now 16.93 inches, which is more than the total deficiency for the whole of 1911. The total excess for June is now 7.46 inches, which is also a record for a June excess mark.

AUTOMOBILE DEALERS GIVE 'CUE SATURDAY

The Atlanta Automobile and Accessory Association will hold a barbecue next Saturday at 1 o'clock at the celebrated Cold Springs 'cue grounds, near East Point.

This affair is to be held in celebration of the association's first anniversary. On this occasion the ladies will be invited.

Those members of the association who have not mailed back to Secretary Ellerby the postal card signifying their intention of attending, and whether or not they anticipate entertaining any lady guests, are requested to do so immediately.

IRWIN ALMAND GOES WITH RHODES-WOOD CO.

A. Irwin Almand wishes to inform his many friends and acquaintances that he is now connected with the Rhodes-Wood Furniture Co.

Boarder Raised Rough-House.

Macon, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—M. Cook, white, was so angered because his landlord ordered him to vacate his premises in Ash street, where he had resided a long time, that yesterday he broke all of the window panes in the house. Two patrolmen arrested him last night on a warrant obtained by the landlord.

Family Frightened.

Macon, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—Members of the family of P. H. Coleman, of Duncan avenue, reported to the police last night that they smelled chloroform. There have been many burglaries of late and they were afraid that someone was trying to put the family to sleep that they might rob the house. Police investigated but could not find where the chloroform odor came from, though the odor was noticeable after they arrived.

GRAND JURY SPLIT OVER "BLUE LAWS"

One Faction Favors Closing Atlanta as Tight as a Puritan Town.

The grand jury of Fulton county is split over the enforcement of the "blue laws" and it is probable that two reports will be made either today or tomorrow.

Strict enforcement of certain city and state laws is the bone of contention and two factions are at odds as to the report to be submitted. Whether those who wish to enforce the "blue laws" or those who believe in moderation will prevail and present the majority report is not yet known, and none of the members will tell how that body stands.

It is understood, however, that when the question of the enforcement of the Sunday laws was brought before the grand jury several weeks ago the majority went on record as being opposed to the literal compliance with the letter of the law.

A number of people declare that if the "blue laws" are enforced they are going to see that every ordinance is complied with, then if the street cars are forced to stop running.

"If the grand jury wants to start any 'blue law' regime here in Atlanta we will make them the most disliked body of officials this city has ever seen," said one well-known citizen who is a member of the grand jury, Tuesday afternoon. "We will close all soda water founts, we won't let a car run, we'll enforce the speed limit—and I notice that most of the grand jurors are men with automobiles—and we'll close things up so tight that even the flies will look hungry on Sunday. There's such a thing as moderation, and we'll show them how to respect it." In spite of his outspoken expression, however, he would not tell how the jury stood on the strict enforcement of the laws.

It is said that all branches of city and county law-enforcing officials will be censured.

WOMAN GETS FIVE YEARS FOR HOME-WRECKER

Cleveland, Ohio, June 25.—Mrs. Rose Dworkin, of Lawrence, Mass., was sentenced to serve five years in the penitentiary today, on her plea of guilty to manslaughter for the shooting of Jacob Horwitz, a contractor, last November.

Mrs. Dworkin told the police she killed Horwitz because he told her husband stories about their acquaintance in Poland which caused her husband to desert her.

Society women interested themselves in Mrs. Dworkin and had her transferred from the county jail to a hospital four months ago so that her baby, Joe, should not be born in jail.

CHOPPING DOWN TREES

In Virginia the people would build houses of wood and they chopped down their forests. They thought that wood was the only material with which to built their homes. This chopping down of trees has rendered the James River absolutely unnavigable because there are no trees to stay the mud.

Some day—if you don't quit "chopping down your trees", or other words, spending all of your today's income, the "river" of your life will become "unnavigable." Save your money and your life will be as the "deep water that always runs smooth."

To Judge Ellis.

Mr. W. D. Ellis, Jr., will entertain at dinner tonight at his home in compliment to his father, Judge W. D. Ellis.

The party will include:

Judge J. P. Pendleton, Judge W. T. Newman, Judge B. H. Hill, Judge George L. Bell, Judge J. H. Lumpkin, Judge A. E. Calhoun, Messrs. C. T. Hopkins, Albert Howell, Jr., W. A. Wimbish, J. L. Mayson.

Parties at East Lake.

East Lake was the scene of delightful entertainment yesterday, happy gatherings of young people assembling there morning and afternoon.

In the evening Miss Helen Thorn gave a bridge party on the clubhouse porch, inviting twenty young women to meet Miss Mildred Fort, a bride-elect, and Mrs. Alfredo Barill, Jr., a recent bride.

The guests were Misses Louise and Viola Barill, Miss Estelle Fort, Miss Jeanne Jonas, Miss Martha Francis, Miss Emily Cassin, Miss Van Spalding, Miss Alice Stewart of Athens, Miss Louise Boutcher of New Orleans, Miss Marian Fielder, Miss Maggie Foote and her guest, Miss Eliza Killian of Greenville, S. C., Mrs. Max Wright, Mrs. Marshall McKenzie, Miss Allen Weller and Mrs. Harold McKenzie.

The bridge prizes were silk stockings and lingerie.

In the afternoon Miss Jeanne Jonas was hostess at supper, the occasion a compliment to Miss Van Spalding's guests, Miss Alice Stewart, of Athens, and Miss Louise Boutcher, of New Orleans. A swimming party preceded supper.

To School Girls.

Miss Elizabeth Blanc has invited fifty young women for tea Saturday afternoon to meet Miss Dorothy Harmon and Miss Gladys Glover, who have just returned from school.

Mrs. George Crandall will entertain in their honor at tea this afternoon.

Bridge Luncheon.

Miss Maggie Foote's bridge party yesterday morning in compliment to her guest, Miss Eliza Killian, of Greenville, S. C., was an enjoyable affaird of three tables.

Miss Marguerite Beck and Miss Louise Mell won the prizes, silver slipper buckles and a silver picture frame.

A dainty luncheon was served at a table artistic in shades of lavender. The centerpiece was of lavender sweet-peas in four crystal vases, joined by crystal chains to other vases of the flowers at the four corners of the table, and at each place were small vases of purple pansies.

Miss Foote was becomingly gowned in blue silk and Miss Killian wore lavender mull.

Matinee Tea.

Mrs. Hal Steed was hostess at a matinee party yesterday in compliment to her sister, Mrs. Alvin Underwood, of Memphis. Afterwards she entertained her guests at tea at the Georgian Terrace, the tea table in the lounge prettily decorated with pink roses.

In the party were Mrs. Underwood, Mrs. M. L. Underwood, Mrs. George Adair, Mrs. John Somerville, Mrs. Mauris Underwood, Mrs. Ervin Dickey, Mrs. Fred Lewis, Mrs. Walter Candler, Mrs. William Owens, Mrs. John Powell and Mrs. George Calhoun Walters.

Birthday Party.

A beautiful party was given yesterday afternoon by little Miss Mark Orme at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Orme, in celebration of her fifth birthday.

The decorations were ferns and pink roses and carnations artistically arranged.

In the dining room, where dainty refreshments were served, the large round table was covered with a Cluny lace cover and had for a center decoration a tall silver vase filled with pink roses. Little pink crepe paper baskets filled with pink candy hearts were placed about the table, forming a heart.

Silver candles held pink candles under pink silk shades and the mints, cake and ices were also pink and heart-shaped. A large pink heart-shaped birthday cake with five pink candles was a pretty feature of the table.

Each young guest was given a pink basket filled with pink bonbons.

The lovely little hostess received her guests wearing a white lingerie gown and pink ribbons and was assisted in entertaining by her mother, who wore a pink embroidered mull, and her little sister, Mary Phillips Orme, who wore a white dress with blue ribbons.

The guests were Misses Eleanor and Jane Hillyer, Gladys Neal, Mary Porter, Lula Lewis, Evelyn and Lena Knox, Ann Spalding, Eloise Gaines, Annie Lee Hodgson, Clara Bell King, Lucile Stone, Margaret Morgan, Maria and Frances Brown, Mary Lou Smith, Mary Ann Lipscomb, Virginia Campbell, Miss Frances Arnold, Miss Ruth Ozburn, Miss Mary Lou DeGive, Miss Margaret Block, Misses Sarah and Callie Orme, Clayton Callaway, Mary Cooley, Masters T. S. Lewis, Jr., Frank Dean, Jr., Lewis Dean, Berry Grant, Charles Andrews, Jr., Arthur Wilson III., Scott Todd III., Robert and Richard Goodhart, Henry Morgan, Charles Harman, Jr.

Afternoon Bridge.

Mrs. Worth Rogers gave a pretty card party at the Georgian Terrace yesterday, thirty young married women enjoying her hospitality.

The game was played on the mezzanine floor, which was cool and inviting with palms, and afterwards dainty refreshments were served on the terrace. The bridge prizes were a piece of hand-painted china and a book.

Mrs. Rogers was gowned in white linen hand-embroidered and her hat was laden with flowers.

Mrs. McKee's Bridge Party.

Mrs. John Edgar McKee was hostess at a delightful bridge party yesterday afternoon at her home, inviting twenty-four friends to meet Miss Ruth Tuggle, of LaGrange, who is the charming guest of her sister, Mrs. James Williamson.

Palms and ferns and a profusion of nasturtiums formed an artistic decoration in the apartments. The prizes were a handsome cut glass powder box and an ivory fan. The guest of honor was given a silver vanity box.

At the conclusion of the game, delicious refreshments were served at the card tables. The candles on each table had yellow silk shades, and the mints, ices and cakes were yellow.

Mrs. McKee wore a beautiful gown of hand-painted pink chiffon, veiling white lace, and worn over pink satin.

At Wrightsville Beach.

Wrightsville Beach, N. C., June 25.—(Special.)—The Atlanta colony at this popular resort has been increased lately by nearly a hundred. Many of the number have visited Wrightsville Beach before and know of the manifold pleasure of the resort.

Erwin, Jr.

Afternoon Reception.

The afternoon reception given yesterday by Mrs. James T. Power was a pretty compliment to Miss Lorene Youngblood, a bride-elect, and Miss Carrie Hays, of Birmingham.

Ferns and Killarney roses decorated the reception rooms, and in the dining room a bowl of daisies was the centerpiece for a table picturesque in yellow and white.

Mrs. Power was gowned in white embroidered mull and lace. Miss Hays wore white marquisette over satin. Miss Hays wore pink chiffon.

For Visitors.

Miss Cecelia Cohen has as her guests Miss Ruby Jantower, of Athens, and Miss Mabel Levison, of Brunswick. Among the entertainments in their honor was a dance at Lakewood last night.

This evening there will be a moonlight picnic at Grant park, and Thursday evening a leap year picnic.

Saturday Miss Cohen entertains at a picnic, the guests to include a number of girl friends.

Ice Cream Festival.

An ice cream festival will be held by the Second Baptist Sunday school Thursday evening at 8 o'clock on the lawn of Miss Delany's home, 106 Park avenue. Members and friends invited. Take Fair street to White city cars to Glenwood avenue.

Anniversary Reception.

A cordial invitation is extended the public to the reception given this afternoon at the Home for Old Women, 61 West End avenue. The occasion is the seventh anniversary of the establishment of the home, and the entire building and grounds will be open for inspection. The hours are from 3 to 6 o'clock. Walker street cars pass the door.

Organ Recital.

An organ recital will be given Friday evening at 8 o'clock by Miss Eda Bartholomew at the Pryor Street Presbyterian church. The public is cordially invited.

Miss Carrie Porter, soprano, will assist Miss Bartholomew.

Arnold-Batson.

A pretty wedding last night was that of Miss Mabry Ward Arnold and Mr. Ezra Orestes Batson, of Sylacauga, Ala., which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Arnold, in West End.

A large company was present, and the attendants were Miss Emma Arnold, maid of honor; Mrs. E. Zachry Arnold, matron of honor; Miss Jamie Arnold, younger sister of the bride; Miss Eddie Hardwick, Miss Maude Benton of Monticello, Miss Myrtle Rockmore, bridesmaids; little Miss Nell Brawner, cousin of the bride, ring-bearer; Mr. John Fuller Golson, of Sylacauga, Ala., best man; Dr. Porch, Eugene S. Pittman, of Sylacauga; Thomas Lanier, of West Point, Ga., and Walter E. Arnold, Jr., brother of the bride, groomsmen.

Before the ceremony, Mrs. Caroline Samford Giles, of Opelika, Ala., sang, and Dr. S. R. Belk, pastor of Park Street Methodist Episcopal church, performed the ceremony.

The bride, entering the parlor with her father, was charming in charmeuse satin, the gown a graceful one made with court train and trimmed with princess lace. Her bouquet was of bride roses showered with valley lilies.

The matron of honor wore her wedding gown of charmeuse satin and lace, and her flowers were bride roses. The maid of honor wore white satin with a tunic of pink chiffon, and her flowers were lilies. The bridesmaids wore white chiffon cloth and carried pink roses. The ringbearer wore a dainty lingerie gown, and she bore the ring in a lily.

Mrs. Arnold, the bride's mother, was gowned in wistaria-colored crepe meteor.

The bridal party stood before a handsome arrangement of palms and smilax, and over them a love knot of tulle was draped from the chandelier.

The reception rooms had an artistic decoration in foliage plants, smilax and pink and white roses, and in the dining room the table centerpiece was a basket of pink sweetpeas. Pink tulle was drawn from the chandeliers to the corners of the table, which were draped with smilax, and the candles and ices were pink and white. Punch was served on the porch, which was inviting with palms and flowers.

An orchestra played the wedding music.

Mr. and Mrs. Batson went east on their wedding trip, and they will make their home in Alabama.

MEETINGS.

The 1908 history class will meet with Mrs. C. B. Howard Wednesday morning at 10:30. The year's program having been finished, the ladies have arranged a course of reading for the summer.

Boston, Mass., June 25.—Suit for over $2,000,000 alleged damages was filed against the the United States Shoe Machinery Company in the United States district court today by the Duplessis Independent Shoe Machinery Company at Haverhill. The suit is brought under the Sherman anti-trust act and charges injury to the complainant's business by reason of an alleged monopoly by the defendant company.

Counsel for the United Shoe Company filed a brief objection to making public the forthcoming testimony before an examiner in the suit by the federal government seeking dissolution of the company. It is argued that the hearing is not a trial and that the public should not know the testimony until the examiner makes his report to the court.

EMPIRE PLANNING MILLION CONCERN

Directors of Big Life Insurance Company Optimistic Over the Future.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Empire Life Insurance Company, held Saturday afternoon, plans for making the concern a million dollar company were discussed. The meeting was one of the most enthusiastic the board ever held, and everybody discussed prosperity and spoke of the future of the company.

The Empire Life Insurance Company is one of the most substantial in the south, and according to a printed statement issued recently, it leads all companies doing business in Georgia in volume of business written and paid for.

Figures from a statement filed with the insurance commission of Georgia show that the company has $20,000,000 insurance in force.

The officers and members of the directorate of the company are all men of standing in the state. The spirit of co-operation in every department has been one of the chief factors in making the company the most substantial in the south.

The company is twelve years old, and is making great strides day by day. It owns its nine-story building in the heart of the retail district of Atlanta.

The officers of the company are: William W. Reid, president; S. C. Callaway, vice president and manager of agencies; Thomas M. Callaway, secretary; Samuel Barnett, actuary; E. J. Spratling, medical director, and A. Hooper, general counsel.

The following are the directors of the company:

Judge U. V. Whipple, Cordele, Ga., former judge superior court, Cordele circuit.

J. B. Norman, Norman Park, Ga., capitalist.

Judge W. L. Palmer, Orlando, Fla., prominent lawyer and capitalist.

H. H. Stafford, Augusta, Ga., president chamber of commerce, and capitalist.

H. C. Lorick, Augusta, Ga., director Citizens' Trust Bank.

F. A. Hooper, Atlanta, Ga., counsel.

J. H. Evans, Sylvania, Ga., president Sylvania Banking Company.

E. J. Spratling, Atlanta, Ga., medical director.

J. E. Paullin, Fort Gaines, Ga., cashier Bank Fort Gaines.

S. C. Callaway, Atlanta, Ga., vice president.

J. L. Jessup, Macon, Ga., prominent business man.

William W. Reid, Atlanta, Ga., president.

Thomas M. Callaway, Atlanta, Ga., secretary.

M. P. Pope, Washington, Ga., capitalist.

R. M. Callaway, Atlanta, Ga., prominent business man.

AUTOMOBILE TRAGEDY CAUSED HIM TO SUICIDE

Camden, N. J., June 25.—Worry caused by the fact that some time ago his machine had run down and killed a man is believed to have been responsible for the suicide of Dr. Howard W. Hewett, a well-known and wealthy veterinary surgeon, who shot and killed himself today while seated in his automobile on the outskirts of this city. Dr. Hewett often had told friends that he was haunted by a vision of the man he had run down and killed, although he had been exonerated by a coroner's jury.

Suffragettes Smashing.

London, June 25.—Three suffragettes nearly succeeded in invading the house of commons this evening. They obtained admission to St. Stephen's hall where they smashed the glass panels of the door leading to the central hall, when they were seized by police and taken to the station house.

WATCHES

The points about our inexpensive watches which are specially worthy of attention are two: their excellence and reliability, independent of comparison with other watches; and then the exceptional values they provide for the money; the best values yet achieved in watches of moderate price.

We handle other grades which typify the height of luxury in watches.

YOUNG WIFE SAVED FROM HOSPITAL

Tells How Sick She Was And What Saved Her From An Operation.

Upper Sandusky, Ohio.—"Three years ago I was married and went to housekeeping. I was not feeling well and could hardly drag myself along. I had such tired feelings, my back ached, my sides ached, I had bladder trouble awfully bad, and I could not eat or sleep. I had headaches, too, and became almost a nervous wreck. My doctor told me to go to a hospital. I did not like that idea very well, so, when I saw your advertisement in a paper, I wrote to you for advice, and have done as you told me. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, and now I have my health.

"If sick and ailing women would only know enough to take your medicine, they would get relief."—Mrs. BENJ. H. STANSBERY, Route 6, Box 18, Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

If you have mysterious pains, irregularity, backache, extreme nervousness, inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait too long, but try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound now.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and such unquestionable testimony as the above proves the value of this famous remedy and should give every one confidence.

"An Honest Miller Has a Golden Thumb"

So runs the old saying.

But there are, nonetheless, honest millers. The one who mills K K K Flour is in Class A of the upright.

Tell you why:

He puts quality ahead of everything else. He gives you, through the processes which he has perfected, all the wheat that you are paying for.

He doesn't sacrifice nourishment to looks in making his flour—this wonderful K K K you hear so much about. You get your full 67% of carbohydrates, your 13% of albuminoids, your full share of the potash, soda and other mineral matter that Nature meant for you.

And at the same time—thanks to the wonder of the miller's wits—you get a beautifully white and regular-running flour.

So much for Quality.

K K K Flour is a glad surprise for the house-wife. It bakes up in a way that makes the most blase palate joyfully alert. Bread, biscuit, pie-crust and cake of the uttermost deliciousness come from K K K.

BOLT DESTROYS MILL AT GRIFFIN

Narrow Escape Made by the People at Work in the Building.

Griffin, Ga, June 25.—(Special.)—The large planing mill and chair factory building of John W. Wolcott was struck by lightning during a terrific rain and electrical storm this morning, causing a disastrous fire which totally destroyed the building and all its contents in a short time.

Miss Callie Hunter, the stenographer, had placed all the books and valuable papers in the vault and lock it and these were the only articles saved. The employees barely had time to escape from the burning building. There was no insurance and the loss is estimated at $10,000. The building was one of the old landmarks of Griffin.

Funeral of Mrs. Connor.

Griffin, Ga, June 25.—(Special.)—Mrs. M. L. Connor, wife of a prominent citizen and the mother of Colonel W. H. Professors of Oratory.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 25.—The first business session of the National Speech Arts Association, in convention here, was held today, with 200 teachers and professors in oratory and dramatic art present from all parts of the United States. Among the speakers today was President Allison Ellis, of the University of Ohio, who declared that conversation was a lost art made up largely in recent years of felicitations delivered in the form of platitudes interspersed with "slang phrases."

CLUB WOMEN MEET IN SAN FRANCISCO

Mrs. Moore Calls the Eleventh Biennial Convention to Order.

San Francisco, June 25.—The aims and ambitions of 500,000 club women of this country who are striving to aid the moral and social uplift of women and children especially, were represented here tonight when Mrs. Philip N. Moore, of St. Louis, called the eleventh biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs to order.

The Sutler street pavilion, where the meeting took place, presented a scene of beauty with its splendid floral and evergreen decorations and the thousands of delegates and visitors in resplendent gowns.

After the formal opening remarks by the national president, an invocation was delivered by Dr. Luella Clay Carson. This was followed by addresses of welcome—Mrs. E. G. Denniston for the clubs, Mrs. R. C. McCredie, of Washington state, for the northwest; Mrs. Agnes McKee Wallace, of Arizona, for the Pacific southwest; Mrs. C. H. McMahon, of Utah, for the inter-mountain states, and Mrs. Josiah E. Cowles, of California, for California; Mayor James Rolf for the city, and a representative of Governor Johnson for the state.

The council of the federation met today to consider proposed revision of the laws. The plan of reorganization, known as the Pennsylvania plan, providing for "upper and lower" houses in the convention, was considered, and the council determined against its adoption. It also decided against the change of the directorate from fifteen to fifty, and the same course was adopted regarding the proposed increase of vice presidents from two to five. These actions will be reported to the federation.

At noon the press women attending the convention were the guests of honor at a luncheon given by the San Francisco Women's Press Association. The national officers of the federation were also present by invitation, and altogether about 400 women were at the gathering.

A reception took place at a hotel at which delegates were invited to meet officers of the general federation.

The first conference of the session was held this afternoon. At the press conference speakers criticised the manner in which the women's pages in newspapers were conducted and the subjects which were presented as mental food for the readers. There were discussions also as to the proper treatment of news and special features from the woman's point of view. The audience was much amused at the criticism leveled at a leading woman's publication, whose features were described as being too light and frothy and were far from the standard demanded by women.

LEDFORD HURT BY AUTOMOBILE

Victim Seemed to Be Dazed by the Lights of the Machine.

B. T. Ledford, aged 50 years, residing on Bellwood road, just outside the city limits, was struck down by an automobile being driven by C. E. Sims, of the Sims Grain Company, last night about 10 o'clock on Bellwood avenue near Bennett street.

The injured man received what surgeons in Grady hospital believe to be a fractured skull. He was in a semi-conscious condition as a result of the accident and was rushed into the city in Mr. Sims' car. A case of violating the road ordinance was made against the latter after an investigation by the police.

Ledford had started across Bellwood avenue, according to eye-witnesses, and apparently was confused by the automobile's lights. Mr. Sims stated to the police that he veered his car to the northeast of Ledford, but that the latter turned in the same direction and was struck down before the machine could be stopped.

Mr. Sims said the car was not being driven over 12 miles an hour. Ledford was struck by the hood and rolled under the car. His right leg was wrenched badly and the back of his head was bruised.

CITY NEWS

Ball Not Drunk, Says Father.—Fred Ball, a well-known member of the Typographical Union, denies the report that his son, Fred Ball, Jr., was under the influence of drink at the time of the auto accident on Sunday morning, when Chauffeur Henesey was killed. The police reported that the occupants of the machine were drinking, but Mr. Ball says his son was not drunk at the time, and does not drink. Fred Ball is in the employ of the Belle Isle garage. Immediately after the accident cases of disorderly conduct were ordered booked against all the passengers in the car, but after Henesey's death, Chief Beavers decided to withdraw them all.

Massengale Leaves.—St. Elmo Massengale, president of the Massengale Advertising Agency, left Atlanta this morning for Pittsburg, where he will attend a meeting to be held for the purpose of effecting a national organization of general advertising agents. It is expected that at this meeting plans will be made for a convention of all the advertising agents in the United States.

Sunday School Social.—The First Methodist church teachers will give a social to the parents and pupils of the Sunday school on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. A very interesting program has been provided, after which refreshments will be served. Parents and pupils are cordially invited.

Letting Them Think It Over.

New Brunswick, N. J., June 25.—Officials of the New Brunswick Cigar Company closed down their plant for a month today to afford their 2,500 employees an opportunity, they said, to "think over" demands for an increase of one-third in wages. Most of the employees are women. One thousand quit work yesterday when a demand for an increase from 75 cents to $1 on handling 1,000 cigars was refused.

American Is Released.

Mexico City, June 25.—H. A. Scott, an American newspaper man, who was arrested by Rayul Madero some days ago accused of being a spy, and sent to this city on parole, has been released by order of the minister of war and left tonight for the United States. Scott had been taking photographs on the rebel side and when he came into the federal camp he was arrested and held for three days and afterwards sent to report to the minister of war.

PARKER'S "KEYNOTE" WAS MAINLY A BLAST AGAINST T. ROOSEVELT

PARKER KEYNOTE WAS DROWNED BY CONFUSION

Disorder So Great When Judge Began Reading Address Recess Was Taken.

BIG PORTION OF KEYNOTE DEVOTED TO ROOSEVELT

In Speech, as Prepared, Judge Parker Bitterly Attacked the Colonel—Parker Also Painted Shortcomings of Republican Party and Predicted a Democratic Victory.

Convention Hall, Baltimore, Md., June 25.—After the announcement of the defeat of Mr. Bryan by Judge Parker for temporary chairman, Judge Parker started to read his speech, but was interrupted at the very beginning by confusion. Thousands of persons in the galleries, content with having witnessed the big fight, started to leave the hall.

Many of the delegates began to move about on the floor.

The confusion was such that Representative Fitzgerald put a motion to recess until 8 p. m., basing it on the ground that the delegates "were tired out." The motion was put and carried. It was 3:45 p. m. when the recess was ordered.

Speech Parker Didn't Deliver.

Judge Parker's prepared speech in part was as follows:

"We meet while the hills yet echo to wild cries of thief and traitor and furious wails of fraud, bribery, treachery and corruption, and our ears are weary with the din of the articulate shrieking and passionate vilification of the most shameful brawl of our political history.

"Our candidates, however, are, without exception, men of such lofty mien that we meet immune from the distemper which seized the Chicago convention and privileged to discharge a solemn duty calmly, deliberately.

"The cause of government by the people the world over has been materially checked by the disgraceful brawl which terminated in the bedlam of Chicago. Every good citizen has been put to shame by the brutality and the abuse which characterized this wrangle between a president and ex-president. Gratitude, friendship, party loyalty, patriotism and common decency were forgotten in the tussle.

"The assault upon the unwritten prohibition against third term made in the wild scramble for the republican nomination warns us of the vital necessity of incorporating our constitution in safeguard against repeated terms.

"In the very beginning of our legislation-making it was urged by delegates participating that safety required a limitation of the period of years one man might hold the office of president. History warned them of the coming of a man whose insatiable lust of power would be as consuming as Caesar's towering high above love of country. The danger seemed, even to the pessimists, to have passed with the establishment of a precedent by Washington, Jefferson and their successors.

"Indeed, where lives the man who has not either heard or said that an unwritten law forbids more than two terms and if anyone could be so foolhardy as to seek further he would be crushed by the wrath of a patriotic and intelligent public.

Roosevelt and Third Term.

"The man who split his party at Chicago once recognized the third term tradition and acknowledged its application to his situation. On the eve of his triumph in 1904 he said:

"'The wise custom which limits the president to two terms regards the substance and not the form, and under no circumstances will I be a candidate for or accept another nomination.'

"Wrong in this year of grace, he was right on that. Peradventure he was honest with his soul and he may have confessed to it that even a president may be tempted to resort to sordid devices and shameless importunities to gain his ambition. If so, he was in mental condition to realize to the full the dangers to the republic involved in setting aside a custom constituting the only bulwark against the assaults of men whose ambition chokes their patriotism and whose selfish desire for personal victory and power throttles those moral scruples with which they once be endowed.

"Would the man who threw his hat in the ring and sought to slug his opponent over the ropes in his fight for a third term rest satisfied with its achievements? Clearly his lust of power would have brooked no such limitation. A third term would but have whetted his desire for more, and as the terms slipped away each renewal would discover greater injury to our constitution and government establishment under it. This is the man who menaced us with an increase of federal power by usurpation of states' rights and without authority of constitutional amendment; the man took the Isthmus of Panama and let congress debate about it afterwards; the man who, not having enough money to send the fleet on the famous cruise to the Pacific, sent it without sanction of congress, leaving it to appropriate the money for the return when congress deemed that necessary. This is the man who advocated federal incorporation for the increase of power at Washington and the lightening of legal burdens on the corporations; the man who authorized the absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company by the steel trust; the man who, by many such drastic acts and by unnumbered words, has sought to batter down our statutory and constitutional safe-guards.

Mexico as a Horrible Example.

"Do we envy Mexico her thirty years of wedded life, or the war divorce from Diaz precipitated, the end of which no man can prophesy. The way to prevent a like series of terror is to prevent the present attempt to recapture the office. One of our opportunities in this campaign is to lead the fight against a third term. That opportunity should appeal to every drop of blood flowing in our veins.

"Unquestionably we have been wrong in assuming that a tradition against a third term constitutes a sufficient safeguard against unscrupulous ambition for unlimited power.

"We need a definite constitutional limitation which shall prevent ambitious souls from forcing personal continuation in office for long periods or for life and the personal selection of a successor in office. And the constitutional provision should go one step further than our recently assailed tradition. The provision should limit to a single term. Then will the occupants of the office have before them the ambition so to fulfill the great trust reposed in them that upon retirement they shall hear from a grateful people the commendation, 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant.'

"In this great country, which boasts of a wealth of $10,000,000,000 as against $80,000,000,000 for Great Britain, $65,000,000,000 for France and $60,000,000,000 for Germany, all are conscious that too large a part of our wealth has been secured by a small percentage of our population and that the cost of living rises faster than the average income.

The Wrongs Caused by the Tariff.

"The principal cause of all this is to be found in the tariff statutes and competition restrained, created for the purpose of wringing from the public every dollar which the tariff statutes make possible.

"The averages of duties under the tariff of 1789 was 8½ per cent. Now the average is 50 per cent.

"In 1842 the average was 32 per cent. In 1846 it was reduced to 25 per cent which worked so well that a reduction to an average of 20 per cent followed in 1857.

"Probably it would never have been again increased but for the war, for the census of 1860 disclosed a higher percentage of increase of the national wealth during the preceding ten years than for any other decade before or since, and the percentage of increase in capital invested in manufacturing was also greater than during any similar period in our history.

"Protected interests benefited by two increases during the war, the first to an average of 37½ per cent, the second to 47 per cent. That high average, then excused only by the exigencies of the war, is exceeded now, as the average is nearly 50 per cent.

"The republican party has thus geared the machinery of government to enrich the few at the expense of the many. That increase of 30 per cent in the average has taken thousands of millions from the general public and devoted it to creating swollen fortunes.

"An awakening of the people led the republican national convention of 1908 by its platform to promise a revision. True, it did not promise a revision of the tariff downward, but its assurance of a revision of the tariff by a special session of congress to be called immediately after the inauguration of the next president was intended to hold the tariff reduction republicans in line while the trick in the phraseology was to be made clear to the tariff beneficiaries.

"In vain did the people demand of congress the fulfillment of the republican pledge, for the masters of that party—the protected interests—insisted upon the pound of flesh. And it was yielded. Congress passed and the president signed the Payne-Aldrich bill.

"One outcome of this breach of faith was a democratic house, which has acted so wisely and courageously as to arouse the enthusiasm of the people and inspire the democratic party with justifiable hope of early opportunity to render a public service sorely needed. Under sagacious and intrepid democratic leadership, special bills have been passed, having for their purpose a revision of the tariff downward, ultimately to a revenue basis. These bills are known as 'free list, wool, cotton, metals, chemicals, sugar and excise.' The president's use of the veto has postponed, however, the hour when the people shall enter into the enjoyment of the relief proposed, until after the inauguration of the next president.

The Defeat of Reciprocity.

"The temporary failure, owing to the action of the electorate of Canada, of the effort to effectuate reciprocity with that country is regrettable. The agreement proposed was in the interest of both people. The movement was in the right direction, because it was toward a competitive policy. Its immediate and laudable purpose was to lessen the cost of living in each country.

"Whether later the mutual advantage of our people shall be appreciated by our neighbors across the border, the consciousness that we took the right course should content us. In all probability, however, the sober second thought of the people of Canada will induce reconsideration of the action of last year.

"The temporary reduction of the duty on cement by the Canadian opponents of reciprocity is significant of the results that may be expected.

"All honor to the democratic house which stood for the nation as a whole and left the door open to Canada.

"For the ills that flow from that tariff increase from an average of 20 per cent to 50, the republican party is responsible. For the continuance of that rate against the efforts of a democratic congress, a republican president is to blame. It is evident, therefore, that relief can come only through the election of a democratic president and congress.

"During all these years of enforced levies upon the many for the benefit of the few, it has been abundantly demonstrated that the tariff is, as accurately described by a trust magnate, 'the fruitful mother of trusts.'

"Mr. Taft said in a speech in 1908 that during the preceding ten years nine-tenths of the combinations to restrain trade had come into existence during nearly all that time the republican party was in control of every northern, eastern and western state, as well as of the federal government. Little was done by the party in power to retard the weedy growth and that little feebly. That an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure was never so forcefully illustrated. The prevention of combinations would have protected all the people and harmed none. The process of destruction punishes the innocent investors as well as the guilty organizers.

"The reason for the inactivity of the republican officials is plain. The tariff beneficiaries were and for many years have been contributors to campaign funds of the party which in turn protected the special privileges enjoyed by the donors. But competition prevented in some instances the collection from the people of the full sum stipulated in the tariff. To secure it all tempted the cupidity and stimulated the ingenuity of the beneficiaries. But one way could be found—combination to control the price up to the point where the statute let in foreign competition. The same party which shut out foreign competition was found willing to permit the formation of combinations which effectually banished home competition. Need it be said that the protected interests for these larger privileges made larger contributions?

Roosevelt and the Trusts.

"Combinations, of course, multiplied rapidly under such stimulation, especially as the evidence accumulated. The executive department of the government could be relied upon for protection even in case of attack by enemies.

"We are indebted to the president for the evidence that his predecessor, having first enjoyed an interview with George W. Perkins, restrained his attorney general from bringing suit against the harvester combination.

"For the steel corporation he went further, for he wrote his attorney general in advance of its absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company that he had decided 'to interpose no objection.' The executive duty which these acts suggest is diametrically opposed to that of that sterling democrat, President Jackson, who wrote 'the laws of the United States must be executed. I have no discretionary power on the subject. My duty is emphatically pronounced in the constitution.'

"The effect of this and similar acts in the circumstances induced the result which Senator La Follette referred to in a recent speech in these words:

"'When Roosevelt became president the total amount of the stock and bond issues of all combinations and trusts, including the railways then in combination, was only $3,784,000,000. When he turned the country over to Taft, whom he selected as his successor, the total capitalization of the trusts and combinations amounted to the enormous sum of $31,672,000,000, more than 70 per cent of which was water.

"Whatever excuse may be offered, the ugly truth is that the republican national machine has received the moneys of the corporate and individual beneficiaries of the tariff and combinations and in return has compelled congress to keep high the tariff rates and their attorney generals to close their eyes to violations of law. Need we seek further evidence than the admission of President Taft? He said at Cincinnati September 21, 1910:

"'The country is roused against the corporate or corrupt control of legislative agencies.'

"If, however, there remain a doubting Thomas, let him read the confession of the only living ex-president. He said at Ossawatomie:

"'It is necessary that laws should be passed to prohibit the use of corporate funds directly or indirectly for political purposes; it is still more necessary that such laws should be thoroughly enforced. Corporate expenditures for political purposes, and especially such expenditures by public service corporations, have supplied one of the principal sources of corruption in our political affairs.'

"In the light of all the testimony and of these admissions, I submit that the jury of the people should find as a general verdict 'that the failure of the executive and legislative branches of the government, both federal and state, to protect the people from the special privilege hunters and graft-seekers, is deeply rooted in a corrupt alliance between the latter and the leaders of the republican party.'

Judgment of Eviction Demanded.

"Upon that verdict but one judgment can be entered—that of eviction. When you find cancer you know that pills and plasters will serve only to divert the mind of the patient from his fate. Pills and plasters have been liberally and sensationally prescribed for some years now by those republican leaders who would hide from public gaze the misconduct of their party, yet the cancer is still growing. We must cut it out ere it is too late.

"Not until the special session of congress in 1909, however, did the people generally appreciate that the protected interests held the republican congress with such an iron grip and that congress would repudiate pledges of its party to revise the tariff as people understood the promise, downward. Now the truth is appreciated. Of that fact the election of an overwhelming democratic majority to the house is evidence. It is still true, however, that many have not discovered that the real power that chained the party to the interests was money contributed to help on campaigns and that, worse still, a large part of the money obtained was not thrust upon the party by the interests, but was wrung from them through organized importunity in which public officials took part.

"On one occasion even a president of the United States has been known to solicit the financial assistance of a great railroad leader over whose railroad the executive department might hold either a stern or a mild and gentle sway. The presidential attitude was gentle and polite, but firm and insistent. Several letters failing to produce the sheep for the shearing, another was addressed to 'My Dear Mr. Harriman.'

"'Now, my dear sir: You and I are practical men and you are on the ground and know the conditions better than I do. If you think there is any danger of your visit to me causing trouble, or if you think there is nothing special I need to be informed about, or no matter on which I could give aid, why, of course, give up the visit for the time being and then a few weeks hence, before I write my message, I shall get you to come down to discuss certain government matters not connected with the campaign. With great regards.'

"The suggestion of government matters—implying in the circumstances railroad matters—proved to be the proper bait. The discussion relating to government matters has not yet been reported. Probably it never took place for Mr. Harriman read between the lines of that letter, hurried to Washington, hurried back, and promptly raised the quarter of a million demanded with $10,000 over for good measure.

Republican Party and the Interests.

"This incident plainly discloses the ligament that binds the republican party to the interests preying on the people and defying the law. The latter furnished the money with which the former debauched the electorate in every debatable state. Adams county Ohio, is but an illustration of the loathsome condition which resulted.

"Like the hypocrites of old who loved to pray standing in the synagogues and in the street corners, who prated of their virtues and gave thanks that they were not as other men, so have these corrupt leaders covered their vile misdeeds with hypocritical profession of righteousness. 'Woe unto you, hypocrites, for yea are like whited sepulchers which are beautiful outward, both are within full of corruption and all uncleanness that verily smells to heaven.'

"Your day of doom is at hand.

"In jeopardizing our form of government and those dearly bought liberties which the fathers secured the republic spostles as promoters of misrule, federal usupation and political corruption threaten the very foundation of the greatest cathedral builded by modern civilization. The cornerstone of the temple is plymouth rock. The declaration of independence and our matchless constitution are imbedded in the foundation thereof. The superstructure has been reared block by block with years of toil by patriotic and able statesmanship. This fair and noble achievement, this matchless fabric, ill-guarded, neglected, profaned and mutilated while in the custody of republican officials, left open thus to attack of vandals, socialistic and alien anarchists, is menaced with destruction. If the threatened ruin comes the happiness of the new world will forever fail and the great march of modern civilization and true progress will be forever stayed.

"It is not the wild, swirling, cruel methods of revolution and violence that are needed to correct the abuse incident to our government as to all things human. Neither material nor moral progress lies that way. We have made our government and our complicated institutions by appeals to reason, seeking to educate all our people that, day after day, they may see more clearly, act more justly, become more and more attached to the fundamental ideas that underlie our society. If we are to preserve undiminished the heritage bequeathed us and add to it these accretions without which society would perish, we shall need all the powers that the school, the church, the court, the deliberative assembly and the quiet thought of our people can bring to bear.

"We are all about to do battle against the unfaithful guardians of our constitution and liberties and the hordes of ignorance which are pushing forward only to the ruin of our social and governmental fabric and their own damnation.

Country Has Endured Too Long.

"Too long has the country endured the offenses of the leaders of a party which once knew greatness. Too long have we been blind to the bacchanal of corruption. Too long have we listlessly watched the assembling of the forces that threaten our country and our firesides. The time has come when the salvation of the country demands the destruction of the leaders of a debauched party and the restoration to place and power of men of high ideals who will wage unceasing war against corruption in politics, who will enforce the law against both rich and poor and who will treat guilt as personal and punish it accordingly

"For their crimes against American citizenship the present leaders of the republican party should be destroyed.

"For making and keeping the bargain to take care of the tariff in consideration of campaign they should be destroyed.

"For encouraging the creation of combinations to restrict trade and refusing to enforce the law, for a like consideration, they should be destroyed.

"For the lavish waste of the public funds; for the fraudulent disposition of the people's domain and for their contribution toward the division of the people into classes, they should be destroyed.

"For the efforts to seize for the executive department of the federal government powers rightfully belonging to the states, they should be destroyed.

"All destruction will be theirs this very year if we but do our duty.

"What is our duty? To think alike as to men and measures? Impossible! Even for our great party! There is not a reactionary among us.

"All democrats are progressive, but it is inevitably human that we shall not all agree that in a single highway is found the only road to progress or each make the same man of all our worthy candidates his first choice.

"It is possible, however, and it is our duty to put aside all selfishness, to consent cheerfully that the majority shall speak for each of us and to march out of this convention shoulder to shoulder, heralding the praises of our chosen leader—and that will be his due—whichever of the honorable and able men now claiming our attention be chosen"

DEAN HEADING BIG COMMITTEE

Georgian Chairman of Committee on Permanent Organization.

By E. C. Bruffey.

Baltimore, Md., June 25.—(Special.)—The committee on permanent organization tonight selected H. H. Dean, of Gainesville, a delegate-at-large, chairman of the committee on permanent organization. The selection was unanimous, and is reckoned among the high and much-prized positions in a national convention organization. Mr. Dean's name was placed before the meeting by a Kentucky delegate, and his election was without opposition, and was by unanimous vote of the members of the national executive committee on permanent organization. With Mr. Dean presiding, the committee on permanent organization got busy.

Efforts to make Parker permanent chairman were fought vigorously, especially by supporters of Bryan. Friends of the three-times-defeated democratic nominee were not in the least bashful or reticent. Open war on the convention floor tomorrow was emphatically declared by Bryan's friends in the event an effort was made to perpetuate the temporary organization by putting Parker in the chair as permanent gavel wielder. At times the discussion was not only animated, but hot.

Finally ex-Governor Campbell, of Texas, was routed from his hotel apartments and induced to come before the permanent organization committee. Without showing a Bryan or an anti-Bryan feeling, Governor Campbell urged conservatism on the part of the committee.

Mr. Dean held the permanent organization committee well in hand throughout the debate, though at times the session was stormy.

Through his rulings the committee finally adjourned until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, when the permanent organization will be gone into fully and finally.

"It was a warm meeting," said Mr. Dean tonight, "and if Judge Parker's name is presented in the morning for permanent chairman the Bryan people will open a strenuous and bitter fight. They won't have Parker preside over this convention if they can help it. It must be a compromise man or a fight to the finish."

NEYLE COLQUITT AFTER J. R. SMITH

Savannah Man Replies to Statements in Regard to Georgia Delegation.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Baltimore, June 25.—(Special.)—Colonel Neyle Colquitt, one of the managers for Underwood in Georgia, who is in charge of the national bureau of publicity for Mr. Underwood's campaign, made the following statement today:

"I observe from the public prints that Mr. J. R. Smith, of Atlanta, who is in Baltimore, is quoted as saying that the Georgia delegation is only nominally for Underwood and that after one or two ballots it will vote for another candidate. This is untrue. The Georgia delegation is instructed to vote for Underwood until a nomination is made and every member of the delegation is an enthusiastic, determined Underwood man. We propose to nominate him.

"Mr. Smith is hardly authorized to speak for Georgia's Underwood delegation, since he was actively identified with the fight against Mr. Underwood in Georgia and is a member of the faction that was overwhelmingly defeated. Mr. Underwood carried 105 out of the 146 counties in Georgia and he made the race against all of the leading candidates.

"Georgia and Underwood are going to be heard from in no uncertain terms in this convention."

ONE OF THESE SENATORS FOR HARMON, ANOTHER FOR CLARK, THIRD FOR WILSON

At the top, Senator Hitchcock and Senator Gore; at the bottom, Senator Pomerene.

One of the most earnest workers in Judson Harmon's cause at the Baltimore convention is Atlee Pomerene, U. S. senator from Ohio. Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, would like to vote for Harmon, too, but the people of his state voted for Champ Clark in the primaries, and so the senator must work for Clark in the convention. Victor M. Gore, the blind senator from Oklahoma, is a Woodrow Wilson man. Gore is one of the most militant of the prgressives in the Democratic party.

BRYAN AT LAST DETHRONED AS DEMOCRATIC DICTATOR

Members of the Georgia Delegation Think Result Good for Party—New Leaders Wanted.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Baltimore, June 25.—(Special.)—William Jennings Bryan was today dethroned as the dictator of the democratic party. After having dominated the party of the people for sixteen years, he was stripped of the mantle of leadership and assigned to a place in the ranks.

The verdict of the national committee was vindicated by the convention; Judge Parker was elected as temporary chairman and Mr. Bryan defeated. But it was not a Parker victory. It was a Bryan defeat. When the verdict was announced the convention hall shook with applause. Then Mr. Parker, whose name had been used to rebuke the Nebraskan, was treated with such indifference that the convention was adjourned to save him humiliation. A triumphant majority had defeated Bryan and was satisfied.

As predicted in these dispatches last night, Mr. Bryan permitted his own name to be placed before the convention. He nominated Kern, who in turn suggested five compromise candidates and then insisted that Mr. Bryan himself lead the fight.

Bryan Made a Masterful Speech.

The man who is admittedly the greatest stump speaker of the times, and who has held sway for a longer time than any man since Henry Clay, made a wonderful speech in his own behalf. He said he owed one obligation to the six and one-half million democratic voters who had followed his standard in three campaigns; that the issue was one of Wall street against the people, and he felt he must fight.

There was something of the old "crown of thorns, cross of gold" ring to his sentences as he spoke of the presence in Baltimore of Thomas F. Ryan and August Belmont.

Bryan's appearance was the signal for a tremendous demonstration that lasted several minutes. During most of the time he gazed fixedly at the painting of Andrew Jackson, and an inscription from "Old Hickory" that covered one wall of the convention hall.

This Mr. Bryan used as a text to explain his presence. It was: "He never sold the truth to serve the hour."

The man who has been the popular idol of millions of democrats, and who, like Clay and Webster, and Calhoun and Hayne, has seen his chance of the presidency slip away, faced defeat and knew it. Yet, he spoke with resolution, and firmness, and courage. When the crowd attempted to howl him down, he waited for silence with the air of a conquerer. But the great American public cannot long stand the strain of being a hero worshipper.

Mr. Bryan, though he could point to the ascendancy of the principles for which he had fought for sixteen years and their general adoption by both the democratic and republican parties, was swept aside. The verdict of the convention was that having thrice received the greatest honor the party could confer upon him, he should be content.

Crisp Prevented Tumult.

To Judge Charles R. Crisp, of Georgia, parliamentarian of the convention, is due a large share of credit for having deferred the inevitable attempt to howl down Mr. Bryan. When the tumult began, Chairman Mack attempted to stay it by vigorous use of his gavel. The noise increased to the tune of more vigorous work with the gavel by the chairman.

The crowd was beginning to realize that Chairman Mack was fighting to silence the opposition. He had become excited and threatened to clear the galleries, when Judge Crisp approached him and suggested quieter methods. Mr. Mack then gave one final thump and said: "The convention will be in order," and sat down. His tone indicated that he expected the convention to obey, and it did for a while, but finally broke out again.

Mr. Bryan finally finished, despite interruption. It was probably the first time the commoner was ever howled down in the house of his friends.

When Mr. Bryan demanded "what better man could we have in this emergency than John W. Kern," Randolph Anderson, of Chatham county, shouted "Parker." This was greeted with a howl and taken up all over the hall.

The Georgia delegation cast its 28 votes for Parker and in support of the position previously taken by National Committeeman Clark Howell.

When it was over the delegation was unanimous in its expression of satisfaction.

What Georgians Say.

Mr. Anderson said: "The democratic party is at last emancipated from Bryan's domination. We had a clean-cut, straight out fight and Bryan was told he no longer controlled Georgia stood firm frr new leaders as she did at Denver four years ago."

Hollins N. Randolph, of Atlanta, said: "It was a great fight, and we won. Mr. Bryan has been given greater honors than almost any man in the history of the party. The time has come for him to step aside, as was proven by today's vote."

Rufe Hutchens, of Cedartown, said: "I have nothing against Mr. Bryan personally, and I regret that in his three attempts he could not attain the presidency. But we must face the facts. In 1896 Mr. Bryan received 176 electoral votes, and McKinley 271; in 1900 Mr. Bryan received 155 electoral votes, and Mr. McKinley 292. In 1908 Mr. Bryan received 162, and Mr. Taft 221. The logic of the situation is adverse to Bryan."

Colonel Thomas B. Felder said: "It was a good day's work. The issue was sharply drawn. It was Bryanism. The Nebraska man challenged again for the leadership of the party and was squelched. Still I have never been an ardent admirer of Mr. Bryan, for he came into the fifth district in 1896 when I was a candidate for congress and made speeches against me. It is a case of chickens coming home to roost."

Crawford Wheatley said: "It was the best thing that has happened in sixteen years. The party has done enough for Mr. Bryan. He is a strong man, a splendid orator and a man of wonderful personality. But he has had his day."

Colonel L. H. Chappell, of Columbus, said: "Even recognizing all that Mr. Bryan has done for good government and to advance the interests of the party, it is time to give new leaders a chance and get away from one-man domination."

ED. BRUFFEY IS KEEPING TAB ON GEORGIANS AT BALTIMORE

By E. C. Bruffey.

Baltimore, June 25.—(Special.)—With Johnnie Candler, mayor pro tem. of Atlanta; Aldine Chambers, Jimmy Maddox, Johnnie McClelland, members of Atlanta's general council, in Baltimore looking at the national democrats at work, it would seem impossible for the home city government to move along successfully. So certain are Candler, Chambers, Maddox and company that nothing can be done at home because of their absence that each has notified the telegraph main office to rush any telegrams that may come, as each is expecting a hurry call from the city at large for his instant an demphatic return to the city hall, where they belong.

But each hopes the expected message, which, it is safe to say, will never come, may be marked "personal" and "private," as all are guarding from each other with extreme care any state secrets that might possibly come by wire.

An Atlanta air was given the crowded corridor of the Belvedere, Georgia and Alabama headquarters, this afternoon, when Atlanta's four local legislators—they are now calling themselves Atlanta's Big Four—were joined by Shelby Smith and Tommy Winn, two of Fulton county's commissioners of roads and revenues.

As the city and county's lawmakers and money-spenders foregathered near the cigar counter Senator Hoke Smith, accompanied by his publicity man, Ralph S. Smith, stalked majestically by. Of course the senator was given a noisy acclaim, Shelby Smith figuring most prominently in the acclaim and its refrain.

Editor Gray and Tom Felder made the Atlanta contingent greater numerically, though the creator of heavy editorials and the writer of logical and forceful briefs did not walk side by side, neither did they "convene" so far as the casual observer could see. Mr. Felder's presence is one of the show features of the convention. He is in the limelight wherever he goes.

"Sge that little fellow over there. The one with the cleanly shaven face? That one who just turned his back on Senator Smith?"

"Yes; the one lighting his cigar stump? That's him."

"Why, that's Tom Felder, from Atlanta. That's the Georgian who told South Carolina's governor to go take a bath. He's nervy and spunky, all right, even if he ain't bigger than a minute," said a Quaker to a Hoosier this afternoon.

Hollins Randolph, of Atlanta, and Randolph Anderson, of Savannah, are attracting a big lot of attention, and are being pointed out as show features because they are lineal descendants of Thomas Jefferson.

Old Georga is here in large gobs. Residents of every section of the state are here, and they are being designated as "from Georgia, the state that's determined to make Underwood, of Alabama, president."

Colonel Pendleton, of The Macon Telegraph, is attracting attention, and is constantly the center of a group. He is spoken of as a sincere and able democratic leader in his state.

Pat Calhoun, his hair now white and his form rotund, is being pointed out and stories of his duel with Williamson, the last duel fought under the Wilson code, are being told. Mr. Calhoun, however, declines to talk about that event in his somewhat strenuous career.

ROOSEVELT WAITS ON DEMOCRATS

News From Baltimore So Far Pleases the Colonel.

Roosevelt Says What Happened at Chicago Is Being Repeated at Baltimore—Expects Many Democrats to Join New Party.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 25.—With the organization of the new progressive party definitely under way, Colonel Roosevelt returned to his home today from Chicago. He was smiling and said he was in fighting trim. He made it clear the work would be pushed ahead with full steam on. His friends in Oyster Bay who have followed the political fortunes of Colonel Roosevelt for a good many years did not know whether to receive him as a returning champion or a vanquished warrior, but he assured those who saw him that he was not in the least dismayed by the happenings at Chicago.

"I understand that some of the newspapers today," the colonel remarked, "said that I returned from Chicago greatly aged, with lines of care on my face. By George, isn't that funny?" He threw back his head and laughed.

"You see how I look," he continued. "I never felt more fit in my life. And those of you who were out in Chicago knew that if there was a man who was not concerned or nervous, it was I.

"I told them out there that if they didn't purge the convention of fraudulent delegates I would take the step I did. There was never any doubt in my mind what I would do."

Likes the News From Baltimore.

Colonel Roosevelt was greatly pleased at the news from Baltimore. He showed how closely he was keeping in touch with the situation there by reciting the vote by which Bryan had been defeated a short time before in his contest with Parker over the temporary chairmanship.

"Doesn't that remind you of what happened in Chicago?" he asked.

"They are making the same fight at Baltimore. That is good. One thing is plain—Murphy will never make peace with Bryan."

Colonel Roosevelt said that apparently the issue among the democrats was fundamentally the same as that in the republican convention. Should serious differences develop, it is his belief that the new party wil profit by it, in the way of receiving support from disaffected democrats. With this in mind, Colonel Roosevelt and his associates will take no definite steps until after the democratic convention. He said the first meeting of the temporary committee on organization, announced yesterday by Governor Hiram Johnson, of California, would be deferred until after the democrats have named their ticket, and it probably would be held the latter part of next week. The meeting is to take place in New York. Its chief work will oe to fix the date for the national convention and issue the call.

"There is one thing which I would like to make clear," said Colonel Roosevelt. "It is that the temporary committee which was announced yesterday is in no sense a national committee in the ordinary acceptance of the term. It was selected simply for the purpose of taking the first step and calling the convention."

To Organize the Machinery.

Each state, he said, would select its own national committeeman, and there was no guarantee that any man on the list would be the representative of his state after the convention.

The only action which will be taken pending the news from Baltimore, Colonel Roosevelt said, would be the organization of party machinery in the various states.

"Timothy L. Woodruff and William Halpin, of New York, called on me today," he continued. "You can't repress people like that."

He said Mr. Woodruff and Mr. Halpin were already at work forming the New York organization. Colonel Roosevelt said the founders of the new party hoped to take over a good measure of strength from the democratic party. It was understood that as soon as he returned today the colonel got into communication with several democrats who he thought might wish to join the movement.

On reaching New York this morning, Colonel Roosevelt stopped for a few hours in his office. He dipped into a mass of letters and telegrams awaiting him and talked with a few visitors. Besides Mr. Woodruff and Mr. Halpin he saw Robert Bacon, former ambassador to France.

MACHINE DIDN'T SKID, COMMENTS MR. BRYAN

Baltimore, June 25.—While talking with friends tonight over the temporary chairmanship fight Mr. Bryan remarked:

"Well, the machine did not skid."

"But that is not saying that it will not," was suggested.

"I have not the gift of prophecy," said Mr. Bryan, "but I have a knowledge of history."

New Party in Illinois.

Chicago, June 25.—"Progressive party" headquarters for Illinois were opened today in the Congress hotel. Leaders in the new party today said they would not take any active steps toward organization in this state until after the Baltimore convention. While the nomination made there will not change Colonel Roosevelt's attitude toward making the race for president, progressives think it best to know whom they are going to have to fight before they make any definite plans.

GREAT DISORDER IN THE CONVENTION DURING PARKER-BRYAN FIGHT

BRYAN LED THE FIGHT BUT HIS ELOQUENCE FELL ON DEAF EARS

Nebraskan First Nominated Senator Kern, but the Latter Declined the Honor and Named Bryan.

KERN CALLED ON PARKER TO QUIT THE CONTEST FOR SAKE OF HARMONY

But the Judge Was Silent and the Battle Went On—Bryan Frequently Interrupted by Cries of "Parker" During His Speech—Great Disorder Marked the Opening Session of the Convention.

Baltimore, June 25.—William Jennings Bryan lost his fight for progressive control of the democratic national convention today when he was defeated for temporary chairman of the convention by Alton B. Parker.

Mr. Bryan first nominated Senator Kern to oppose Parker. The latter declined the honor and named Mr. Bryan to make the fight. The Nebraskan made an eloquent plea "for the cause he had represented for sixteen years," but it was unavailing.

The debate preceding the roll call threw the convention into wild disorder.

The vote on a roll call was:

Parker 579, Bryan 506, O'Gorman 4.

Desperate Effort for Harmony.

A last desperate attempt to avert a bitter factional fight was made by the Bryan forces when the democratic convention took up the problem of selecting a temporary chairman. So sharp was the cleavage of the factions that Mr. Bryan himself became a candidate for the temporary chairmanship.

After Bryan had made a speech nominating Senator Kern, of Indiana, and attacking Alton B. Parker, Kern took the stand. He made a plea for harmony; asked Parker to join him in withdrawing from the contest for temporary chairman, and substituting anyone of a list of several men. After waiting in vain for a reply from Parker, Kern himself withdrew and nominated Bryan.

Again Bryan took the platform. He accepted the nomination and the line-up for the final struggle was complete.

Mack Calls Convention to Order.

Chairman Mack dropped his gavel at 12:16 o'clock with the announcement:

"The convention will be in order. The sergeant-at-arms will clear the aisles."

Confusion followed as the officials endeavored to get the delegates and spectators into their seats. A moment after Chairman Mack began pounding for order Judge Parker, accompanied by Judge Morgan J. O'Brien, of New York, apeared, making his way up the wrong aisle in search of the New York delegation.

Delegate Platt, of New Jersey, forced his way through the crowd, carrying a big bunch of bananas. He distributed the fruit among the Jersey delegates.

"Just exercising a little foresight," he commented. "We don't intend to starve if this session is prolonged."

At 12:30 o'clock another effort was made to secure order. There was a semblance of quiet and Chairman Mack directed the reading of the call for the convention.

It was read by Thomas F. Smith, secretary of Tammany Hall, New York.

The aisles were still pretty well choked up, but the delegates were good-natured about it and endeavored to help straighten out the tangle.

Cardinal Gibbons Prays.

After the call Chairman Mack introduced Cardinal Gibbons in his brilliant scarlet robes for the invocation. The great audience rose and stood silently during the prayer. There was a remarkable demonstration as the cardinal concluded.

As the demonstration subsided Senator Kern, Bryan's candidate for temporary chairman, entered the hall. In a moment one of the galleries behind the platform started a cheer for Bryan. "Bryan! Bryan! Bryan!" they shouted and disorder broke loose again.

Mack pounded his gavel in vain for several minutes, but finally secured enough quiet to proceed.

Mr. Mack directed the announcement of temporary organization. Assistant Secretary Smith began to read:

"Temporary chairman, Alton B. Parker, of New York."

He was interrupted by a cheer. The band joined in with, "Oh, You Beautiful Doll," the music drowning out the demonstration.

The secretary then proceeded with the announcement of other officers.

As the list was concluded Mr. Bryan stepped forward. The crowd caught sight of him for the first time and there was a storm of cheering.

Mr. Bryan shook his head, held up his hand and made other attempts to quell the outburst. This failing, the band began to play. Mr. Bryan sat down, fanning himself nervously. The band stopped and Mr. Bryan pleaded for quiet. The cheering continued, however, for several minutes, the galleries being the last to subside.

Bryan Speaks Against Parker.

Then Mr. Bryan said:

"Gentlemen of the convention. I rise to place in nomination for temporary chairman of this convention the name of Hon. John W. Kern, of Indiana."

A cheer greeted the announcement.

Mr. Bryan again appealed for quiet.

"And in thus dissenting from the judgment of our national committee," he continued, "I recognize that the burden of proof is on me to overthrow the assumption of the committee that it is representing in this instance the wishes of the party and the country.

"I call your attention to the fact our rules provide that the committee's recommendation is not final. The very fact that the convention has the right to accept or reject that recommendation is a higher consideration than that of the wisdom of the convention.

"If that is not proof that I have the confidence of the democrats of the nation I shall not attempt to produce proof."

A cheer interrupted.

"If any of you ask for my credentials; if you inquire why I, a mere delegate from one of the smaller states should present a name and ask you to accept it, I beg to tell you that in three campaigns I have been the champion of the democratic party's principles and have received the votes of 6,000,000 democrats.

"I remind you that confidence reposed in a human being carries with it certain responsibilities."

Mr. Bryan said he would not deserve this confidence if he were not willing to meet defeat and humiliation in its defense.

Bryan Knows His Enemies.

"I recognize that a man cannot carry on a political warfare in defense of the people for twenty years without making enemies and I recognize that these enemies have been active every moment and are active now.

"The fact that I have lived is proof that I have not deserted the people. If I had forgotten them they would not have remembered me.

"I take for my text this morning the text the committee has been kind enough to put on the walls for me."

He then quoted the big banner on the wall, which, under a picture of Andrew Jackson, read:

"He never sold the truth to serve the hour."

"That is the language of the hero of Monticello. I would not be worthy of the support I have received if I were willing to sell the truth for the hour at this time."

The delegates smiled at the reference to "Monticello," for the quotation was not from Jefferson, but from Jackson.

"Let me free myself from any criticism that anyone may have made or may attempt to make hereafter.

"Is there any other delegate in this convention of over 1,000 who tried earlier than I to secure harmony in this convention?

"At the end of sixteen years of battle I find the things I have fought for triumphant, not only in my own party, but in the republican party as well."

This sally was met with applause. Mr. Bryan said he clearly was entitled to the privilege of speaking and rejoicing with his party. He said he had been more anxious for harmony than for the opportunity to address the convention.

"In discussion before the subcommittee, the friends of Mr. Clark and Mr. Wilson were unable to agree on a candidate."

But Bryan said later the two factions agreed to support James. This, he said, was his plan, to have the two presidential candidates, controlling two-thirds of the delegates, agree on a man for temporary chairman.

Jab at National Committee.

"But this the national committee refused to do," he shouted.

A cheer for Bryan was the response.

"I submit to you that the plan that I presented and favored was a plan for securing harmony; the plan the committee favored was not designed to secure harmony.

"This is no ordinary occasion; this is an epoch-making convention. It has been a long fight, requiring courage and sacrifice. I know men in humble walks of life risking their positions with big railroad corporations to assist us in this fight for progressive principles.

"I have known men engaged in business and carrying loans at banks who have been threatened with bankruptcy; yet they have defied the bosses and walked beside the masses to oppose the forces of predatory wealth.

"I have seen lawyers take their future in their hands to oppose the evil influences of the time.

"I have seen this struggle go on. I've seen men who never made a speech before go out and spend weeks of their time in public speaking in behalf of the cause. Now the long victory should be sung by one who has borne the burden of the fight."

Another cheer interrupted.

"John W. Kern has been faithful every day of that sixteen years. It had cost him time, money and the free with all he had. Four years ago free with al lhe had. Four years ago it was John W. Kern who stood by me and helped me take the last stronghold. He helped me uphold the policy of publicity of campaign contributions which now has swept the country.

"It was John W. Kern who stood with me on that Denver platform which demanded the election of senators by direct vote of the people. Now he is in the senate, where he can show the American people how big an American senator should be.

"He helped in the fight for that amendment authorizing an income tax, and he has lived to see the president who was opposed to it take that plank out of our platform and make two houses of congress and thirty-four states pass it.

"And now he is leading a fight in the senate to purge that body of Lorimer. What better man could we have open a convention platform."

"Parker, Parker," interrupted a number of delegates, and the call swept the armory.

"I repeat, what better man could we find—"

"Parker, Parker!" broke out the delegates.

Mr. Bryan stopped.

"What better man could we find to represent the militant spirit of democracy?"

Bryan Reviews Parker's Record.

Chairman Mack pounded loudly for order and got it.

"When I now contrast," continued Bryan, "the candidate presented by the committee I can do it without impeaching his character or his good intent. Not every man of good character and good intent is worthy to sound the keynote of a progressive convention.

"There are 7,000,000 republicans in this country or were at the last election, and I have never doubted most of them were men of good character, and we would not invite any of them to be temporary chairman of our convention."

Cheers and cries of "oh" mingled throughout the hall.

"We have a great many democrats who vote the ticket, but are not in sympathy with the purposes of the party."

Mr. Bryan said he spoke for Parker in 1904, but was not in sympathy with the candidate or men who stood behind his nomination.

Again there came an interruption and cries of "Parker." "And I assume that no friend of Judge Parker's will contend that he was satisfied in 1908 with all the candidates or all the plans and purposes of our platform. This is no time for a campaign of pleasant words and smooth phrases.

"Predatory Wealth" at Chicago.

"We are writing history today," continued Mr. Bryan, "and this convention is to announce to the country whether this convention is to take up the challenge thrown down at Chicago by a convention controlled by predatory wealth or answer it by ourselves submitting to predatory wealth and give the country no party."

Applause again interrupted him.

"We need not deceive ourselves that which is done in a national convention is due to secrecy. We are at last under the eyes of the gentlemen of the press who know what we do and who told us to do it.

"And the delegates of this convention must not presume upon the ignorance of the people who did not come because they had not influence enough to be elected delegates or money enough to pay their expenses.

"And these people well know that the influence that dominated the Chicago convention and made it a farce, that these interests are here and more brazenly at work than they were at Chicago.

"I appeal to you. Let the commencement of this convention be such that democrats can raise up their heads amongst their fellows and say: 'The democratic party is not afraid.'

The Ryans and the Belmonts.

"You can't frighten it with your Ryans or buy it with your Belmonts."

A roar of cheers broke out. Hats were swung in the air and the cheers swept toward the stage. But the demonstration was brief and Mr. Bryan continued:

"My friends," said he, "if the candidate of the committee were an unknown man you would judge him by the forces that are back of him. We know who the candidate is. We know he is the man chosen eight years ago when the party, beaten for eight years, thought it might be well to try to win with those who had defeated us in the two previous campaigns."

Again came the interrupting cries of "Parker! Parker! Parker!"

"The country," he continued, "has not forgotten that that convention was influenced in its action by promises of large campaign funds from Wall street, and they have not forgotten the fact that after a corporation management of the campaign had alienated the rank and file of the party. Wall street threw the party down and elected a republican. They have not forgotten that when the vote was counted we had a million and a quarter less votes than in the two campaigns before and a million and a quarter less than in the next campaign.

"They have not forgotten that it is the same man, backed by the same influences, who is to be found on a progressive party, to open a progressive campaign."

Thomas F. Ryan Heard Bryan.

While Mr. Bryan was speaking Thomas F. Ryan was sitting on the convention floor.

"You ask me why I know that speech would not be satisfactory when I have not read it," said Mr. Bryan. "I tell you, it is the man, not the words, that make the speech."

Here a roar of groans and cheers agin interrupted.

"We have been passing through a great educational age and the democratic movement has been sweeping all before it around the world," he continued.

Here Mr. Bryan referred to recent events in Russia, Persia, Turkey and China as proving the advance of the democratic idea throughout the world.

"And," he said, "while the outside world has been marching double-quick toward greater freedom, our beloved nation has been keeping step and popular government has grown and grown.

"The man whom I present has been the leader of the progressive cause in his state and once joint leader in the nation. I challenge you to show where anywhere in his history the man presented by the committee has gone out to aid the party before a convention.

"Now, this is the situation: The democratic party has been the leader—"

Mr. Bryan was interrupted again with the cries of "Parker."

Chairman Mack pounded for order.

"The democratic party has led this fight until it has stimulated the republican hosts to go and do likewise and at last appear willing to trust the people with their own government.

"I repeat, we have been traveling in the wilderness. We now come in sight of the promised land. During all the many hours of darkness, progressive democracy has been the people's pillar of fire by night.

"I pray you, delegates, now that dawn has come, do not rob the people of the right to have our party as their pillar of cloud."

This brought the Bryan sympathizers to their feet and Mr. Bryan let it stand as his concluding words.

Kern Refuses to Enter Contest.

Senator Kern followed Mr. Bryan to the front of the platform.

There was much speculation as to what he would say. It was said he would decline the nomination and urge Mr. Bryan in his place.

"I must state my reason for not desiring to enter the contest for temporary chairman of this convention," began Senator Kern.

"I believe that by forty years of service to the party I have gained the right to a hearing before this convention. I hail from the state of Indiana, which will soon place before this convention the name of Governor Thomas R. Marshall as a candidate for president.

"I desire to take no part in this convention that would militate against his interests," said Kern.

"I have been for many years a friend of Judge Parker. Many years ago we met in a hotel in Europe and became warm personal friends. From that time on I have enjoyed his friendship, and he has had mine.

"Eight years ago I enlisted under his banner for the nomination, influenced largely on account of my friendship.

"I believe Judge Parker is as earnestly desirous of democratic success this year as I am," continued Senator Kern amid applause. All democrats, he said, desired harmony that victory might be attained. "I apeal for that kind of harmony that will bring victory." Mr. Kern's purpose at last became known. He appealed to Judge Parker to join him in urging some man like Senator James A. O'Gorman as the compromise candidate. He declared the discord would cease if Judge Parker and his associates would agree on any one of the following:

Senator O'Gorman, Senator Culberson, of Texas; Senator Lee, of Tennessee; Representative Clayton, of Alabama; former Governor James E. Campbell, of Ohio, or former Governor Folk, of Missouri.

Senator Kern made his challenge to the New York delegation direct. It was a remarkable scene and took the convention entirely by surprise.

Judge Parker was seen in conversation with his colleagues.

Judge Parker said to anxious inquirers that Representative Fitzgerald, of New York, soon would speak for him.

In the meantime the convention was in wild disorder. Senator Kern still held the floor as Chairman Mack pounded for order.

Kern Enters Bryan Against Parker.

Senator Kern took the delegates to task for deriding Mr. Bryan. He said he could be killed, but it would not be homicide.

"It would be suicide. It would bring shame and sorrow to 6,000,000 people in this land."

"I have made my appeal," said Mr. Kern. "What is my response? If there is no response, let the responsibility rest where it should. If this is to be a contest between the people and the powers, I am not fit to be its leader. If my proposition is to be ignored, there is only one man fit to lead the hosts of progress. That man has been at the forefront for sixteen years—William Jennings Bryan.

"If you must have fight, then the leader must be worthy of the cause; that leader must be Mr. Bryan."

Senator Kern sat down among cheers and jeering and Mr. Bryan again rose.

Mr. Bryan said he tried to get the committee to agree on a progressive. He said he urged Senator-elect James to be leader in the fight, but he would not consent. Next he went to Senator O'Gorman and then at last he appealed to Senator Kern.

"I stand ready to support any progressive who will lead," he added, "but if no other progressive appears I shall accept the leadership and let you express through me your advocacy in proportion to the principles for which we have fought for sixteen years."

Theodore Bell, of California, took the platform as Bryan returned to his seat.

Cardinal Gibbons Leaves Stage.

Cardinal Gibbons left the stage during the confusion.

"I stand in Baltimore for the same kind of democracy for which I stood in Denver four years ago," declared Bell.

"I should not have presided over that convention if my democracy had not received the approval of the distinguished gentlemen from Nebraska."

In the present fight he said it was with keen regret that he could not support either Mr. Bryan or Mr. Kern, but would cast his vote in favor of Alton B. Parker.

This called out a demonstration from the anti-Bryan forces.

It was of short duration, however, and Mr. Bell continued. He said he did not believe there were any sinister influences at work behind Judge Parker. Many loyal friends of Mr. Bryan would vote for Judge Parker.

"Their vote will be cast," he said, "in the belief that Judge Parker's democracy in the past—"

Shouts of "Bryan! Bryan!" interrupted the speaker. They came largely from the galleries. Sergeant-at-Arms Martin appealed for order, threatening to clear the galleries. For a long time his efforts were in vain.

Quiet was restored at last and Mr. Bell asserted that Judge Parker's democracy had withstood the severest tests to which any man's democracy could be subjected and had received the approval of Mr. Bryan in 1904.

Again the disorder broke out in the galleries and was quelled with difficulty.

Renewed Cries for Bryan.

When Mr. Bell attempted to proceed the cries for Bryan broke out afresh. He could hardly utter two words without an interruption, but stuck persistently to his task, shaking his finger at the galleries.

Mr. Bell said there was no question but the convention would adopt a progressive platform as expressive of its sincere beliefs.

Mr. Bell's speech, coming as it did from the chairman of one of the largest Champ Clark delegations in the convention, was significant.

"When Parker has presided over this convention—"

A shout of "no, no!" interrupted, and again the cries of "Bryan, Bryan!" led a series of cheers.

A Pennsylvania delegate demanded that order be enforced in the galleries.

Bell again suspended and for several minutes Chairman Mack pounded with his gavel. Finally quiet was secured to allow Bell to deliver a brief conclusion.

While Bell was concluding, Representative Fitzgerald, spokesman for the New York delegation, made his way to the platform. He was recognized by the chair as Mr. Bell sat down.

"He's a Cannon man from New York," shouted a delegate at Fitzgerald.

It was a long time before Mr. Fitzgerald could proceed. As he addressed the convention, the disorder spread to all parts of the hall except the delegate section.

It became known that Senator Kern, ill from the effects of heat in the hall, had been hurried to his hotel.

Called Fitzgerald "Cannon Democrat."

A chorus from the rear of the hall drowned out Fitzgerald's intended eulogy of Parker with renewed cries: "Oh, you Cannon democrat."

The chairman threatened to clear the galleries unless the speakers were accorded attention, but the hubbub continued.

"This convention will adjourn at once unless we have order," announced Sergeant-at-Arms Martin, but even that threat failed to quiet the tumult. Assistant sergeants-at-arms moved among the spectators, but made no move to put them out.

Mr. Fitzgerald decided to go ahead, despite the noise. He said Judge Parker did not seek the distinction of presiding over the convention, and therefore would not withdraw.

"New York," he concluded, "will loyally abide by the decision of the convention."

With this statement Mr. Fitzgerald returned to the floor.

A squad of policemen on duty outside the hall was brought in and the aisles were cleared with difficulty. The galleries seemed beyond all control and intent upon shouting to their hearts' content.

While the demonstration was on, Chairman Mack announced that the roll would be called.

"We protest against that," shouted a Bryan supporter. "We'll have no gag rule here, as they had at Chicago."

Mack was preparing to enforce his order when Bryan burst through the crowd behind the stage. With sweat streaming from his face and set jaws he leaped to the front of the stage.

A cheer greeted him as he leaned forward. For a few minutes the hall was swept by wild disorder.

"I rise to a point of order," said Mr. Bryan.

"Our conventions are governed by rules. The chairman announced the roll would be called while persons were standing and seeking recognition. As no limitation has been placed on debate, the chairman has no right under the rules to close it."

"The chair desires to make a statement," explained Chairman Mack. "A motion was made from the floor to close debate. I did not do it."

Senator Lea moved that debate be limited to fifteen minutes on a side. Chairman Mack declared the motion carried.

Cone Johnson, of Texas, rose to laud Bryan and Kern.

"All I know," Johnson said, "is that the fight is on; that Bryan is on one side and Wall street on the other."

An outburst of cheering greeted this statement. There were no speakers and the roll was then called.

How the States Voted.

Alabama's twenty-four votes were cast for Parker. There came a challenge. A poll was made. Some of the delegates demanded to know if Kern was in nomination. Chairman Mack said only Judge Parker and Mr. Bryan were to be voted for.

Alabama's chairman said he and his associates had been instructed to vote under the unit rule. This was denied by one of the delegates. The resolution of instructions to the delegates was sent to the desk and read. It instructed for Underwood for president, and ordered the delegation to vote "as a unit on all questions affecting his candidacy."

Senator Lea, of Tennessee, shouted that Mr. Underwood's candidacy was not involved in the Bryan-Parker fight and said if the chairman held that the unit rule applied he would appeal from the decision.

Alabama was passed while the chairman considered the question.

Arizona, next called, demanded a poll of the delegation. The result was Bryan 4, Parker 2.

California divided Parker 18, Bryan 7, Kern 1.

Colorado split, 6 to 6 between Parker and Bryan.

Connecticut gave 12 to Parker and 2 to Bryan.

Delaware went solid for Bryan, 6 votes.

Florida flopped to Parker with 11 votes, 1 to Bryan.

Georgia Solid for Parker.

Georgia's 28 all were given to Parker.

Idaho gave her 8 to Bryan.

Illinois voted under the unit rule, 58 for Parker.

Indiana gave 21 to Parker, 8 to Bryan, 1 absent.

Iowa was another state to split exactly even, 13 to 13.

Kansas gave all 20 to Bryan.

Kentucky gave Parker 17½ and 7½, 1 absent.

Louisiana split, 10 and 10.

Maine gave 11 to Parker, 1 to Bryan.

Maryland swung into line with 14½ for Parker to 1½ for Bryan.

Massachusetts gave Senator O'Gorman, of New York, 4 of her votes, 17 for Bryan, 15 for Parker.

Michigan gave Parker 20, 9 to Bryan, 1 absent.

Minnesota varied the monotony by giving 24 votes solid to Bryan.

Mississippi, with 20 votes, went solidly for Parker, while Missouri gave the New Yorker 22 and the Nebraskan 14.

Montana gave only 1 to Parker, 7 to Bryan.

When Nebraska was called there was a moment's silent wait.

"Nebraska gives 3 to Parker, 13 to Bryan," called the state chairman.

Nevada gave 6 to Bryan.

New Hampshire, 5 to Bryan and 3 to Parker.

Then came New Jersey's delegates, pledged to Woodrow Wilson, who joined the fight on Parker. Twenty-four of the New Jersey delegates followed Mr Wilson's advice and voted for Bryan. Four went to Parker.

Eight votes from New Mexico went to Bryan and then it was New York's turn.

Leader Charles F. Murphy, of Tammany Hall, arose.

"New York casts 90 votes for Parker."

By this time the Parker vote was nearly double that of Bryan, and his opponents had begun to rejoice in the Nebrakan's prospective downfall.

North Carolina gave Parker 15 and Bryan 9.

North Dakota went solidly to Bryan with 10.

Ohio, the home of Harmon, gave Parker 29 to Bryan's 19.

Oklahoma's delegation could not agree on a vote and was passed temporarily.

Bryan Gets Oklahoma.

The Oklahoma delegation demanded that its credentials be examined. Mr. Mack did so and ruled that all 20 votes from the state should be credited to Bryan.

Oregon revived Bryan's hopes by giving him 9 to Parker's 1.

Pennsylvania called out a Bryan demonstration when it gave the Nebraskan 67 votes to 9 for Parker.

Rhode Island went to the Parker standard with 10 votes, while South Carolina gave her 18 solidly to the Nebraskan.

South Dakota also went solidly for Bryan.

Tennessee gave 17 to Parker, 7 to Bryan.

Texas, a Wilson state, gave 40 solidly to Bryan.

Utah split 4 and 4, while Vermont gave 8 to Parker.

Virginia gave 14 to Parker and 10 to Bryan.

This gave Parker the victory.

Washington went 14 to Bryan.

The absentee vote from Michigan was announced for Parker.

West Virginia, 9½ for Parker and 6½ for Bryan.

Wisconsin went solidly 26 to Bryan.

Wyoming gave Bryan 6.

Alaska split 4 for Bryan and 2 for Parker.

The Philippines and Hawaii each went the same way—Parker 4, Bryan 2, while Porto Rico gave 2 to Parker and 4 to Bryan.

District of Columbia gave all 6 of its votes to Parker.

And Parker Wins.

The vote, on a roll call, was:

Parker 579
Bryan 506

The Massachusetts vote was corrected to read 18 for Bryan, 15 for Parker, 3 for O'Gorman.

Before an official announcement could be made, Senator Lea, representing the Bryan interests, moved that inasmuch as Judge Parker had received 579 votes to 506 for Bryan, the nomination be made unanimous. There were some shouts of "No," but the chairman declared the motion had been carried.

Senator Stone, of Missouri; Senator Lea and Judge Hudspeth, of New Jersey, were named to escort Parker to the chair.

A round of cheers greeted the newly elected chairman as he climbed the steps to the platform. National Chairman Mack confined himself to the mere introduction:

"Judge Parker, temporary chairman."

BRYAN NO CANDIDATE, SAYS WOODROW WILSON

Seagirt, N. J., June 25.—Over a telephone wire today Governor Wilson directed from his cottage here the fight which his supporters have declared they would make against the election of Alton B. Parker as temporary chairman of the democratic convention.

The governor was in constant communication with William F. McCombs, his campaign manager, and other Wilson leaders.

"Do you think that Mr. Bryan is a candidate for the nomination?" the governor was asked.

"I believe that Mr. Bryan is acting from conviction in true devotion to the cause of progress and without any selfish, ulterior motive whatever," he replied. "Mr. Bryan has stated that he is not a candidate and I believe that he will stick to his statement."

NOTES OF THE CONVENTION WITH A GEORGIA FLAVOR

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Baltimore, Md., June 25.—(Special.)—H. H. Dean, one of Georgia's delegates-at-large, is attracting attention at the convention and around the hotels here, on account of his superb decorations. At first he placed an Underwood band around his hat, and then he proceeded to tag himself with all manner of Underwood buttons, badges and emblems. He is a parade all by himself.

Carl Hutcheson, of Atlanta, was today appointed an assistant sergeant-at-arms through the influence of National Committeeman Clark Howell. He is also assistant secretary to Urey Woodson, of Ketnucky, who is national secretary of the national democratic committee.

One of the most striking men in the press box is Elbert Hubbard, with his Leonine long hair dropping over his shoulders and his long red tie. His face and bald spot is tanned the color of his tie.

J. Ham Lewis, of "pink-whiskered fame," a former Georgian who was recently nominated for senator from Illinois, is on hand with hearty handclasp for his Georgia friends.

Thomas B. Felder, of Atlanta, has become a national character on account of his evasion of Governor Blease, of South Carolina. The Baltimore News carried a rich story yesterday of his being chased by cops and sheriffs in different states. Everybody he meets says, "You are the man the governor is after, eh?" Felder replies with his customary smile.

Georgia's delegation occupies one of the best positions in the convention hall, being seated about ten seats in front of the chairman's stand, where they can see and hear all that takes place.

DEMOCRATIC DELEGATE FALLS INTO TOILS OF WIRETAPPERS

New York, June 25.—R. J. Buckley, of Chicago, a delegate to the democratic national convention, caused the arrest here today of two men, one of whom he charged with attempting to swindle him in a fake wire-tapping game. The prisoners, John and Henry M. Wilson, were held in $2,000 bail each by a magistrate for examination Thursday on charges of grand larceny.

Buckley told the detectives he had met John Wilson on Broadway Saturday and at Wilson's invitation they visited a gambling house in the tenderloin. He was induced, he declared, to lay a $12,000 wager on a race horse and was told after the race that he and two companions had won $105,000. Inasmuch as Buckley had, instead of cash, given a check for $2,000 and a draft for $10,000, he said, the cashier refused to give him his share of the $105,000, but made an appointment to meet him and Wilson at an uptown hotel today and talk the matter over.

Buckley declared that he had no real intention to make a bona fide bet, and that his first act upon leaving the gambling house was to stop payment on the check and draft. He told the police of the appointment today and they arrested the two Wilsons. The cashier did not put in an appearance.

WILSON OUT OF THE RUNNING AS RESULT OF THE DEFEAT OF BRYAN

BRYAN OUT OF THE RUNNING AS A RESULT OF HIS DEFEAT

Bryan's assumption of the right to dictate the temporary chairmanship, and pointed to today's vote in justification of their views. Mr. Bryan, despite the effort to eliminate him, however, remains a stalwart factor in the convention, and may be given the authority to write the platform.

There was nothing more tangible to the presidential situation tonight than in talk and claims.

"The result of the balloting on the temporary chairmanship today," said Senator-elect Ollie M. James, of Kentucky, "means but one thing—that Clark will be nominated on the first ballot."

Mr. James was discussed tonight as the probable permanent chairman of the convention. This is in line with the policy of the conservatives to placate the progressives, now that they have defeated Mr. Bryan. Aside from this, Mr. James received the second largest vote in the national committee on the selection of a temporary chairman and this, ordinarily, would entitle him to favorable consideration for permanent presiding officer. His choice also would be further evidence of the Clark strength in the convention.

BRYAN HAS HAD HIS DAY IN DEMOCRATIC COURT; IT IS DOUBTFUL IF HE WILL GET ANOTHER HEARING

Those who argue against the probability of Mr. Bryan being named declare that he had his say in the convention today and failed to stampede it. Mr. Bryan frequently was interrupted in his remarks, and it was regarded as doubtful tonight whether he would get another hearing on any issue involving himself.

Mr. Bryan claimed the right to speak today on the ground that in three presidential campaigns he had borne aloft the banner of democracy as its presidential nominee. Now that the fruits of victory were at hand he said he should not be denied an opportunity to rejoice with his party. The democratic party, "a pillar of fire by night for the plain people," now that the dawn has come should, he declared, be made "a pillar of clouds by day."

Mr. Bryan made another point which elicited unbounded enthusiasm from his hearers. He said the sinister influences which had been at work in the republican national convention at Chicago were operating even more brazenly at Baltimore. But, he added, the democratic party could not be "run by the Ryans or bought by the Belmonts."

BRYAN PLAINLY UNDER STRESS AS HE MADE PLEA TO CONVENTION

Mr. Bryan plainly was under stress as he made his plea to the convention to turn down the Wall street interests, which, he said, were represented in the selection of Judge Parker as temporary chairman. He advocated Senator John W. Kern, of Indiana, as chairman. The latter, taking the floor from the Nebraskan, dramatically called upon Judge Parker to withdraw from the fight and in the interest of harmony to throw his support to any one of half a dozen progressives named by the Bryan sympathizers. There was no immediate response to the open challenge in the convention, and Mr. Kern then declared that as it was a fight to the death between the interests and the people, Mr. Bryan was the only person fitted to bear the brunt for the people.

In behalf of Judge Parker, it was later stated that as he had not sought the office at the hands of the national committee, and had taken no part in the fight, he felt he had no right to withdraw.

Mr. Bryan left the convention hall by a rear entrance soon after the vote on the temporary chairmanship was announced and resumed conferences in his rooms.

BRYAN MAKES NO STATEMENT; HE IS WAITING DEVELOPMENTS

Tonight he said:

"The vote in convention shows the attitude of the convention and my speech shows my view on the subject. I have no statement to make. I wait developments without impatience. I do not know of anything that needs to be added."

The Nebraskan did not attend the night session of the convention to hear Judge Parker's speech, but remained in his rooms to attend to correspondence and confer with friends. Later Mr. Bryan purposed joining in the deliberations of the platform committee.

Mr. Bryan apparently was in cheerful humor, notwithstanding his defeat. He carefully refrained from giving any suggestion as to his future course in the convention.

"Will you carry on the fight for the progressives on the floor of the convention?" he was asked.

"I hope to be at the convention, but I do not care to outline any program."

"Would you care to make any statement of any planks which you will propose?"

"No."

"Have there been any requests of you from western delegates for any particular planks, say for instance, on woman's suffrage?"

"I have had no request made on me for any plank. There have been two or three suggestions handed me, but I have not read them."

"Some have suggested that your experience today might make you less interested in the present convention."

"I can tell you from time to time what degree of interest I may take without outlining it in advance."

"But you are going to stay here, are you not?"

"Well, we had to pay for these rooms for five days, and I guess we will get our money's worth by occupying them."

FIRST SESSION OF CONVENTION WAS NOISY AND DISORDERLY

The first session of the convention, which marked the defeat of Mr. Bryan, was noisy and disorderly. It began with everyone apparently in the best of humor, but soon after the opening prayer by Cardinal Gibbons, the lines between the Bryan and anti-Bryan forces tightened almost to the breaking point.

Mr. Bryan was given an enthusiastic greeting both from the floor and the galleries when he made his first appearance and began his speech of protest against Judge Parker. He had not proceeded far, however, before interruptions began to be hurled at him. This was a signal for further disorder.

Senator Kern was accorded treatment even less courteous and thenceforward no man who faced the convention was safe from catcalls, hisses and noises.

The hubbub grew to such an extent that when Judge Parker had been elected and escorted to the platform to make his "keynote" speech, the disorder was so great that a recess was taken until 8 o'clock tonight, when he resumed his discussion of party principles and his denunciation of the Chicago republican convention as one of the most disgraceful exhibitions in the political history of the country.

Mayor Gaynor, of New York, was talked of late tonight as a possible running mate for Champ Clark in the event of the latter's nomination.

For the permanent chairmanship Senator Culberson, of Texas, and Senator Kern, of Indiana, were discussed in addition to Mr. James, but opinion generally seemed to center on the latter. It was said the conservatives were ready to throw their support to any man the progressives might decide upon.

Sure, Safe Way To Cure Corns

"Bingo" Beats Bloody Razor and All

Fuss no more with bloody knives and razors—with slimy salves and sticky sticking plasters! Bother no more with bulky straps, cotton wads, cloth doughnuts and similar nuisances! No more need adding insult to injury. Foot-torture days are over! Praise be to Bingo! Great, wonderful, Corn-Conquering Bingo! Worst corns quickly yield to its withering touch. Inflammation and pain stop "as if by magic!" No harm to normal flesh. Corn or callous just fades away—you peel it off, cast it from your sight—foot trouble then is merely a memory!

Make no mistake. If pestered with corns, bunions, callouses, warts—severally or collectively—it's BINGO you want. There isn't anything "just as good."

HE WENT DOWN IN DEFEAT

William J. Bryan.

HOW THE DEMOCRATIC CLANS GATHERED FOR THE BATTLE

Convention Hall, Baltimore, June 25. A wealth of decoration in white and gold and the national colors greeted the early arrivals on the scene of the democratic national conventions. The big hall ordinarily a huge steel-beamed, brick-walked armory, was transformed by thousands of yards of hunting. The ugly steel girders under the roof were hidden by a false ceiling of light netting. From the galleries hung the banners of the various states. The crowd came slowly and when the band began to play at 11 o'clock, the galleries and the guests' sections held only a scattered few.

The delegates, as usual on the opening day of a convention, were slow in making their appearance. A pouring rain and a scarcity of vehicles made progress from the headquarters' hotels to the armory a somewhat serious problem.

Everyone was expecting a great demonstration when Mr. Bryan appeared in the hall and was quiet in anticipation. Word came to the convention that Mr. Bryan was continuing his conferences right up to the hour of convening.

The States of the Candidates.

The committee in charge of the convention arrangements had given the most prominent place on the floor to the states having avowed presidential candidates in the field. To the right of the main aisle and directly in front of the stage was Missouri, home state of Champ Clark. To the left was New Jersey, with Woodrow Wilson as a favorite son. Back of Missouri came Ohio with Governor Harmon in the field. Back of New Jersey was Alabama, home of Representative Oscar W. Underwood. Indiana did not fare so well, but the members of that delegation did not regard this as in any way diminishing the chances of Governor Marshall.

Connecticut was close to Ohio, the delegation enthusiastic in its support of Governor Baldwin. North Dakota, nominating Governor Burke, of that state, was no more favorably located than Indiana, both being in fourth or fifth positions from the front.

At 11:35 it was discovered that the slow arrival of delegates was due in part to the close scrutiny of tickets and credentials by the doorkeepers, a long line of delegates and others being held up outside the building. Senator John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, had a great deal of difficulty getting in.

First Cheer for Wilson.

The first cheer of the convention went to Governor Wilson. As the delegates' seats began to fill up, a standard-bearer marched up the center aisle carrying a big white silk banner bearing a gold lone star, and the inscription, "Grand old Texas. Forty votes for Woodrow Wilson, the people's choice."

As the banner appeared a cheer swept the scattered crowds in the galleries.

Cardinal Gibbons, who was to make the opening prayer, entered the hall at 11:45 a. m., accompanied by Chairman Robert Crain, of the local committee on arrangements, and preceded by a squad of policemen. The cardinal in his red robes made a picturesque figure amidst the soberly clad delegates who wore rainy day clothes. He was cheered as he made his way to the stage.

At this time the hall was filling rapidly. There was a spreading murmur of excitement as word came that Mr. Bryan had started from his hotel for the convention.

A short time later Connecticut entered the hall with a blue banner inscribed: "Our choice for president, Simeon J. Baldwin." No applause greeted the Baldwin banner.

The Connecticut delegation endeavored to start a Baldwin demonstration, but without success.

And the Band Played "Dixie."

Then the band played "Dixie" and a great cheer swept the hall. "The Star Spangled Banner" brought the gathering to its feet.

There was one sharp contrast in the convention arrangements here and those at Chicago. At the republican convention the hall fairly swarmed with blue-coated policemen, a cordon of them being thrown always across the front of the stage. In the hall here today to find a "cop" was like searching for the proverbial needle in a haystack.

The California delegation brought in a large Champ Clark banner. Scattered cheers greeted its appearance.

Mr. Bryan surprised the convention by slipping in without anybody seeing him. He had left his hotel by the servants' elevator, avoiding the crowd awaiting him there, and made his way quietly to the hall. He entered by the stage door and bobbed up in the rear of the stage by a back stairway.

Bryan Meets Cardinal Gibbons.

The crowd of delegates on the floor below could not see him.

Mr. Bryan shook hands cordially with Cardinal Gibbons.

"I am very glad indeed to meet you," he said, "and am sorry not to have known you before."

The Nebraskan then slipped back into a seat well secluded from the gaze of the crowd.

The delegates at this time were in great confusion finding their seats, and apparently were not concerning themselves with Mr. Bryan or anybody else.

At 12:08 Mr. Mack arrived and climbed the stairs leading to the platform.

A few delegates who went to speak to Mr. Bryan found him somewhat nervous and irritable.

He confirmed his intention of nominating Senator John W. Kern, of Indiana, as a candidate for temporary chairman in opposition to Judge Parker, the choice of the national committee.

Both sides at this time were claiming victory in the coming fight.

At 12:10 Cardinal Gibbons took his place at the front of the platform, and Norman E. Mack took his place at the chairman's desk. Charles R. Crisp, parliamentarian of the house of representatives, took a seat near Mr. Mack. He was to act as parliamentarian adviser to the chairman.

Representative Robert L. Henry, of Texas, chairman of the house committee on rules, climbed the stairs to the stage and conversed for a moment with Mr. Bryan. Meantime the band worked hard to earn its money.

forces on the defensive to hold what he has. His delegations will be attacked from all sides and it will be tersely pointed out to them that they are already out of it, inasmuch as Wilson went down in the same ship.

Underwood Is Most Talked Of.

Without any doubt, Underwood is the strongest candidate on the other side of the proposition. He is the most talked of man among the candidates at this hour. New York will without doubt lead the way to Underwood on the second or third ballot, and following this there will be a great dropping of favorite sons, and they will all bump on the Underwood band-wagon.

Underwood's name, pronounced for the first time in the convention when the question of Alabama voting as a unit came up and it became necessary to read their instructions, brought forth a storm of applause, both from the delegates [illegible] the galleries. Underwood's stock [illegible] in Baltimore is away above par, and going higher every minute.

The Vote on First Ballot.

The following table indicates in a general way what the line-up will be on the first ballot. After that the break will come and nobody knows what the result will be:

Alabama votes 24, Underwood 24; Arizona votes 6, Clark 6; Arkansas votes 18, Clark 18; California votes 26, Clark 26; Colorado votes 12, Clark 12; Connecticut votes 14, Baldwin 14; Delaware votes 6, Wilson 6; Florida votes 12, Underwood 12; Georgia votes 28, Underwood 28; Idaho votes 8, Clark 8; Illinois votes 58, Clark 58; Indiana votes 30, Marshall 30; Iowa votes 26, Clark 26; Kansas votes 20, Clark 20; Kentucky votes 26, Clark 26; Louisiana votes 20, Clark 10, Wilson 10; Maine votes 12, Clark 1, Wilson 8, Haimon 3; Maryland votes 16, Clark 16; Massachusetts votes 36, Foss 36; Michigan votes 30, Clark 10, Wilson 10, Harmon 10; Minnesota votes 24, Wilson 24; Mississippi votes 20, Underwood 20; Missouri votes 36, Clark 36; Montana votes 8, Clark 8; Nebraska votes 16, Clark 12, Harmon 4; Nevada votes 6, Clark 6; New Hampshire votes 8, Clark 8; New Jersey votes 28, Wilson 24, Harmon 4; New Mexico votes 6, Clark 6; New York votes 90, Gaynor 90; North Carolina votes 24, Wilson 20, Underwood 4; North Dakota votes 10, Burke 10.

Unit Rule in Ohio.

There is a contest in Ohio over the unit rule. The Harmon people claim the entire 48 votes of the state because the state convention directed the delegates to vote as a unit for Harmon. The Wilson men elected 19 delegates and these delegates claim that the primary law gives no authority to the state convention to direct the delegation to vote as a unit, although it does not forbid it. Consequently the Wilson men claim the 19 votes of the delegates they elected, Ohio votes 48, Wilson 19, Harmon 29; Oklahoma votes 20, Clark 10, Wilson 10; Oregon votes 10, Wilson 10; Pennsylvania votes 76, Wilson 76; Rhode Island votes 10, Clark 10; South Carolina votes 18, Wilson 18; South Dakota votes 10, Wilson 10; Tennessee votes 24, Clark 8, Wilson 16; Texas votes 40, Wilson 40; Utah votes 8, Clark 2, Wilson 6; Vermont votes 8, Wilson 8; Virginia votes 24, Clark 3, Wilson 9, Harmon 8, Underwood 4; Washington votes 14, Clark 14; West Virginia votes 16, Clark 12, Wilson 2, Harmon 2; Wisconsin votes 26, Clark 2, Wilson 24; Wyoming votes 6, Clark 6; Hawaii votes 6, Clark 6; Alaska votes 6, Clark 6; District of Columbia votes 6, Clark 6; Philippine Islands votes 6, Wilson 6; Porto Rico votes 6, Wilson 6.

Total Votes 1,094—Clark 460; Wilson 358, Harmon 90, Underwood 92, Gaynor 90, Foss 36, Baldwin 14, Marshall 30, Burke 10. Necessary to nominate 735.

BRYAN IN CONFERENCE WITH SENATOR KERN

Baltimore, June 25.—Mr. Bryan was in conference with Senator Kern tonight when informed that Judge Parker had expressed the wish that every delegate should vote for the Nebraskan as head of the resolutions committee. He sent out word that he did not care to make any statement regarding Judge Parker's remarks until he had read the whole speech. That Mr. Bryan would accept if the committeemen selected him, was taken for granted by Mr. Bryan's friends.

Mr. Bryan left the hotel at 10 o'clock with his family to attend a reception given by Mayor Preston to visiting delegates. Mr. Bryan learned that there would be no meeting of the resolutions committee until tomorrow and planned to spend the night at Mayor Preston's home.

As Mr. Bryan edged his way through the swarming crowds in the corridors of the hotel to his automobile, he was given an impromptu reception by delegates and visitors.

Bryan and La Follette.

Baltimore, June 25.—Mr. Bryan was asked about a report that Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, was on his way from the west to see him.

"I had not heard of it," said Mr. Bryan. "I have no appointment to see Senator La Follette."

THE RIGHT KIND OF COAL AND WHERE TO GET IT.

The REAL JELLICO coal is produced by this Company, and is sold only by it in Atlanta. It is the one and only one best coal in existence.

It is the kind that makes a quick fire, a lasting, but vigorous fire, without noise or popping—a continuous bright, red-hot fire, requires no punching or attention.

It is the cleanest because it produces less ashes, waste and soot than any other. It is the most desirable and the most economical because it produces greater heat per pound than any other, and will not cost any more than the other. Everything guaranteed.

MR. DOOLEY ON BRYAN'S DEFEAT

(Copyright, 1912, by Finley Peter Dunne.)

Baltimore, Md., June 25.—(Special.) "What news fr'm Baltimore?" asked Mr. Hennessy. "'Twas just as I told ye," said Mr. Dooley. "Th' pro-fissyonals won. Th' hard-wurrukin' boys, who ar're in pollyticks to protect their little homes, an' their jolly, put it over th' lads who ar're in pollyticks because 'tis a healthy out-ivdure exercise an' good f'r th' lungs. Iv coorse, there ar're some ringers among th' progressive fellows that ought to be profissyonals an' on th' blacklist in th' Amachoor Pollyticksions' Union, but afther lookin' thim all over, I've made up me mind that most iv thim were sint into pollyticks be th' doctor. Th' dock is called in to attind a young fellow who maybe has a hackin' cough an' is writin' pothry. 'Ye're in a bad way, me boy,' he says. 'Onless ye take some healthy exercise,' he says. 'What ought I to do?' says th' patient. 'Go into pollyticks,' says th' dock. So he jines th' progressive party, an' in a few years he's as strong an' well as annybody. His chest measurement increases to thirty-two, he has a healthy tan, or annyhow a high color, an' he is niver in danger iv th' close confinement in office.

It's Fine Pastime.

"He injyes ivery minyit iv th' spoort. It's a fine exhilaratin' pastime f'r him. Sometimes he gets to be good enough to jine th' profissyonal ranks, but not often. On th' oth'r hand, th' profisyonal doesn't look on et as a sport at all, but as hard wurruk. He has to be good at it or he cuddent stay'd. He bangs away fr'm morn to eve or, to speak more correctly, fr'm eve to morn, an' whin th 'two kinds comes to a clinch, niver bet but wan way. I always favor th' fellows who're in pollyticks f'r a cause, but I always put me money on thim that ar're in it f'r a reason. An' ye may be sartin that th' fellow that has a reason will find a cause.

"What time did th' convintion meet? Th' convintion was called to ordther four years ago, an' adjourned last night at a quarther to twelve o'clock in Charles Murphy's bedroom. Th' platform, th' candydate an' other minor deetils will be settled tomorroh or th' nex' day, whin th' public will see a fine uphill fight put up be th' Amachoors. They always make a bether showin' in th' dimmycrat convintion because they're young fellows fr'm th' south an' west, an' they have bether profissyonal coochers thin th' republycans. But 'twill be th' same thing, its always been since I was a boy an' first poked me head into a convintion hall.

"What happened today? Th' convintion was called to ordther be th' chairman iv th' naytional commity an' th' polis, who had to put out iv th' hall a barytone solyist fr'm th' Matshachoosetts initiative an' rifrindum glee club. Divine blessing was thin asked on th' body an' encouraged be long an' vilent cheering. Dimmycratic convintions always seem to take great pleasure in these prayers. Ye never wud think beth' way they act that it is on'y foor short years since they heled wan. Afther th' prayer, but havin' no connection with it, th' Hon'rable Alton B. Parker was placed in nommynation f'r timpry chairman. The name iv th' Sagein Esopus was greeted with great enthusyasm. Aven Charles Murphy carri'd away be th' excitement an' wint so far in his deliryum as to lean over an' whisper to Roger Sullivan: 'Are ye sure iv all ye'er people?'

A Tall Broad Shouldered Man.

"While panjymonyum was ragin', a tall, broad shouldered man, whose head had been wore bald be bumpin' it again' th' citydels iv wealth, was seen climbing on th' platform. I'll let ye guess who it was, an', indeed, it was he. Our hero is somewhat aged it is true, since first we met, but he is still a fine figure iv a man, lookin', so th' pa-apers says, like like a Roman sinitor wavin' his pa-mleaf fan an' beseechin' th' dillygates to stop cheerin' whin they ar're ready to. Whin he had finally called thim afther givin' thim a reproochful look f'r their poor stayin' powers, he lunched, says this pa-aper, a phillipic again' th' enthrenched power iv priv'lege. I don't know what a phillipic is, but Hogan says it's a kind iv a speech an' that th' first man who made wan was given a dhrink be his rile masther to stop his talkin'. Why Willum Jennings hurled his speech, I looked to see me friend, Thomas F. Ryan, come for'ard with a pan iv refrishment in his hand f'r th' orator. But he didn't. He was settin' on half a chair in th' Virginya dillygation, an' him with money enough to buy all th' furniture in th' old dominyon an' not mind it. 'Tis sthrange how parsymonyous people can become. He had on'y half th' chair, but I suppose that's all he wanted. If he'd wanted th' rest th' other half iv a dillygate wud be standin' in th' aisle.

"What did Willyum Jennings say? R'rad it in th' pa-apers. What pa-apers? I don't care. Tomorrahs pa-apers. Yisterday's pa-apers. Last year's pa-apers. Th' pa-apers iv eighteen ninety-six. In all thim valyable publications, ye'll find this noble effort. I will always love it. I always have loved it. I can't herr it often enough, alythough I may. At th' end iv this outburst iv rale iloquence, he inthrajooced, as his candydate, th' Hon-rable John Kern, iv Indynna. Sinitor Kern thust th' honor away fr'm him. Much as he appre-cyated th' honor, th' loorls iv timpry chairmanship always give him a sych headache. He wud not, even f'r so gr'reat an honor, incur th' inmity iv ayether pa-arty in this momminchous sthruggle. At laste both iv thim was his friends. He appealed to Alton B. Parker in th' inthrests iv peace, in harmony, in justice, in pathritism to retire.

Parker Turned to Murphy.

"Alton B. Parker turned to Charles Murphy an' thin manfully facin' th' speaker, refused. Th' orator, or bether still, sinitor, thin got down to business an' appealed to Charles Murphy. 'I didn't catch th' names,' says Charles to Roger Sullivan. 'Is be mentionin' some compromise candydates?' 'No,' says Roger, 'thim ar're a group iv Indyanny sintiments. Look at these figures, am I right? I made it five sevinty-eight.' 'It's five sevinty-nine,' says Charles. 'Wan iv our dillygates fr'm Connecticut has gone out f'r a drink,' he says. So failin' in appeal th' sinitor nommynated Willum Jennings Bryan, who accipted be foorce iv habit. Befure he cud withdraw, th' vote was on. Will ye believe it, Hinnissey, it come out just as Charles says? How d'ye suppose he guessed it?

"An' so in his sthruggle again' preeditory wealth, Willum Jennings Bryan got another bump. Preedytory wealth is a gr'reat champeen. It rooled Tiddy Roosenfelt last wek in this town in siven hours, if ye take time out f'r th' prayer. I don't say, mind ye, he's down finully, but I've got to give th' first fall to ol' preedytory. We'll see what happens tomorrah. I r-read that it's rumored Willum Jennings is goin' to issue a jint challenge f'r himsilf an' Tiddy Roosenfelt again' preedytory wealth. If they'd both get on his back they might down him." "Willum Jennings Bryan is all right," said Mr. Hennessy. "What d'ye suppose thim millyonaires ar're doin' in Washington?" "Oh," said Mr. Dooley, "lookin' afther their investments."

"MR. FROZE QUICK" BOOSTS GOV. WILSON

Baltimore, June 25.—"Cold feet" first appeared among the partisan boomers here. They were among the Wilson men when Mr. Froze Quick, of Bloomsburg, in the fifteenth Pennsylvania district, arrived and registered at the New Howard. He said that he was still for Governor Wilson, but he had found Baltimore a much warmer place than that to which he had been accustomed. He is the only member of his party who did not order ice water sent up to his room last night.

"It will be a cold day when they defeat Governor Wilson," he remarked.

HUSBAND DOES HOUSEWORK WHILE THE WIFE TRIMS HATS

Chicago, June 25.—Isaac Danielson, 35 years old and weighing 200 pounds, when arraigned before Municipal Judge Caverly today on a disorderly charge, admitted that his occupation was "housework."

"My wife is an expert milliner and can make more money than I, so she goes out to work while I stay home and attend to the house," he explained.

Mrs. Danielson said she sent her husband out with 50 cents to buy some thread and that he bought drinks with the money.

"Do you want him sent to jail or will you take him back?" asked the court.

"I'll take him back because I do not want to do the housework," replied Mrs. Danielson, and the prisoner was discharged.

FORMER ATLANTA BARBER HELD ON BIGAMY CHARGE

Anniston, Ala., June 25.—(Special.)—C. D. Hood, a local barber, was arrested here Tuesday on a charge of bigamy, brought by Mrs. Mary L. Hood, of Dayton, Ohio. She inclosed in her letter to the officers a photo with full description. They tally with the man arrested.

She stated that they were married at Jonesville, Lee county, Virginia, and afterwards Hood had become involved in a difficulty, a serious charge being brought against him at Richmond, forcing him to leave Virginia, thus deserting her, causing her to have to support herself.

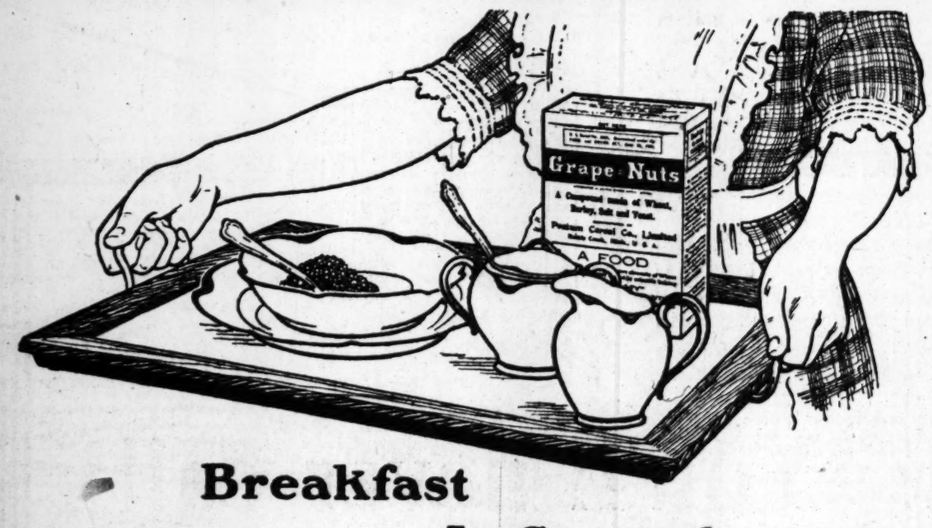

She stated that from last accounts Hood was employed in an Atlanta barber shop. Relatives living in Virginia wrote her that Hood had recently married here, and his arrest was brought about. His wife here stated to him that she would stick to him if he was innocent; if he was not, she would help to convict him. Hood denied all charges, stating that a divorce had been granted him at Richmond.

The wife at Dayton will arrive here Thursday. Hood married a Miss Willie Zaner here about four weeks ago.

CHINESE GIVE CHEERS FOR THE SUFFRAGETTES

New York, June 25.—An innovation in woman suffrage tactics here developed tonight when an automobile filled with women drew up in the heart of Chinatown and one of its occupants, who wore an Oriental robe, addressed 200 Chinese on a street corner in their native language. There were volleys of Chinese cheers when the speaker, who was introduced as "Mrs. Jean White," reminded her auditors that women in China had a vote now and urged that the men of their race in this country do what they could to get a like privilege for American women.

Mrs. White said she had just returned here from San Francisco and for eight years had taught school in Canton, China.

BOMB IS THROWN AT U. S. MARINES

The Negro Rebels Attack Outpost in Vicinity of El Cobre.

Santiago, Cuba, June 25.—Captain Gulick, commanding the United States marines at El Cobre, reports that his whole company is on guard every night and constantly exchanging shots with the insurgents. The marines have entrenched outposts mounting automatic guns. Last night a bomb was exploded near the American outpost at El Cobre mines, but did no damage.

The report that the insurgents have burned the town of Mayari is untrue. Cueto, a small village, was destroyed yesterday by rebels believed to be under command of General Ivonet.

Government troops have had an engagement with the column under Estenoz at Calabazas. The rebels' loss was ten killed and many wounded.

Estenoz is reported to be fleeing with a small following. Regulars also attacked a band of insurgents in the vicinity of the Juragua mines, killing several.

Cuban Troops Inactive.

Havana, June 25.—Inactivity of the Cuban troops in Oriente has given rise to a renewal of reports that the government still is negotiating with the negro leaders. This the government strenuously denies, reiterating its intention to continue offensive operations until the complete subjugation of the rebels. Reports of the whereabouts of Estenos and Ivonet are conflicting, but government advices admit that the former probably has 300 men.

President Gomez conferred this afternoon with the judges of the correctional courts with the object of formulating complaints against the editors of the newspapers La Lucha, La Frenza and El Dia. Antonio San Miguel and Carlos E. Garrido, editors of La Lucha and La Prenza, respectively, are now in the United States beyond the jurisdiction of the courts, while Armendo Andre, editor of El Dia, is under the protection of congressional immunity. All three papers continue their defiant attitude toward the government.

RED FIRE IS BURNED FOR "BOSS" BARNES

Albany, N. Y., June 25.—William Barnes, Jr., chairman of the republican state committee, was given an enthusiastic welcome tonight upon his return from the republican national convention at Chicago in which he played a prominent part in the renomination of President Taft.

He was greeted at the station by a crowd of several thousand. Through streets brilliant with red fire and with bands playing, "When We Walk, We Always Walk With Billy," the state chairman was escorted to his home by a parade of Albany citizens and civic organizations. There he was introduced by Edward N. McKinney, president of the Albany Chamber of Commerce, as the man "who honored himself and the city of his birth and home by his dignified, intelligent and patriotic stand at Chicago for the constitution and representative government."

As he stepped to the front of the porch to reply Mr. Barnes was greeted with shouts of "You didn't do a thing to that hat!" and "Where's Teddy now?"

The state chairman acknowledged the welcome briefly, declaring that the republican party is "the party of resistance to error," and stating that "it is probable that during this campaign other parties may take the stand we took at Chicago."

Her Body in a Pond.

Birstol, Tenn.-Va., June 25.—A special from Cameron, Va., near the Virginia-Tennessee state line, says that the dead body of Mrs. B. C. Terrell was recovered from a pond this morning after the family home had been burned to the ground. It is supposed that Mrs. Terrell set fire to the home after getting up during the night and then drowned herself. She had been insane for several days. Her husband was asleep in the house, but escaped. The family is well-to-do.

RAMIREZ IS MURDERED BY NICARAGUAN FOES

San Juan del Sur, Nicaragua, June 25.—Colonel Jose Santos Ramirez, who for several years was director general of telegraphs and telephones under the administration of President Zelaya, was assassinated today.

Soon after the resignation of President Zelaya and the assumption of the presidency by Madriz in December, 1909, Jose Santos Ramirez was imprisoned in Mangua on the charge of having used his position as director general of telegraphs and telephones to delay the transmission of messages to prevent the government and peoples of foreign countries from learning of the political situation, particularly the appointment of President Madriz. After being imprisoned for several months Colonel Ramirez was released by order of the government.

He was arrested again in February, 1911, on the charge of being implicated in a plot to blow up the barracks at Managua and depose President Estrada. On that count he, with a number of other prominent Nicaraguans, was ordered expatriated for six months.

For months past there have been reports of threatened revolutionary movements in Nicaragua, among them being a rumor that ex-President Zelaya was making preparations for an attempt to resume power. A dispatch from San Juan del Sur on June 9 said a plot had been discovered in Managua to deliver the forts at that place to the enemies of General Mena, the war minister, who was named by congress for the presidency of the republic for the term of 1913-16.

FREE-FOR-ALL FIGHT IN THE DARROW CASE

Los Angeles, Cal., June 25.—What Judge Hutton called a "historical outburst" by District Attorney Fredericks nearly precipitated a free-for-all fight between attorneys in the Darrow bribery trial toward the close of today's session.

A remark made by Attorney Appel, directed at the prosecution, brought about the scene. Fredericks jumped to his feet shouting: "I've stood this just as long as I'll stand it," and advanced threateningly toward Appel.

Forced back by Chief Counsel Earl Rogers, of the defense, Fredericks grasped a heavy glass inkstand and poised it as if to throw it at Appel, but before he could do so he was seized by Rogers and several others and was persuaded to sit down. Just before adjournment he apologized to the court.

Five hours was consumed in arguing the defense's right to the transcript of conversations between John R. Harrington and Darrow, heard by means of a telephonic device. Judge Hutton ruled for the prosecution. Harrington then resumed the stand and was under examination when court adjourned.

STRIKING WAITERS TO RETURN TO WORK

New York, June 25.—Waiters and other hotel employees tonight declared their long-drawn-out strike off and are prepared, they announced, to return to work. They held a meeting and listened to reports submitted by a delegation of eighty of their number which had been appointed to make a canvass of the leading hotels affected by the strike. This report was that the conditions were favorable for the men resuming work. The vote to end the strike was almost unanimous on the part of 2,800 employees present.

The waiters made their decision realizing that in applying for their jobs again they were doing so without any concession to their strike demands having been made by hotel proprietors. The demands included recognition of the union.

The strike was called about a month ago. For several days there was rioting. A number of persons were injured, many arrests were made and hotel men and their patrons were seriously inconvenienced. Many of the hotels have gotten on with improvised local forces or by getting help from other cities and their proprietors have, as a rule, declined to make terms with the strikers.

OROZCO WILLING TO SURRENDER

Reports Indicate the Speedy Collapse of the Revolution in Mexico.

Mexico City, June 25.—Amnesty without reservation is to be extended to all political offenders following the expected collapse of the revolution, according to information obtained today from a highly authoritative source. Orozco, the arch offender, and his chiefs, Vasquez Gomez, General Bernardo Reyes and scores of other in custody and at large, are to profit alike by the measure. The administration officials propose to thus celebrate the downfall of their enemies and at the same time prove their magnanimity. With the supremacy of the constituted government amply proven, it is argued they can afford to forgive its opponents and by doing so doubtless gain many supporters among the revolutionaries.

A proclamation is to be issued immediately by the federal forces, who are in possession of the city of Chihuahua, calling upon all citizens to surrender their arms and renew their allegiance to the central government under a sweeping promise of pardon.

A rumor, which could not be confirmed tonight, was to the effect that Orozco had communicated with President Madero by telegraph expressing a willingness to surrender and asking for terms for himself and his men. The subject is believed to have been taken up in a meeting of the cabinet today.

Saccharine Rulings Modified.

Washington, June 25.—The saccharine rulings of the pure food board were today modified to permit the use of saccharine in medicinal foods when its presence is stated on the label. The order contains a specific provision against the interpretation of the modification to permit use of saccharine in foods not strictly medicinal.

SAME OLD TALE—DROP TWO GAMES

Edited by DICK JEMISON

Gilly, the Gopher (Don't Think for a Moment the Steam Roller Can't Come Back) By L. Gregg

Whiffs

A Screw Loose.

WHAT'S the matter with the Crackers? There's a screw loose somewhere. Just where, it is hard to find. When the team was hitting like a house afire, the pitchers were going bad. When the pitchers came back, the hitters lost their batting eyes. There's an answer somewhere, but where it is, we personally might tell, but officially we do not know.

The Old Gag.

THE BREAK going to the other fellow might be blamed for some of the defeats that the team has suffered, but it cannot be blamed for them all. The other fellow is entitled to the break when he is playing the better ball. Something is amiss beside the "break." That alibi won't go all the time.

Four New Faces.

ATLANTA fans will probably see four new faces in the line-up of the team during the present week. First baseman Agler is due to report today, so is Buck Becker, pitcher, and Erskine Mayer is expected most any minute. Then Harbison's face will be new locally.

Will Help Staff.

BECKER and Mayer in places of Russell and Brady ought to strengthen the local staff immensely. Both men are better than those two. If Becker pitches as consistently as he did in his try-out with the Washington Americans he ought to add considerable strength to the team. Mayer is certainly better than Brady.

Still Going.

MARQUARD won his seventeenth straight victory on Tuesday over the Phillies with Alexander pitching for the Dooinites. And there can be no question about the Rube's performance on this occasion. He allowed but six hits and kept them widely scattered. The only run the Phillies made was the result of a home-run smash by Killifer.

Has Their Goat.

AL DEMAREE is complete master of the New Orleans Pelicans. Four times during the present season Frank's men have faced smiling Al and four times they have been shut out. In thirty-six innings, they have failed to get a run off of his delivery and but eighteen hits. He has their goat good.

Next Tourney.

THE GOLFERS of the Atlanta Athletic Club will on Saturday qualify for play for the W. W. Cunningham golf trophy, which will be held all during the following week. Tournaments are coming with regularity now and local golfers are getting plenty of match practice for the invitation tournament that will be held the latter part of the month.

Are Slumping.

THE GULLS of Mike Finn are hitting the soapy chute with reckless abandon. At the start of the league race they were the sensation of the whole league. But they were playing well above their stride, and only the sensational twirling of Demaree, assisted by Berger and Campbell, kept them up near the top. The Gulls are a weak club. Their hitting is weak and their fielding is nothing wonderful, while their base running cannot be termed even average. Everything was breaking for them at the start of the season. Now that the other teams are getting an even break with them they are winning most of the games.

Have Hit Stride.

C. FRANK, the wily manager of the New Orleans Pelicans, is going right after the Birmingham Barons now. Getting off to his usual bad start with a poor team, which he has strengthened by an addition here, a swap there, a sale here and a trade there, Frank now has a club that is going to make it interesting for all comers for the remainder of the season. "Oh, Frank is out of it this year," you hear them chirp at the start of the season when the Pels do not grab off a lead to start with, but when the end of the season arrives New Orleans is either first or so close that it is uncomfortable for the flag winner.

One Week Off.

THE TITLES of the heavyweight and lightweight champions of the world will be tried for by aspiring challengers one week from tomorrow. But on all the dope obtainable at this writing, it looks like easy victories for the title-holders. Johnson ought to stop Flynn within fifteen rounds, and Wolgast ought not to be troubled by Jose Rivers.

Mrs. William Vaughan Moody, a resident of Chicago, and widow of the playwright and poet, has been elected by the alumni to the board of trustees of Cornell university.

Eighteen Goose Eggs Given Crackers by Turtle Hurlers; Road Trip Has Sad Ending

Memphis, Tenn., June 25.—(Special.) There was a nifty, likewise natty, bit of pitching unfurled on the turtleback today when the local and Atlanta clubs got together after two days of enforced idleness. As the hurling excellencies were largely confined to the behavior of the home-mounders, the visiting Crackers went down in defeat in both battles, losing the opener 1 to 0 and the final affair, 5 to 0. Thus the triumphant Turtles not only achieved a dual victory, but held the enemy runless for nineteen consecutive innings.

In the initial fracas Rube Kissinger was as big a puzzle as any club has faced this season. Only one hit was made off him in seven innings, Dessau garnering a single in the third, after two had died. Previous to Dessau's safety his Rubelets retired the first nine men to face him in succession. In all, the local star was found but for three hits, one of which was alloyed with fortune. Only one hostile battered his way around to third, and but two managed to survey the situation from second base.

Dessau Pitched Good Game.

Dessau also pitched splendid ball, and he might have been able to get away with at least a draw if it had not been for the fact that Crandall went on a hitting spree. Three fierce belts jumped from his stick, one of which scored Schweitzer, after that worthy had singled in the eighth, for the winning run.

In a measure, the afterpiece was much like the opening skit. Senility with the stick on the part of the Hemphillers was just as pronounced, and although they got men on bases frequently, they were unable to land the knockout blow.

Doc Newton pitched for the home team and appeared to toy with the enemy. He had his cross fire delivery working like a well oiled machine and he used it continuously and to his decided advantage. Eleven members of the Atlanta outfit were retired via the hit and miss method. Sitton, who hurled for the visitors, fanned every time up, three in all.

The First Game.

A difficult catch of Hemphill's lambaste by Schweitzer aided Kissinger in retiring the first three Crackers to face him in the opening round of the first melee. With two men down in the home half, Schweitzer tore a hole in the center field scenery for a single, but he pined away at that station, as Abstein grounded out to second. Rube retired the Atlanta side in order again in the second, fanning McElveen and O'Dell.

After two were out in the third, Dessau broke Kissenger's clean record by singling; a clean and stinging hit it was, to left. He got no further than first, however, for Rube forced Bailey to hoist to Netzel for the third out.

The fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh innings were devoid of eventful incidents on the hostile side. The locals, however, continued to get men on the sacks, but were unable to manufacture the necessary hits with a run in sight.

The Bernhardits were not in a scoring position again until the eighth. This time they took advantage of the opening, the dimensions of which were made more generous by an error and Dessau's unsteadiness. Baerwald essayed a bunt and was flagged at first. Schweitzer singled and swiped second. Abstein's bounder to short received a boot. With two on and one down, Crandall selected one of Dessau's choice benders and sent it sailing into left, scoring Schweitzer.

The Second Game.

In the second game the locals came home on the bit. By dint of energetic and vindictive maulings in the very first round three runs were made off Vedder Sitton. It took five wallops to coin the trio of tallies. Another run was added in the second and still another in the third, after which the Turtles assumed the defensive and continued in the game merely because the rules required that nine innings shall be played.

MAC BETH WINNER TOM MORRIS MEDAL

Chicago, June 25.—Norman MacBeth, captain of the Los Angeles country golf team, was awarded a gold medal for the best individual score made in the Tom Morris memorial trophy matches played June 15. His score was 1 up on par. He was the only player of about 500 who contested that was up on par. His club also won the trophy.

Lee $20 forty-eight years ago. The debt was not paid off until recently, when Robbins received $100, with a letter telling him he could keep the change.

DEBUTS

Four Crackers Play Locally For First Time

Atlanta fans will witness four debut parties during the Chattanooga series which begins this afternoon at Ponce de Leon park.

Douglas Harbison, the sensational Spartanburg shortstop, now a Cracker, will make his first appearance before an Atlanta audience this afternoon, and his performance will be watched with considerable interest. His work since joining the club has been one of the bright features of the team's play.

Joe Agler, the first baseman recently purchased from the Chicago Cubs, will make his initial appearance on the first sack for the locals this afternoon. Agler is touted as a coming first baseman.

Agler Is Touted.

Several of the members of the Atlanta team who played in the Eastern League last season, tout Agler as the most finished fielding first sacker in the game today. He is a left-hander in throwing and batting.

Erskine Mayer, former Cracker, shipped to Portsmouth, in the Virginia League, may also report here in time to get in one of the Chattanooga games. Mayer's work has been the sensation of the Virginia League, and the Portsmouth club is fighting to hold him. The case is now before the national commission, and may be decided at most any moment now.

The deal for Buck Becker, the young left-hander of the Washington Senators, has been closed, and the young left-hander is expected to report here this morning. He will probably twirl one of the Chattanooga games.

Becker is a most promising youngster. He pitched several games for the Senators last fall and this spring, but as he lacks experience for big league play, Manager Griffith is farming him out for a little seasoning.

O'Brien and Brady to Go.

When all the new men arrive, Pete O'Brien will probably be the first man to get the slip. Jim Brady seems likely to follow when Mayer and Becker both report. Brady will be returned to the Boston Doves, to whom he belongs. Just where O'Brien will be sent is not forecast.

With these changes, Al O'Dell will act as the utility man on the club, and in the role of pinch hitter. Being able to play in infield or outfield, and a good man to have at the plate when a run is needed, O'Dell should prove mighty valuable to the team in critical stages.

The team, as it will stack up with the addition of Agler, Mayer and Becker, and the releasing of O'Brien and Brady, will be the strongest that the club has shown this season. The club ought to get right back into the hunt for the Southern League gonfalon.

M'INTOSH OFFERS CHAMP $40,000

Las Vegas, N. M., June 25.—Hugh McIntosh, the Australian promoter, has written Champion Jack Johnson and offered him $40,000 for a bout to be fought in Australia within the next year. It is supposed Johnson's prospective antagonist is Sam Langford, though the name of that negro fighter is not mentioned. McIntosh offers to post at once a forfeit of $10,000 as a guarantee of good faith. Johnson has not yet decided whether he will accept.

Long Home Stay Begins; Lookouts Start the Series With Crackers at Ponce

The Crackers return home today from their road trip, and this afternoon begin a long home stay of eighteen days during which they will play twenty games with visiting clans of ball tossers before again hitting the rails for distant parts.

Billy Smith and his Chattanooga Lookouts will be the opponents of Hemphill's henchmen in the game this afternoon and for the remainder of the present week.

The Crackers and the Lookouts have engaged in eleven tilts this season. Five have been victories for Smith's clan and four for Hemp's, with two to no decision.

In the eleven games the Crackers have outhit, outfielded and outscored the Lookouts, yet Smith's men have the odd game to their credit. The Crackers have counted 62 times to 53 for the Lookouts. They have made 103 hits to 95 for Smith's men and bungled but fifteen bounders to 22 for the clan of Smith.

Many Ex-Crackers.

The Lookout tribe is composed of six ex-Crackers. The main ex-Cracker is Manager Billy Smith, with Captain Otto Jordan as his first lieutenant. Then there is Mike Balenti at third base, Paul Sentell at short, Roy Moran in left and Hyder Barr in center.

These ex-Crackers have had a habit of stinging their former teammates on every possible occasion, Roy Moran being the chief offender. But it is nothing but the usual cast-off stunt. They all do it. That the four games will be exciting and hotly contested is an assured fact and local fans are going to see some real ball playing.

Mike Finn and his battered Mobile Gulls will be the attraction the first three days of next week. On their last appearance here the Crackers measured their jaw for four consecutive knockouts. There is a fine chance to measure it some more this time, as the Gulls are in a slump.

More Ex-Crackers.

Beginning with a double-header on July 4, the Montgomery Billikens will come here for a four-game series, single games being scheduled for July 5 and 6.

On the Billiken line-up are some ex-Crackers, too. Piggy Paige and Harold Johns are on their hurling staff and Earl Sykes playing the initial cushion. It will be their first engagement against their former teammates. It will also be the first games Humpty McElveen, ex-Billiken, but now a Cracker, will play against his old pals.

On July 8 the Birmingham Barons come for four games in three days, a double-header being made necessary by reason of a tied game on the last trip of the Barons to this city, when they won three games and tied one.

The home stay will be concluded with five games in three days with the New Orleans Pelicans, who have now struck their stride and are scampering up the pennant ladder right after the Birmingham Barons. Two double bills will be played in this series, the two rained-out games on the last trip of the Pels to this city making it necessary. Frank's men won the only two games played when they were here before.

With the addition of Agler, Becker and Mayer to the Crackers during this home stay the Crackers ought to climb on to their visiting opponents and win the majority of the games played.

Here is the probable batting order of the Crackers and Lookouts this afternoon:

Chattanooga.	Atlanta.
Moran, lf	Bailey, rf
Jordan, 2b	Hemphill, cf
Hopkins, rf	Callahan, lf
Barr, cf	Alperman, 2b
Coyle, 1b	McElveen, 2b

South Atlantic First Season Closes Today

The first half of the South Atlantic baseball season will come to a close with the games played this afternoon.

The Jacksonville Scouts are the winners of the first season, grabbing the lead about three weeks ago, and by consistent winning hanging on to the top and during the past week cinching the first half with a margin to spare.

The second half of the season will begin on Thursday. The winner of the second season, if it is any other club but Jacksonville, will play off the tie for the pennant with the Scouts in a post-season series after the second half of the season ends.

LEO KELLY WINS DRAW FROM FRANKIE WHITNEY; FIGHT FAST AND CLOSE

By Howell Foreman.

Leo Kelly fought Frankie Whitney to a standstill at the Gate City Club last night, the decision being a draw.

The scrap was fast and furious—so close that neither boxer had an opportunity to do anything but guard his safety and watch for the slightest opening.

Leo Kelly is a sturdy strapping little bunch of muscle. "His hair is red and his eyes are blue, and he is Irish through and through," and Whitney had a hard time "seeing him." Kelly packed a Missouri mule kick in his biceps, which he wielded with lightning rapidity.

Frank Whitney, the fighting carpenter, couldn't do much hammering on the opposing bunch of nails. Whitney didn't get away to his usual good start. He seemed a bit puzzled over Kelly's tactics. His left jabs, which have proven so effective against local opponents in the past, failed to find Leo. About the seventh, eighth and ninth rounds, Whitney waded in with the cleverness of old, and jarred the Irishman with his stiff uppercuts, which were his most telling blows.

Three Preliminaries.

The six-round preliminary was awarded by Referee Browsfield to Eddie Hanlon, over Johnny Rogers, who was floored several times. Rogers appeared to be too fat and paunchy, and it seemed a wonder that he stood his punishment. eH was jolly, and won the crowd by his gameness. Hanlon turned him somersaulting across the ring by a solid soak on the beak in the last inning. Although Rogers arose and would fain explain, the referee said Hanlon had won the decision any way, so the fight stopped there.

Spider Britt smote Young Raymond unmercifully for four rounds. The victim, like a fly, walked right into Spider's web, and the clever Britt almost introduced Raymond to oMrpheus.

In a slugging match, impeded by the lack of condition of the two contestants, Hinkydu and Phillips boxed to a draw.

DAVID BRUCE-BROWN LEADS IN FRENCH GRAND PRIZE RACE

Dieppe, France, June 25.—David Bruce-Brown, of New York, won the first half of the automobile grand prize race which started here at dawn this morning. He was, however, not representing the United States, but was driving an Italian Fiat machine.

He completed the ten laps (a distance of 770 kilometers, or about 452 miles 5½ furlongs), composing the first day's progress, in 6 hours 36 minutes 38 seconds.

Bollot, driving a French Leon Pouguet machine, was second, only about two minutes behind, his time being 6 hours 38 minutes 40 seconds.

The start was marred by an accident this morning. Collnet, who was piloting a Cregoire machine, when trying to pass a competitor on the course, shot into the air and capsized. His mechanician, Bessagnana, was instantly killed and Collinet himself seriously injured.

Gulls 2, Pelicans 0.

Mobile, Ala., June 25.—Mobile broke her losing streak this afternoon, defeating New Orleans 2 to 0 through the great twirling of Demaree, who maintained his record against New Orleans that of not allowing them a run during the season. The game was a pitching battle, Weaver weakening in the eighth and allowing Long to single with the bases full.

AMERICAN OLYMPIC TEAM PRACTICING

Antwerp, June 25.—The American bicyclists attached to the Olympic team rode 80 miles in practice today. The Marathon competitors, with the exception of Michael Ryan, Irish-American Athletic Club, who is suffering from an injured ankle, ran for two hours at a sharp pace. Other members of the team indulged in practice work morning and afternoon. Already half the men are in form and the others are rounding out nicely.

At the water polo game last night between Brussels and Antwerp for the championship of Belgium, the American swimmers and divers gave an exhibition and in turn were give an enthusiastic reception. It was believed "Duke" Kahanamoku, the Hawaiian, had broken the 100-meter record, but on remeasurement the tank was found to be one meter short of the distance.

After light work tomorrow morning the team will sail at noon on the Finland for Stockholm.

CORNELL CREWS WERE CAUGHT IN SQUALL

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 25.—A squall swept over the river this evening just at the close of practice and the Cornell crews were caught in it. They had a hard row ahead of the blow. The shells were nearly swamped when they reached the boathouse.

The weather was very hot and humid all day, and because of this the crews generally have light work, the regatta being so near now that the coaches are careful about exposing their men to extreme heat.

In place of the usual daily brush between varsity and freshmen eights, the Pennsylvania oarsmen had only light work. Columbia also had the lightest day's work since coming here.

June 26.

1879—Harvard and Holyoke failed to score in a 13-inning contest at Boston.

1881—Eclipse (Louisville) and Akron played a 19-inning tie game, score 2-2.

1890—The Philadelphia Players' League team defeated Buffalo 30-12, getting 28 hits for a total of 41 bases.

1893—At Cincinnati the Cincinnati and New York teams played a 5-5 tie game of 17 innings. Sullivan and Chamberlin pitched for Cicinnati and Rusie for New York.

1895—Brooklyn defeated Washington 1-0 in thirteen innings.

1896—The Brooklyn Nationals, with Stein pitching, won a 13-inning 1-0 game from Washington.

1898—The Peoria and St. Joseph Western Association teams played a 21-inning game, which the former won 8-4. Joe McGinnity participated in this contest.

1901—Brooklyn made 20 hits for a total of 32 bases off Tannehill and Wiltse, of Pittsburg. Tom Daly, of the Brooklyns, got three doubles, a triple and a single.

1901—Boston Americans, through a mixup in the schedule, arrived in Philadelphia when they were expected in Baltimore.

1902—Joe Bean, George Smith, Harry O'Hafan and George Yerger, of the New York Giants, made a triple play in a game against the Phillies.

1903—In violation of the peace agreement, George Davis played shortstop for the Giants, thereby threatening to bring on a new fight between the American and National Leagues.

1909—Ed Reulbach, Chicago Cubs, held Cincinnati to one safety made by Mike Mowrey.

ANDERSON ORGANIZES FAST AMATEUR NINE

Athens, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—Frank Anderson who won fame for the Georgia baseball aggregation for the past three years, has gathered about him a choice bunch of players for amateur work this summer. He will carry them to Gainesville for games on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, for games with the Queen City nine.

The players are as follows, some of them known wherever the Red and Black was heard from during the spring college season: Rawson, catcher; Peeler, pitcher; Frank Anderson, first, his old place on the Georgia team; Erwin, second base; Camarata, shortstop; Morton Hodgson, another old Georgia star, third base; Bob McWhorter, the captain of next year's Georgia team, center field; Howard McWhorter, who has been doing fine work at Gordon Institute, left field; Bryant, right field, and Cooper, from Comer, utility.

Games have been arranged also with Sparta for July 4. Elberton met this bunch a few days ago and took one and gave up one to them.

LOOKING FOR SITE FOR LIGHTWEIGHTS

San Francisco, June 25.—Abe Attell, former featherweight champion, and Harlem Tommy Murphy and their managers were busy today trying to pick a ring site for the twenty-round fight which was to have come off in James Coffroth's arena at Daly City July 4.

The trustees of Daly City, a suburb of San Francisco, by a vote of 3 to 2, refused to grant Coffroth a permit. They based their action on the publication of a story after the last Attell-Murphy bout here that Murphy had agreed to let Attell win and then "double crossed" him in the ring.

ARENA IS COMPLETED FOR THE BIG CONTEST

East Las Vegas, N. M., June 25.—The arena in which the Flynn-Johnson battle for the heavyweight championship of the world will be fought here on July Fourth is complete, and everything is ready for the bout.

Johnson has trained down to 215 pounds, and will make 212 by the day of the battle. Flynn weighs 190, and will weigh in at about 188, according to his statement.

PIEDMONT TENNIS MEET POSTPONED

The Piedmont Driving Club tennis tournament was postponed another day by reason of the soggy condition of the courts Tuesday after Monday's rain.

Fast Time by Torpedo Boat.

Newport, R. I., June 25.—The torpedo boat destroyer Paulding, today made what is claimed to be the fastest time ever made by a vessel of the United States navy. During her annual speed and smoke tests, the Paulding ran for two hours at an average speed of 32.7 knots. She was under command of Lieutenant S. H. R. Doyle. The Paulding has held the record for destroyers for the past two years, having made 31.8 knots last year. She was one of the first oil burners built for the navy.

Alston Defeats Tarrytown.

The Alston baseball team crossed bats with a picked team coming from Tarrytown and Adrian last Thursday. It was the warmest game of the season. The features of the game were the pitching of Gray and batting of Gray and Moses, and base running of Price. Result of game, 5 to 4 in favor of Alston.

Batteries—Gray and Gray; Hall and McConnell. Umpire, McSwain.

New Hydroplane Mark.

Rochester, N. Y., June 25.—Fred G. Eells broke the world's record for sustained hydroplane flight today when he piloted his machine over Irondequoit bay, 73 miles, in 1 hour and 21 minutes, an average speed of 54 miles an hour. Eells' flight was cut short when his supply of gasoline gave out and he dropped his machine to the bay. The best previous record for sustained flight was 46 miles.

Dies Suddenly.

New York, June 25.—Joseph Sturgis was joking with friends while taking tickets at the National League baseball park here yesterday, when he suddenly dropped dead of apoplexy. He was formerly well known to followers of horse racing as a bookmaker and an original member of the Metropolitan Racing Association.

BRYAN PLEADS FOR PARKER'S DEFEAT

applause and cheers). That is the language of the hero of Monticello, and I would not be worthy of the support I have received if I were willing to sell the truth to serve the present hour. (Long continued applause and cries of 'Good boy!").

"We are told by those who support the committee's recommendation that it is disturbing harmony to oppose their conclusions. Let me free myself from any criticism that anyone may have made heretofore or may attempt hereafter. Is there any other delegate in this body of more than ten hundred who tried earlier than I to secure harmony in this convention. (Cries of no.)

"I began several weeks ago. I announced to the subcommittee that I would not be a candidate for temporary chairman. (Applause and cheers.)

"I might have asked for it without presumption that at the end of sixteen years of battle when I find the things I have fought for not only triumphant in my own party (Great applause), but even in the republican party. (Applause.) Under these conditions I might have asked, without presumption, the modest honor of standing before this committee and voicing the rejoicing of my party. (Great applause.) But I was more interested in harmony than I was in the chance to speak to this convention; not only that, but I advised this committee to consult the two leading candidates, the men who together have nearly two-thirds of this convention instructed for them, I asked the committee to consult these two men and get their approval of some man's nomination that there might be no contest in this convention. (Great applause.)

"My friends, what suggestion could I have then made more in the interest of harmony than to ask this committee to allow two-thirds of this convention a voice in the selection of its temporary chairman. (Great applause.) In the discussion before the subcommittee the friends of Mr. Clark and Mr. Willson were not able to agree; one supported Mr. James and the other supported Mr. Henry, but in the full committee last night the friends of Mr. Wilson joined with the friends of Mr. Clark in the support of Mr. James, Mr. Clark's choice, and yet the committee turned down the joint request thus made. (Great applause.)

"I submit to you that the plan I presented, the plan that I followed was the plan for the securing of harmony; and that the plan which the committee followed was not designed to secure harmony. (Applause.)

Bryan's Eulogy on Kern.

"Let me for a moment present the qualifications of one fitted for this position. This is no ordinary occasion. This is an epoch-making convention. (Applause.) We have had such a struggle as was never seen in politics before. I have been in the center of this fight and I know something of the courage that it has brought forth and something of the sacrifice that has been required.

"I know that men working upon the railroad for small wages with but little laid up for their retiring years have defied the railroad managers and helped us in this progressive fight at the risk of having their bread and butter taken from them. I have known men engaged in business and carrying loans at banks, who have been threatened with bankruptcy if they did not sell their citizenship, and I have seen them defy these men and walk up and vote on the side of the struggling masses against predatory wealth. (Applause.)

"I have seen lawyers risking their future, alienating men of large businesses, in order to be the champions of the poor. I have seen men who have never made a speech before go out and devote weeks of time to public speaking because their hearts were stirred. It seems to me that now, when the hour of triumph comes, the song of victory should be sung by one whose heart has been in the fight.

Kern Has Been Faithful.

"John W. Kern has been faithful every day in those sixteen years. It has cost him money, and it has cost him the wear of his body and his mind. He has been free always with what he had, and four years ago, when the foundation was laid for the present victory, it was John W. Kern who stood with me and helped to bring into the campaign the idea of publicity before the election that has now swept the country until even the republican party was compelled by public opinion to give it unanimous indorsement only a few weeks ago. (Applause).

"It was John W. Kern who stood with me on that Denver platform that demanded the election of senators by direct vote of the people when a republican national convention had turned it down by a vote of 7 to 1 (applause), and now he is in the United States senate, where he can make a senator as big as a senator ought to look to the American people. (Applause).

"He helped in the fight for that amendment authorizing income tax, and he has lived to see a president who opposed us taking that plank out of our platform and put it through the senate and house, and thirty-four states of the union have ratified it. (Applause).

"Now he is leading the fight in the United States to purge that body of Senator Lorimer, who typifies the supremacy of corruption in politics. (Great applause and cheering). What better man could we have to open a convention? (Cries of "Parker" and hisses and applause.)

"I repeat, what better man could we have to represent the American spirit of democracy? (Applause.)

"My friends, when I now contrast—" (applause, hisses, cries of "Parker" and "Kern").

The chairman:

"The convention will be in order."

Mr. Bryan—"When I contrast—"

Bryan Contrasts Parker and Kern.

Mr. Bryan was again interrupted, and the chair appealed for order.

Mr. Bryan—"When I now contrast the candidate presented by the committee I can do it without impeaching his character or his good intent. (Applause.) But, my friends, not everyone of high character or good intent is a fit man to sound the keynote of a progressive campaign. (Applause.) There are 7,000,000 of republicans in this country, or were at the last election, and I have never doubted that the vast majority of them were men of high character and good intent, but we would not invite one of them to be temporary chairman of our conventino. (Applause.) We have a great many democrats who vote the ticket who are not in full sympathy with the purposes of the party. I not only voted the ticket, but I made speeches for the candidate when I was not at all satisfied with either the candidate of the influences that nominated him and directed the campaign in 1904. (Great applause).

"I assume that no friend of Judge Parker's will contend that he was entirely satisfied in 1908 with either the candidate or all of the plans or purposes of our party. I remind you that this is not a question where personal ambitions or personal compliments, or the pleasant things are uppermost.

"We are writing history today and this convention is to announce to the country whether this convention will take up the challenge thrown down at Chicago by a convention controlled by predatory wealth, or answer it by putting ourselves under the same control and giving the people no party to represent them. (Long continued applause.)

"We need not deceive ourselves that that which is done in a national convention is done in secret. If every member of this convention entered into an agreement of secrecy we still act under the eyes of those representatives of the press who know not only what we do, but why we do it, and who told us to do it. (Applause.) The delegates of this convention must not presume upon the ignorance of those people who did not come, either because they had not influence enough to be elected delegates or money enough to pay the expenses of the trip, but who have as much interest in the party's welfare as we who speak for them today. (Applause.)

"More Brazenly Than at Chicago."

"And these people will know that the influences that dominated that convention at Chicago and made its conclusion a farce before the country, the people know that those influences are here and are more brazenly at work than they were at Chicago. (Applause.)

"I appeal to you. Let the commencement of this convention be such a commencement that the democrats of this country may raise their heads among their fellows and say 'The democratic party is true to the people. You cannot frighten it with your Ryans nor buy it with your Belmonts.' (Long continued applause and cheers.)

"My friends, if this candidate selected by the committee were an unknown man we would judge him by the forces that are back of him and not by you gentlemen who may try to convince yourselves that you owe it to the committee to sustain its action, even though you believe it a mistake.

"That, my friends, is not the question. We know who the candidate is as well as the men behind him. We know that he is the man chosen eight years ago, when the democratic party, beaten in two campaigns, decided that it was worth while to try and win a campaign under the leadership of those who had defeated us in the campaign before. (Applause.) The country has not forgotten that the convention was influenced to its act by the promise of large campaign funds from Wall street, and they have not forgotten the fact that, after the corporation element had alienated the rank and file of the party, Wall street threw the party down and elected the other man. (Great applause.)

"They have not forgotten that while the vote was counted, we had a million and a quarter less votes than we had in the two campaigns before and a million and a quarter less than we did the campaign four years afterward. They have not forgotten that it is the same man backed by the same influence that is to be forced on this convention to open a progressive campaign with a paralyzing speech that will dishearten every man. (Applause.)

"You ask me how I know that that speech would not be satisfactory without reading it. Let me tell you; the speech is not so many words, it is the man and not the words that make a speech.

"My friends, we have had time that enabled us— (Mr. Bryan was interrupted by yells from the audience.) We have been passing through a great educational age and the democratic movement has been sweeping all obstacles before it around the world. In Russia emancipated serfs have secured the right of a voice in their government. In Persia a people have secured a constitution. In Turkey the man who was in danger every hour of being cast into prison without an indictment, or beheaded without a charge against him, now has some influence in the molding of the laws. And China, the sleeping giant of the Orient, has risen from a slumber of 2,000 years and today is a republic waiting for recognition. (Yells.)

Popular Government Progressing.

"And while the outside world has been marching at double quick in the direction of more complete freedom, our nation has kept step and on no other part of God's footstool has popular government grown more rapidly than now. In every state, the fight has been waged. The man whom I present has been the leader of the progressive cause in his state and once joint leader in the nation. I challenge you to find in sixteen years where the candidate presented by the committee has, before an election, gone out and rendered effective service in behalf of any man who was fighting the people's cause against plutocracy.

"Now this is the situation. (Cries of 'Parker, and hoots and cheering.) This is the situation which we have to meet. The democratic party has been the leader—" (Renewed hooting, cries of Parker and cheering for Bryan.)

The chairman: "Gentlemen, Mr. Bryan has the floor."

Mr. Bryan: "The democratic party has led this fight until its action has stimulated a host of republicans to imitate them. I will not say they have acted as they have because we acted first; I would rather say that they at a later hour than we, have caught the spirit of the time and are now willing to trust the people with the control of their own government. (Applause.) We have been traveling in the wilderness. We now come in sight of the promised land. During all the weary hours of darkness progressive democracy has been the people's pillar of fire by night; I pray you, delegates, now the dawn has come, do not rob our party of the right so well earned to be the people's pillar of cloud by day." (Great applause and cheering.)

A Question of Authority.

(From the Kansas City Star.)

A Standard Oil wagon and a rural mail carrier met on a McPherson county road where it was difficult for either one to turn out. The mail carrier said: "I am the United States government. Turn out." The oil man replied: "I'm John D. Rockefeller. You turn out."

Why They Went.

As the Sunday schol teacher entered her classroom, she w leaving in great haste a little girl and her still smaller brother.

"Why, Mary, you aren't going away?" she exclaimed in surprise.

"Pleathe, Mith Anne, we've got to go," was the distressed reply. "Jimmy 'th thwallowed hith collection."

POULTRY, PET AND LIVE STOCK.

ABOUT CHICKENS

BY "YOUR UNCLE DUDLEY"

To insure prompt answer to your inquiries to this department, write only on one side of the paper and BE BRIEF—the briefer the better. Increasing demands upon the department make it practically impossible to handle long letters.

Address: "Your Uncle Dudley," Care The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

A poultry editor is in a better position than anyone in the poultry business to know just when buying and selling is about to drop off or brighten up. He has his fingers on the pulse of the folks who are engaged and those who are about to engage in this business. He can always tell just when it will pay to commence to advertise and then when trade is about to get dull.

Well-posted poultry men, the men who have been for a long time in this business, know that their names should be always before the public. Some do not believe that it pays to do this. To the latter I wish to say that in the recent past I have had quite a large number of inquiries as to where good stock can be found. A letter received Tuesday makes inquiry for pure White Minorcas. Monday it was Silver Spangled Hamburgs; two needed Rhode Island Reds, and several wrote as to Indian Runner ducks. Another wanted to know about Buckeyes, and a gentleman has just called to ask where he can find Houdans.

Can Be Found in South.

Now, I am quite sure that these fowls are all to be found almost anywhere in the south, and I know personally that there are many poultry men who are crowded for room and are anxious to sell. I have received requests from a number of folks that read this way:

"Do you know anyone who wants to buy a pen of —— —— real cheap? Please help me to get rid of twenty or thirty —— ——. They are in my way."

Well, to all of those who wish to buy or sell, I will say this: The Constitution reaches out into every state in the south and people read it. Everything considered, it is today the cheapest advertising medium in the south—only 1 cent a word for each insertion in the poultry column. One sale will pay for the ad.

A Bad Poultry Year.

As I have said, the poultry business is opening up. We have had a bad year; so far it has caused, perhaps, a loss to many poultry men. The veterans, however, are not worrying over the situation. They have passed through seasons nearly, or quite, as unfavorable as the past season has been, and now as they are at the beginning of another season, from past experience they know that they will soon be able to make up for the loss, get on solid ground and come out ahead.

There is but one way to do this, and this one way is to let folks know through the papers what you have for sale, or what you wish to purchase.

Get your name before the public at once if you wish to do business during the coming season.

ROBERT STEVENS BADLY WOUNDED

Police Looking for Frank McDonald, Who Is Charged With Cutting.

Robert L. Stevens, son of Col. O. B Stevens, of 304 East Linden avenue, was perhaps mortally wounded shortly before midnight in a street battle on Auburn avenue, near Peachtree street. He was rushed to Grady hospital, where a gaping wound extending several inches across his abdomen was sewed together.

Glen Bullard, of College Park, who was with Stevens at the time of the fight, accused Frank McDonad, a young waiter in Durand's Edgewood avenue cafe, of the cutting. The police are searching for McDonald, who has disappeared.

Bullard was detained by the police in order to secure his version of the affair. He was released at 12:30 o'clock this morning, after detailing the fight from start to finish.

How Stevens Was Cut.

According to this version, Bullard, Stevens, McDonald and three other young men turned off from Peachtree into Auburn avenue about midnight. They started in the direction of Pryor and stopped in a cigar stand to buy cigarettes.

While in this place Stevens and McDonald got into a row. When it threatened to become a fight, Bullard interfered, and asked them laughingly, "What did they have to fight with?"

"I've got a shoe buttoner," said Stevens, as he jokingly produced the buttoner from his pocket and handed it to Bullard.

"And I've got a penknife," said McDonald, in apparently equal good humor, handing over a small pearl-handled knife.

Argument Grows Heated.

The party left the cigar stand and assembled upon the sidewalk, where the argument grew more heated. Stevens slapped McDonald a stinging blow across the face, and the latter retaliated by slashing Stevens across the abdomen with his knife.

Stevens turned and ran rapidly in the direction of the Black apartments, with several of the party behind him. He entered the apartment building and ran up two flights of steps to the room of a friend, in which he fell, bleeding and gasping for breath.

Policeman J. D. Kilpatrick stated he saw McDonald walking back toward Peachtree street remarking that "It was a shame for a friend of his to have been cut that way."

Robert Stevens is one of the best-known young men in Atlanta. He is a graduate of the N. G. A. C. at Dahlonega, and also prominent in state college circles.

When placed upon the operating table, he exhibited rare courage and refused the use of anaesthetic in the operation. He requested that his parents not be notified of the affair.

Better Lights for Americus.

Americus, Ga., June 25.—The Americus city council this morning entered into contract with the recently organized American Power Company, of which Frank Lanier is president, for street lighting, the contract becoming effective October 1. The contract specifies 130 watt lights of latest design, which is 40 lights more than supplied by the corporation now having the lighting contract. The new corporation will have its plant fully equipped within ninety days and, with two new and modern electric light and power plants competing for business Americus consumers are elated as never before. The new company is composed entirely of Americus business men, thus making of it a home enterprise which will be cordially patronized and supported.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES, DAY BY DAY

ALL THE NEWS OF REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING

William F. Winecoff has purchased from Amos Braselton and his associates their 99-year lease on the southwest corner of Peachtree and Ellis streets and will erect a twelve-story hotel for I. M. and Frank Harrell, lessees of the Aragon hotel, according to a statement issued by I. M. Harrell yesterday.

The full details of the deal are given elsewhere in today's issue of The Constitution.

Grading Peachtree "Hump."

The work of lowering the grade of Peachtree, West Peachtree and Baker streets at the "hump" at Baker street began Tuesday. It is expected to have the grading complete and the pavement relaid within thirty days.

The work of cutting down the hump has been started on West Baker street and the crew is working toward East Baker.

The grading when complete will lower the grade of Peachtree street from Harris street northward to points on Peachtree and West Peachtree streets about 250 feet north of Baker street. At Baker street the cut will be about four feet deep and will extend down both East and West Baker streets.

BROKE, HUNGRY AND HOMELESS, PRETTY GIRLS SEEK POSITIONS

Two winsome little girls, about 18 years of age, walked timidly into the services being held by the Union Rescue Mission last night at 234 Marietta street. When they remained in their seats after the last song had been sung and the benediction pronounced the pastor walked up to them and smilingly offered his hand.

"Glad to see you with us," he said, "and will you come tomorrow night?"

"Please sir," spoke up the elder of the two girls, a blonde, "we are broke, far away from home, and our suitcases were stolen this morning. We've got to have a home for tonight, and they told us at the Salvation Army that you could furnish it."

"Why, bless your little hearts," beamed the pastor, "sure we can give you a home, and where do you live, and why are you here, and what are your names? Just tell me all about yourselves."

"But get us a place to sleep, first," suggested the blonde, as she pointed to her companion, "for she's sick, and sleepy as can be. I'm awfully tired, too."

The girls were bundled into the pastor's automobile and driven to police station, where they were placed in charge of Matron Bohnefield for the night.

There they told a pitiful story of misadventure on a trip from their home in Birmingham to Chattanooga, where they had worked for the past several months. They are now on their way back to Birmingham and reached Atlanta with $1.60, which they spent on food Monday and Tuesday.

They gave their names as Esma Johnson, aged 20, and Esta Walker, aged 18. They were placed on the docket as "sleepers," and requested the sergeant to wake them up early, so they could get out and find a job as quickly as possible.

They wandered about the city Monday and Tuesday, seeking positions, but found none. Monday night they secured lodging in a cheap boarding house and last night they applied at the Salvation Army, where they were referred to the Union Rescue Mission.

STATE ASSEMBLY STARTS TO WORK

commissioner, with more than 1,000 deputies under him, is given too much power.

New County Is Urged.

There is going to be strong opposition to the efforts of representatives from the Winder district to have the legislature create a new county under the name of Barrow, and selecting Winder, Ga., as the county seat.

Headquarters have been opened by Winder boosters on the second floor of the Kimball, and the strings are already being worked to get support for the new measure. The new county, if created, will be passed on by the people. It will be named after Chancellor David C. Barrow, of the state university. The new county will be made up by taking slices from the counties of Jackson, Gwinnett and Walton.

"We are seeking to have the legislature refer the constitutional amendment to the people," said one of the leading members of the delegation. "The bill will pass the house and the senate with the required two-thirds majorities."

The fight is an old one. Its origin is traced back to the session of 1995, at which time it was planned to create the new county and name it Stephens county. There was little opposition to the proposed constitutional amendment, and its champions decided to allow it to hang over until such a time when all opposition could be removed.

The Winder delegation is composed of Dr. S. T. Ross, W. H. Toole, J. T. Strange and Robert Caruthers.

As to the Tippens Bill.

The famous "Tippens bill," cutting down to one-half of one per cent the amount of alcohol in any and all beverages permitted to be sold in the state, is the first measure on the house calendar for action.

It is considered likely, however, that it will not be taken up until next week, when the full membership of the house will be present.

The indications are that the measure has a majority in both houses, and it is generally predicted it will go through, though it is said, not without a hard fight.

An effort, it is stated, will be made to amend it so as to provide that it shall first be submitted to the people for their ratification or rejection; and, it is reported, if this amendment is adopted, Governor Brown will probably approve it, thus giving the people the opportunity to say whether or not they want this legislation.

It is generally considered that the last election for governor, if it settled anything, made it apparent that the people of Georgia desire themselves to pass on any future prohibition legislation that may be offered, and according to report, this is the view the governor will likely take.

Without such an amendment many are of the opinion the governor would veto it, as he has taken stand against any change in the present law except by a vote of the people of the state.

Bill for "Blue Sky" Law.

Representative Ed Wohlwender, of Muskogee, has sent the word down the line that he will be in Atlanta bright and early Wednesday morning; also that he has a bill tucked away in his inside pocket which will be offered in the house on Thursday. The bill has been drafted with care, and with a view to putting an end to "wildcat" speculation schemes in Georgia. The bill is far-reaching in its scope and is calculated to stir up a little trouble in both houses.

The bill applies to all corporations, whether incorporated or unincorporated, which sell or negotiate the sale of stocks, bonds or securities of any kind or character other than those of the United States or the State of Georgia, or some municipality of the state. The bill exempts state and national banks, trust companies, real estate companies dealing exclusively in real estate mortgages and notes, building and loan associations and corporations not organized for profit.

The far-reaching effect of the bill lies in the second provision which requires companies and corporations not exempted to file with the comptroller general a statement showing in full detail the plan upon which it proposes to do business, also a copy of all contracts, bonds or other instruments which it proposes to make or sell to its contributors; also the name and location of the company, and an itemized account of its actual financial condition, and the amount of its property and liabilities, and such other information as the comptroller general may require.

Penalties for Failure.

The penalties for failure to comply with the provisions of the bill are set forth, one of which is to have the attorney general to start suit to have the company placed in the hands of a receiver.

Banks and trust companies are interested in the bill, which is expected to have a rather breezy hearing.

The proposed constitutional amendment to change the location of the state capital from Atlanta to Macon is meeting with only lukewarm interest and is likely to go to sleep forever.

Negro Row Ends Fatally.

Perry, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—On Sunday, June 23, near Lakeside, about five miles northeast of Perry, Wash Dean shot and killed Tom Johnson, both negroes. They became engaged in a row while attending church at a place called Mount Nebo, where there were a large crowd of negroes gathered for Sunday meeting. Wash Dean escaped and has not been captured.

Fire at Dawson.

Dawson, Ga., June 25.—(Special.)—Fire this morning, starting in a room adjoining the J. W. Glass buggy repository, destroyed a quantity of corn and hay owned by Melton & Lowe, and damaged the walls and roof of the building. Prompt action by the fire department prevented a serious conflagration.

COTTON NERVOUS AND UNSETTLED

Market Closed Steady One to Four Points Higher. Spots Up.

New York, June 25.—The cotton market was nervous and unsettled today and fluctuations were irregular after an opening advance. The close was steady and from 1 to 4 points net higher.

The market opened steady at an advance of 5 to 8 points, in response to better cables than looked for and reports of excessive rainfall in the eastern belt. At an advance of about 8 to 10 points, the market met considerable cotton and slight reactions occurred, but the undertone continued very steady and after easing off three or four points the active months again stiffened up, on continued covering and buying of July by leading trade interests. This bulge carried prices about 11 to 12 points net higher, but the advance was again checked by realizing and the market became easier during the afternoon.

A favorable interpretation of the weekly weather report, weakness in New Orleans and selling orders from both New Orleans and Memphis contributed to the reaction, which carried prices back to about or a shade under the closing figures last night. Covering by early sellers and renewed trade support caused a final rally of three or four points from the lowest.

The report from the southwest that the Texas acreage had been reduced 8 per cent and that there had been a reduction of nearly 16 per cent in the acreage of Oklahoma, appeared too far out of line with other private advices to be fully credited today, but this report in connection with unfavorable crop advices from Georgia and the talk of excessive rain in that section of the belt, seemed to render recent sellers very uneasy during the early trading and there was quite a general covering movement at the start. Later business was comparatively quiet, and it was claimed that leading bull interests had reduced their lines on the forenoon advance.

Receipts, 3,774 bales, against 3,974 last week and 1,785 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans, 1,630, against 455 last year; at Galveston, 1,055, against 554 last year, and at Houston, 1171, against 183 last year.

Cotton spot closed quiet, 5 points higher; middling unlands, 11.60; middling gulf, 11.85; sales, none.

COPPER SHARES UNDER PRESSURE

Stock Market Had Heavy Undertone—Movement Dull.

New York, June 25.—In practically every essential feature today's stock market repeated yesterday's performance, with the exception that the movement was duller and the undertone more heavy. Lowest prices were registered in the morning, after which some slight hardening was observed, but the outcome was relatively unimportant.

Less attention was devoted to politics and more to crops and general trade conditons. Continued sunny weather in the northwest is benefiting all cereal growths in that section and the railroads are making ready to move the expected heavy tonnage. Copper shares were once more under pressure by reason of the highly speculative conditions now prevailing in the metal trade here and abroad.

London sold a few thousand shares of our stock in this market preceding this operation by heavier sales at home. Much of this selling is believed to be for Berlin account, where further liquidation is expected before July 1. Continental markets, as a whole, however, were featureless.

The Atchison road submitted a very favorable report of earnings for May, the net increasing by $661,000, which was made possible, to a great extent, by a saving of $230,000 in operating expenses. The Southern railway made a net gain for the same month of $53,000.

Announcement was made after the close of the market of the declaration of the regular quarterly dividend on Anaconda Copper. It was generally expected that an increased or "extra" disbursement might be made. The late improvement in Steel followed a statement that all previous records for output would be excelled in the current month by the steel corporation.

Features of the bond division were the strength of Norfolk and Western convertibles and Wabash refunding 4s. The movement otherwise was irregular. Total sales, par value, were $2,074,000. United States government bonds were unchanged on call.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, La., June 25.—Spot cotton steady, unchanged; middling, 12¼; sales on the spot, 701 bales; to arrive, 286; low ordinary, 9 6-16, nominal; ordinary, 9¾, nominal; good ordinary, 10 13-16; strict good ordinary, 11 3-16; low middling, 11½; strict low middling 11¾; middling, 12¼; strict middling, 12⅝; good middling, 12⅝; strict good middling, 12 13-16; middling fair, 13¼, nominal; middling fair to fair, 13⅝, nominal; fair, 13⅞, nominal; receipts, 1,680; stock, 39,685.

Cotton futures opened steady at an advance of 6 to 7 points on good cables and what the trade considered was too much rain in the cotton belt. Complaints were received from Georgia that nights have been too cool, that too much rain has fallen and that plants are small. They stimulated buying for both accounts, offerings were slender and the market had a very good tone in the early trading. At the end of the first half hour of business, prices were 9@10 points up.

The market sold very steady throughout the morning on private reports showing less favorable conditions in Oklahoma and Texas than have been taken for granted by the trade as a whole and also on the weekly weather report, which made special note of low temperatures during the last week and stated that the average temperature in Oklahoma was 11 degrees under the normal. Bulls were not aggressive, but they bought cotton steadily in a small way.

At the highest of the morning, prices were 10 to 11 points up and at noon they were 7 to 8 up.

In the afternoon session, longs liquidated freely and the market fell off under the offerings. At 2 o'clock, the trading months were 1 point down to 1 point up compared with yesterday's final quotations.

Cotton futures closed steady, 4 points up to 1 point down, compared with yesterday's close.

Dry Goods.

New York, June 25.—The cotton goods markets are steady with demand active for narrow print cloths. Jobbers' advance orders for fall are large. Men's wear remains firm, with shortage of stock goods noticeable. Yarns rule steady.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL THE MARKETS

DAMAGE REPORTS ADVANCED WHEAT

Wheat Closed One-Half to Seven-Eighths Up From Previous Close.

Chicago, June 25.—Wheat prices rose today in response to crop damage news from the northwest, both sides of the Canadian line. The close was steady, ½@⅝ to ¾@⅞ higher than Saturday night. Corn was unchanged to ½@⅝ up; oats varied from a shade off to a shade advance and provisions were at 5c to 10@12½ decline.

In wheat September fluctuated from $1.04¼ to $1.06¼, with last sales ⅝ net higher at $1.04½@$1.04⅝.

Corn advanced in sympathy with wheat. September ranged from 71⅝@¾ to 72¼@⅝, closing easy at 72c, just the same as Saturday night. Cash grades were in better demand; No. 2 yellow was quoted at 76@75½.

Accumulated receipts in the oats market made it relatively weak. September swung between 40@40⅜ and 40½, with the close a shade net lower at 40½.

Rather free selling by a big packing concern had a depressing effect on provisions. When the day ended pork was down 10@10½c and the rest of the list 5@7½c.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, June 25.—Reports of too much rain in Georgia gave the market strength during the morning and October sold as high as 11.47, an advance of 12 points over yesterday's close. The local bull crowd gave active support during the morning, but was less active during the afternoon. Crop reports on the whole are favorable and New Orleans and Memphis sold here today. After the early advance, there was a break that carried prices down to the level of yesterday's close, but there was a good tone during the last half hour, and the close was steady at a net advance of 1 to 4 points. It will be a scalping market until the government report is out of the way.

Liverpool is due to come 1 to 3 points down tomorrow.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, June 25.—oCtton seed oil was more active, with prices easier under scattered liquidation for local and western account, in anticipation of liberal traders on July contract. Futures closed 2@6 points net lower. Spot—Prime crude, nominal; do. summer yellow, 6.60@6.78; do. winter yellow, 7.00@7.70; do. summer white, 6.60@7.50. Futures ranged as follows:

	Opening.	Closing.
July	6.74@6.75	6.73@6.74
August	6.84@6.86	6.84@6.85
September	6.90@7.00	6.99@7.00

December	6.37@6.39	6.36@6.40
January	6.37@6.40	6.37@6.39

New Orleans, June 25.—Cotton seed oil: Prime refined in barrels, per pound, 7.15; choice meal, 8 per cent ammonia, per long ton, $29.00; choice cake, 8 per cent ammonia, per long ton, $27.50.

Wool.

St. Louis, June 25.—Wool, steady; medium grades, combing and clothing, 20½@21; light fine, 15@16; heavy fine, $10.@15; tub washed, 27@30.

Boston, June 25.—Bidding for the new domestic wool clip continues active in nearly all grades, and prices are advancing rapidly.

Leading domestic quotations include Wisconsin and Missouri, Three-eighths blood, 27½@28; quarter-blood, 27½@28.

Kentucky and similar: Half-blood unwashed, 27@28; three-eighths blood unwashed, 28.

Scoured basis: Texas fine, six to eight months, 48@50; fine, 12 months, 53@55; fine fall, 43@45.

Weekly Weather Report.

Washington, June 25.—No precipitation occurred in southern Louisiana and only light to moderate showers occurred at a few widely scattered stations in Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina. Moderate rains fell in southeastern Texas, northern and central Louisiana and North Carolina. Over other portions of the cotton belt rains were generally heavy to excessive. The greatest weekly amount, 4.90 inches, was recorded at Weatherford, Texas.

Mean temperatures were below normal over the cotton belt, except there was an excess ranging from 2 to 5 degrees in the coast portions of the Atlantic states. The deficiency ranged from 1 degree over South Carolina to 11 degrees over Oklahoma. The lowest weekly mean temperature, 66 degrees, was reported from Oklahoma City and the highest, 82 degrees, occurred at some stations on the Atlantic coast.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, June 25.—Cables from Liverpool this morning were rather better than due and heavy. Rains were reported in parts of Georgia, which our trade were inclined to consider unfavorable, as that state is understood to have had too much moisture already. Prices here, therefore, opened some 10 points higher and remained steady at that level during the morning, with the usual arbitrage buying against Liverpool furnishing a quiet market all the support needed. The weekly weather bureau report referred to low temperatures quite generally through the belt, what was otherwise favorable. During the afternoon, the market slowly lost most of its early improvement on various rumors concerning the private conditions reports which are expected in the next week prior to the July government report on the 3d of July liquidation continues here, but the contracts are now being absorbed at a carrying difference into October by the spot people. There is little change in the general situation, as the cotton trade on the whole prefer to await the developments of the next five or six weeks, in the way of progress of the crop, before taking a definite stand on the market meantime, fluctuations largely represent the underlying bullish feelings in local circles.

Liverpool is due from 1 to 2 points decline.

Treasury Statement.

Washington, June 25.—At the beginning of business today the condition of the United States treasury was:

Working balance in treasury offices, $69,747,962. In banks and Philippine treasury, $35,754,113.

The total of the general fund was $136,905,948.

Receipts yesterday, $1,192,750, with disbursements of $724,745.

The surplus to date this fiscal year is $6,950,363, as against a surplus of $18,385,385 at this time last year.

These figures exclude Panama canal and public debt transactions.

London Stock Market.

London, June 25.—American securities were quiet and featureless throughout the session of the London stock exchange today. Price movements ranged from 3-8 above to 3-8 below parity.

Consols for money, 76⅝; consols for account, 76 11-16.

Bar silver quiet, at 28 1-16.

Money, 2¼@2½; short bills, 2 15-16; three months' bills, 2⅞.

Illinois Central, 130.

Louisville and Nashville, 162½.

Southern railway, 28½.

Southern railway preferred, 75½.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, June 25.—Heavy rains in Georgia and Alabama brought about a firmer market for a time today as it is realised that the condition of the growing crop in those states leaves much to be desired. At the same time no important buying made its appearance except that the trade absorbed most of the offerings during the morning. The selling had its source in speculative quarters and became rather liberal in the afternoon, under which prices declined about 13 points from their highest.

INSURGENT SENATORS TO HOLD A CONFERENCE

Washington, June 25.—A conference of progressive republican senators will be called immediately after the democratic convention to consider the situation developing from the third party movement launched at Chicago.

Senators Clapp, Bourne and Cummins today met and discussed the movement. Senators Bristow, Kenyon and Poindexter are away from Washington, and when they return, if the alignment of the democratic party has been shaped at the Baltimore convention, a formal will be held. None of those here know of any overtures to democratic leaders at Baltimore looking to a blending of the progressive wings of both parties into a new party.

Both Senators Cummins and Clapp probably will issue statements of their positions later on. "Each man must decide for himself," was the sentiment expressed today by progressives in the senate.

ROOSEVELT PARTY IN MASSACHUSETTS

Boston, June 25.—A number of delegates from this state to the republican national convention have called a meeting in this city next Saturday to consider the advisability of joining in a movement to form a new party in support of Theodore Roosevelt. About half of the eighteen Roosevelt delegates to the Chicago convention have expressed themselves in favor of the immediate formation of a new party in this state. The other Roosevelt delegates have said they desire time to think the matter over. Under the law Roosevelt presidential electors in Massachusetts would have to obtain places on the official ballot next November by petition.

REPUBLICAN LEADERS CALL AT WHITE HOUSE

Washington, June 25.—Many of the leaders who helped President Taft's nomination at Chicago come to the white house today to extend their congratulations.

Representative McKinley, of the Taft bureau until it went out at the ending of the balloting Saturday night, was one of the first callers.

Mr. McKinley dictated a denial of Colonel Roosevelt's statement that he could have won the nomination from President Taft on certain conditions which he refused.

"To any one knowing the situation, the statement of Colonel Roosevelt that he could have had the nomination on Saturday certainly is very amusing," was Mr. McKinley's statement.

TO MAKE THEM NOTICE, SAYS G. W. PERKINS

Chicago, June 25.—"We will make them sit up and take notice. The progressive party is the party of the people and the people will rule."

These were the words of George W. Perkins, supporter of Colonel Roosevelt and one of the leaders in the third party movement, as he left Chicago for the east this afternoon.

Mr. Perkins was one of the last Roosevelt leaders to leave the city after the republican national convention.

PARKER SOOTHES HURTS OF BRYAN

men were placed in each aisle to keep the crowd moving.

At 8:25 Chairman Mack dropped his gavel and the night session was on.

And They All Prayed.

The Rev. W. H. Dame, of Baltimore, then delivered the prayer. In conclusion, the Rev. Mr. Dame led the assembly in the Lord's Prayer.

"The congregation will join in the Lord's Prayer," he said, and the "congregation" really did. A murmur that grew louder and more confident as the familiar words went on swept the big hall.

Mr. Mack introduced again Judge Parker and the temporary chairman resumed the speech which this afternoon was interrupted.

In opening Judge Parker commented on the republican convention at Chicago, where he said the words "liar," "corruptionist," "traitor," "thief" were freely used.

"We will have nothing like that in this convention," he said. "We had a little difference here this afternoon, but there was nothing said by anyone in that difference that was intended to be severe. If I thought the chief speaker today was a little bit harsh I remember the three great struggles he made for the democratic party in this country."

A burst of applause and a shout of "Bryan, Bryan" interrupted the speaker.

"I realize that this meant much to him," continued Mr. Parker, "and if he was mistaken in regard to my position I believe it is your duty and mine to forgive it and to stand with him.

Parker Tells Where Bryan Is Needed

"There is one place where he is wanted, where he is capable of rendering great service. That is the chairmanship of the resolutions committee. I hope and believe that every member of that committee will honor himself by casting his vote for Mr. Bryan for chairman.

"My fellow citizens, there are no reactionaries; whatever they may have been once, there are none now.

"The democrats are progressive. Now it may possibly be true that here in this great convention, with all these able men coming from every section of the country, I say it may be true that all of you will not be able to agree at once that a single highway constitutes the only road to progress; but you will all agree upon this one proposition, that the voice of the majority of this convention, speaking through its committee on resolutions and by the adoption of the committee's report by the convention, shall speak the will of every democrat in this land."

While Judge Parker was earnestly arguing the tariff question, a busy photographer climbed up the edge of the platform and set off a flashlight that exploded loudly almost in the speaker's face. Parker hesitated, a loud "Oh" swept the crowd and the photographer dashed out followed by a gale of laughter.

Shout of "Underwood."

"When Parker referred to the democratic tariff bills there arose a shout of "Underwood, Underwood!"

In reply came a yell from the Clark supporters:

"Champ Clark is the boy that did it."

"Well, I'm not going into that," said Parker, with a smile, and went on with his speech.

Judge Parker concluded at 9:13 o'clock, and was given a round of applause. Before the applause had died away, the routine proceedings were gotten under way. A resolution introduced by Joseph E. Bell, of Indiana, provided that the rules of the last democratic convention should govern this year's convention. The resolution went through under the gavel.

Under motion of George W. Greene, of Rhode Island, the usual committees were provided for. An effort was made to announce 10 o'clock tomorrow as the house for the committees to meet.

"No!" shouted a score of delegates.

"No Perkins to Pay Our Board."

"We have no Perkins to pay our board," volunteered a Texas delegate.

After a short argument, it was decided to have the committees meet immediately after adjournment tonight.

An attempt to adjourn the convention until 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon failed, and at 9:34 o'clock an adjournment was had until noon tomorrow.

The delegates hurried away from the hall. Mr. Bryan did not appear in the convention during the night session.

TAFT FIRMLY BELIEVES HE WILL BE RE-ELECTED

New York, June 25.—Henry W. Taft said today just prior to his departure for Europe on the Kaiser Wilhelm II. that his brother, the president, was firm in the opinion that he would be given a second term. The third party, Mr. Taft predicted, would not detract from the president's strength. Mr. Taft and his wife will be abroad until September.

CAMERA MEN FOOLED BY BALTIMORE GIRL

Baltimore, June 25.—She was an excellent specimen of Baltimore beauties, that is, of the younger set, for she was only about 18 years old. And she does not live a mile from the Belvedere. She was sitting in the lobby of that hotel yesterday afternoon waiting for a happy Baltimore youth. A local photographer who had taken her picture before spied her and he gathered the other camera men—about ten in number—about him.

"There's Roger Sullivan's daughter, let's get her picture," said the local man, and a rush for the vision in white was made.

"Miss Sullivan, won't you please step outside; we want your picture," said the men in chorus.

The young lady agreed with the request and went outside. She posed gracefully and ten clicks rang out and ten men tried to thank the young lady at once. She responded smiling: "You are certainly welcome, but I am not Miss Sullivan. I am a Baltimore girl."

SUFFRAGETTES PLAN BALTIMORE PARADE

Baltimore, Md., June 25.—One thousand advocates of woman suffrage are expected to participate in a parade which suffragettes, led by Mrs. Donald R. Hooker, are planning to hold Thursday night to impress the delegates. Floats representing the states of Washington, Idaho, Utah, Wyoming and Colorado, where women vote, are being constructed to show the triumph of American suffragists to date.

MICHIGAN GOVERNOR BACKING ROOSEVELT

Lansing, Mich., June 25.—Governor Charles S. Osborn has sent a telegram and letter to Colonel Roosevelt, congratulating the latter for the stand he has taken with reference to a third party.

"I am sure that if the Baltimore convention nominates a reactionary, you should be a candidate, and if possible with somebody like Wilson or Bryan; but if the Baltimore convention nominates a progressive I am not so sure that you should be a candidate."

Governor Osborn adds, however, that he will accept Colonel Roosevelt's leadership in any direction it may be decided.

VIRGINIA ELECTOR OUT FOR ROOSEVELT

Norfolk, Va., June 25.—R. T. Thorp, nominated for republican presidential elector-at-large from Virginia, has telegraphed Theodore Roosevelt that he stands ready to join Roosevelt's independent party and to give such aid as he can to "disenthral the south from the incubus of a name." Mr. Thorp says the name "republican party" is all that has held the "solid south" for the democrats.

East Lake Road

Land traders are just beginning to realize the profit-making opportunities of East Lake Road frontage.

We have just closed a sale of 300 feet running back 390 feet near Oakview, at $4,750, slightly under $16 a foot. We have also sold across the street 400x500 at $7,500—a little over $18 a foot.

Land like this will drift on up in successive trades to $40 and $50 a foot. It is the SPECULATOR'S OPPORTUNITY TODAY.

In one block of East Lake Country Club we have 730 feet for $9,000—an entire block of unusual depth. There's money in this kind of real estate.

Transfer Cases
A Reminder

Get ready for transferring your letters from your regular files on July 1st. We show you in the illustration a transfer case, similar in construction to the regular transfer file—large enough to take entire contents of a vertical file drawer; requires no shelving; no dust; solid, strong, durable; will not warp, sag, or split; has improved drawer backs, roller bearing, sanitary base. Call and let our salesman show you these transfer cases.

A Boston Yankee Built Bungalow Within Gun-Shot of "Snap-Bean" Farm

Its construction scrutinized with that characteristic New England thoroughness. During his two-years' occupancy this Yankee man has added the finishing touches that make this bungalow a fit home. The front lawn is green with waving grass and blossoming flowers, the rear lawn a twin brother.

Six rooms, all conveniences, including gas. Built-in bookcases, paneled dining room, screens, window shades, mission gas fixtures, hardwood finishing, ten-foot porch across front. Two especially constructed chicken houses with runs. A garden spot for the "home-grown" varieties.

$4,640; Cash, $640; Monthly, $25

In Memory of Andrew B. Barry.

When the promising life of a bright young man of high character is suddenly cut off, with so much to look for and hope for, what a distinct loss to his family, to his friends and the community-at-large!

Such was the passing away of Andrew B. Barry, who was born and reared in this city and lived to young manhood.

The writer lived next door to him and his excellent parents, brothers and other members of the family for nearly a quarter of a century, and knew Andrew from his birth.

His life was one of rare qualities and Christian example and excellent young manhood.

He has left an impression which will not be forgotten among those who knew him. He was kindly, considerate and faithful to duty. Never in all the time mentioned did the writer ever hear aught but good spoken of him. His kindly face and good countenance never failed to leave an impression of a good and true heart on those who met him. He was a most obedient and dutiful child, and in young manhood these qualities followed him still in his business walks in life.

The most beautiful telegrams and letters bearing testimony to these qualities and others have been received from those associated with him in business, showing what an excellent character they knew him to be.

He is gone, but the glow of his life remains bright behind him. We are so confident that he is in a brighter home, that if he could speak, he would say: "Tell me not 'good-night,' but in some brighter clime, say 'good-morning.'"

He has only "gone before," to that better world, and is there to greet the dear ones who will follow.

MEETING NOTICE.

SANDERS McDANIEL, Pres.
H. F. SCOTT, Secretary.

GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY—To the Honorable Philip Cook, Secretary of State: The petition of Atlanta and Macon Railway Company respectfully shows:

I.

It is a corporation under the laws of Georgia with the name aforesaid; that it was incorporated for the purpose of constructing, equipping, maintaining and operating an interurban electric railroad from the City of Atlanta in a southeasterly direction for a distance of about ninety-five miles, in the State of Georgia, to the City of Macon, in the County of Bibb; is just commencing business and does not own or operate its railroad at present, but is going forward as rapidly as possible to construct same.

II.

It was incorporated by the Secretary of State on May 27, 1912, and no amendment has heretofore been obtained to said charter.

III.

Petitioner desires its charter to be amended in the following respect, to wit: That the capital stock of said corporation be increased from the sum of one hundred thousand ($100,000) dollars to the sum of three million six hundred thousand ($3,600,000) dollars, said stock to have a par value of one hundred ($100) dollars per share.

IV.

Petitioner shows that said amendment has been authorized by a majority in amount of the entire present capital stock of said corporation at a meeting of the stockholders called for the purpose on June 15, 1912, by resolution of the Board of Directors, notice of which said stockholders' meeting was mailed to each stockholder of record, addressed to his last known place of residence, on May 29, 1912, and more than ten days previous to the date of said meeting, and petitioner files herewith a certified abstract from the minutes of its Board of Directors showing that this application for the proposed amendment has been authorized by the vote of a majority in amount of the entire capital stock at a meeting called for the purpose, pursuant to the said resolution of the Board of Directors, all as hereinbefore set out.

ATLANTA AND MACON RAILWAY COMPANY,
By Kennett Cowan, President.
H. N. Randolph, Secretary.

To Whom It May Concern: Notice is hereby given that there will be a special meeting of the stockholders of the Atlanta and Macon Railway Company at Room 210, Brown-Randolph building, on Tuesday, July 16, 1912, at 11:30 o'clock a. m., and that at said meeting resolutions will be considered increasing the stock of this Company to the maximum amount of $3,600,000.
